B. E. F. TO FACE CRISIS IN CAMP EVICTION TODAY

Wrecker of Buildings on Avenue Ordered to Proceed.

WATERS TELLS MEN NOT TO INTERFERE

Assurance Is Given Women and Children Will Be Given Housing.

The crisis in the eviction of 2,300 veterans from Federal property is expected to be passed without disorder at 7 o'clock this morning when wrecking contractors are scheduled to begin demolition of the hovels in which the men are quartered in Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Having received the assurance from competent authorities that the women and children would be properly housed, and further heartened by acquisition of a suitable camping site, Commander in Chief Walter W. Waters last night ordered his adherents to offer "absolutely no resistance if attempts are made to eject them."

After a three-hour conference with Secretary of War Hurley, Waters announced his change of policy with regard to the eviction. Heretofore, he had advised his men to resist passively any eviction attempts.

Participants in Conference.

In the past he had ordered men to reinforce those in the disputed areas. In an order last night he instructed the men from camps other than those affected to return to their billets and remain there.

The reversal of the "passive resistance policy," came after a day of conference with Secretary Hurley, Assistant Secretary of State Ferry K. Heath, Chief of Staff Douglas MacArthur, and American Red Cross officials.

None of the men who represented the bonus army in the negotiations—Waters, his chief of staff, Doak E. Carter, nor Herbert S. Ward, attorney for the army—wooud disclose the nature of the conference with Secretary Hurley. For the most part, they discussed the economic condition of the country, it was said.

The camping site to which the men in the disputed areas will be moved

Police Again Hunt Released Veteran

Murphy, Seized Last Week and Freed, Now Called Jail-Breaker.

Police last night were forced to get out another lookout for Apollo Belvedere Murphy, 48-year-old Marine veteran. Murphy was arrested here last Tuesday when he applied at the Navy Department for a duplicate of his Marine discharge papers. A notation that he escaped from the Ohio State prison, where he was serving a 1 to 20 year sentence on a kidnaping charge, was found in the records.

Washington police notified authorities in Batavia, Ohio, where Murphy was sentenced eleven years ago on a charge of kidnaping a 12-year-old boy, of his arrest. Word came that the man had served his time, and after a conference with the Department of Justice police here were told to release Murphy.

He was given his freedom Sunday. Shortly after he left the Third Precinct station a telegram came from London, Ohio, headquarters of the State prison, requesting that the man be held as a jail breaker.

Curtis Will Be Notified Of Nomination Aug. 18

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Refusing to discuss politics but asserting there were evidences of better business ahead, Vice President Charles Curtis stopped here between trains today on his way to Los Angles to open the Olympic games Saturday.

Chairman Everett Sanders, of the Republican national committee, greeted Curtis with the announcement that he would be notified officially of his renomination for the Vice Presidency on August 18. The announcement will take place on the Statehouse steps at Topeka, Kans., where Curtis heard a similar announcement four years ago. The Vice President started West tonight.

J. P. Baer, Baltimore Banker, Found Suicide

Baltimore, July 26 (A.P.).—John P. Baer, head of the banking company here that bears his name, was found dead this afternoon in the cellar of his offices at Charles and Saratoga streets, a bullet wound in his head.

Von Gronau Is Welcomed In Montreal

Montreal, July 26 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, veteran German airman, landed his flying boat in Montreal Harbor tonight at 7:06 p. m. (Eastern standard time), completing in four and a half days his third 5,100-mile aerial trip between Europe and America by the Arctic route.

Civic and aviation delegations met the bronzed German and his three companions at the seaplane base as he taxied up after a 10 hour and 16 minute flight from Cartwright, Labrador.

Capt. von Gronau announced soon after his arrival that he was blazing a mail route between Europe and the Pacific Coast of North America. He said he would rest here until Thursday and then make his way leisurely to Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and then probably north again to Winnipeg and across to the Pacific Coast.

The captain was accompanied by Gert von Roth, copilot; Franz Hack, mechanic, and Fritz Albrecht, wireless operator.

ROGERS FAR IN LEAD IN RUN-OFF PRIMARY

Oklahoma Teacher 80,000 Votes Ahead; Lawyer Is Trailing Thomas.

Oklahoma City, July 26 (A.P.).—Will Rogers—schoolmaster, not humorist—rode a rollicking tide of Oklahoma ballots toward the Democratic nomination for congressman at large tonight.

Although his foe, Mrs. Mabel Bassett, gained somewhat as city returns were tabulated, Rogers was more than 80,000 votes ahead as tabulators neared the halfway mark in reporting today's run-off primary.

Meanwhile, former Gov. J. C. (Rarin' Jack) Walton, on a perennial comeback attempt, barely forged ahead of A. S. J. Shaw, former State treasurer, for the Democratic nomination to the important post of corporation commissioner.

One Democratic congressional incumbent—F. B. Swank—found himself falling far behind O. B. Mothershead in the Fifth District. Representative W. W. Hastings trailed Alex Johnston, Okmulgee oil man, for Democratic nomination. Mothershead is a former State bank commissioner. On the basis of 213 out of 295 precincts the Johnston-Hastings vote stood:

Johnston, 18,403; Hastings, 18,080.

Returns from 1,909 out of 3,311 Oklahoma precincts gave for the Dem-

Chicago Board of Trade Votes to Appeal U.S. Ban

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade today voted to direct its attorneys to perfect an appeal from a ruling of a commission of three Cabinet officers in Washington ordering the board suspended for 60 days because of its refusal to permit the Farmers National Grain Corporation to have clearing house privileges.

Congress Nominee, Accused, Kills Self

Philadelphia, July 26 (A.P.).—Arthur Sellers, deputy coroner and Republican candidate for Congress from the Fourth Pennsylvania District, killed himself this afternoon.

Sellers' death was reported to a police magistrate at the time he was to have appeared for a hearing on a charge of having embezzled $50,000 from an estate. Sellers killed himself with a pistol in his home, the police reported.

Sellers' tragic end was partly the result of his ambition to go to Congress. Early this year the Republican leaders of Philadelphia refused to indorse Representative Benjamin M. Golder for another term and slated Sellers, who was 58, and had been a deputy coroner twenty years, as his successor.

Golder immediately started a hot campaign against William S. Vare, Republican leader of Philadelphia, going so far as to ask the House of Representatives to have an investigation made of Vare's connection with railroad contracts. Golder also accused Sellers of irregularities in connection with the administration of a large number of small estates of which he had charge.

FIVE-DAY WEEK IS ADOPTED BY 2 MORE UNITS

Compensation Commission and Civil Service Join Labor.

CHANGE BY OTHERS THIS WEEK IS SEEN

Number of U. S. Workers to Come Under Plan Now Placed at 8,500.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The movement for a five-day Federal work-week gained momentum yesterday, the United States Civil Service Commission and the Employes' Compensation Commission following the Labor Department lead.

Their action brought the number of Federal employes on a five-day week in the District to approximately 8,500, out of the 70,000 employed locally. The Government Printing Office, the Navy Yard and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics previously had gone on this basis.

Other independent Federal establishments will adopt the plan before the end of the week, predicted Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, president of the Civil Service Commission and chairman of the Council on Personnel Administration.

His commission at the same time led the way in application of the "administrative" furlough provision of the economy act, exempting workers earning less than $1,500 from any additional payless leave.

Additional Payless Leaves.

Compulsory vacations for higher paid employes will range from four calendar days for those drawing $1,560 to fifteen days for those earning $1,740 or more. Workers in the $1,620 class will get eight days additional payless vacation; in the $1,680 class, twelve days. The decision is important for the influence it might bring to play on other agencies forced to invoke "administrative" furloughs.

Four hundred employes in Washington will be affected by the Civil Service five-day week order, while 200 more in the field will be hit. The Employes' Compensation Commission order reaches 119 in the District and 57 in the field.

Gov. Campbell, who as head of the Council on Personnel Administration has urged adaptation of the plan throughout the Federal service, thinks the commission's action sets a significant example. Through thirteen district offices throughout the country, he points out, the influence may be widespread.

"Now that the ice is broken, I expect a number of the independent agencies to follow suit within the week, and many more after we have

O'Shaughnessy Dead in Vienna

U. S. Diplomat Served in Many Countries; Upheld Wilson in Mexico.

Vienna, Austria, July 26 (A.P.).—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, who served the United States in diplomatic posts at Mexico City, Copenhagen, Berlin, Bucharest, Vienna and St. Petersburg, was found dead in bed when a maid in his household took breakfast to his room yesterday. He was 56.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, the former Louise Coues, of Washington, who won considerable notice through her books, is in Rome. She is an invalid. A family friend is en route from Italy to take charge of the body.

For some time Mr. O'Shaughnessy had been suffering from heart trouble. He had lived here since 1928. Perhaps the incident best known about his diplomatic career concerns the dispute between Washington and Mexico City when he was secretary to the American Embassy in 1912 and 1913. President Huerta refused President Wilson's demand that Mexico salute the American flag, and Mr. O'Shaughnessy was handed his passport.

Chicago Pit Authorizes 'Padlock Order' Appeal

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade today started toward the courts the battle with Federal authorities to keep the grain mart open.

Meeting for the first time since a Washington Cabinet commission ruled they must either suspend operations 60 days or admit the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, a Farm Board ally, to clearing house privileges, the directors instructed their attorneys to appeal the ruling to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Roundup of 25 Begun In Murder of 'Milsie'

Police Believe He Was Slain for Being 'Finger Man' in Holdup of Gambling Places; La Fontaine Questioned.

Believing that the murder of Milton W. "Milsie" Henry was engineered and financed by a "pool" of local men because of his activities as "finger man" for holdups of local gaming establishments, police yesterday began a round-up of 25 persons they wish to question in the case.

Six persons were booked late yesterday by Detective Sergts. John Wise and Dennis Murphy. The first to be taken into police custody was James LaFontaine, 62, who, police said, was the operator of a gaming resort on Bladensburg road just beyond the District line.

Others who were booked on open charges were William Poe Moses, 41, of 1620 Buchanan street; Bryant McMahon, 37, of 2006 M street northeast; James Joseph Noonan, 33, of 231 Channing street northeast; Raymond Price, 32, of 215 Ninth street northeast, and Clark Boswell, 46, of 3318 South Dakota avenue northeast.

After being questioned by Chief of Detectives Frank S. W. Burke, LaFontaine, Moses and Boswell were released. The other three had not been quizzed late last night. LaFontaine denied, Burke said, a story current for some time that he had been kidnaped and held for ransom some time before Henry was shot.

Twenty more men are wanted for questioning in the case, Inspector Burke said. They will be rounded up today and tomorrow.

Henry, who was killed by two men on April 21, had engineered a long series of stick-ups of Washington gamblers, according to Burke. He was also thought to be working for a Philadelphia gang which sought control of local gambling.

Two men are now in the jail on first-degree murder charges in connection with the murder. They are Charles Harris and Henry Davis, both said to be Philadelphia gangsters. Their cases will be presented to the grand jury.

Neither admit any connection with the murder, Inspector Burke said, but certain information gleaned from quizzing them led to yesterday's round-up, he said.

UNIFIED CURRENCY IS AIM FOR EMPIRE

Proposal to Build Up Credit Cooperation Is Given to Ottawa Conference.

Ottawa, Ontario, July 26 (A.P.).—Mobilization of the vast credit resources of the British Empire around the rallying point of a unified system of currency was the subject of numerous discussions today as delegates to the British Imperial Economic Conference turned their attention to the problem of monetary readjustment.

Sharing interest with this development was a threat against the oil trade carried on by United States interests with members of the British family of nations.

Members of the committee on trade within the commonwealth, who had heard inferential references to alleged price cutting by American oil companies, were reported agreed that when large companies forced out small competitors by price slashing they were guilty of "unfair trade practices."

The committee on monetary and financial affairs, which is directly charged with the study of the unified currency project, will hold its first meeting Thursday. Among those participating in its deliberations will be Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Britain's colonial secretary.

One of the most active advocates of building up imperial credit cooperation through unified currency is J. F. Darling, director of the powerful Midland Bank of England, which presented the plan to the conference.

If there were a currency union joining the British nations, he said, the natural tendency of those nations would be to trade together. Thus empire trade would be automatically increased.

It is difficult at present for Canada to carry on money transactions with London, he pointed out, because funds are transferred through New York and exchange fluctuations amount to taxes on the transfer of credit.

New Quitting Tale Denied by Mellon

Ambassador Says Lull in Europe Allowed His Trip Back Home.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—A lull "over there" brought Andrew W. Mellon, American Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, back to America today, and reports that he intended to resign brought emphatic denial.

The former Secretary of the Treasury received more than a dozen reporters in his stateroom aboard the liner Majestic as it rode up the bay from Quarantine. He remained cordial through an onslaught of questions, but answered only those queries that referred to his reported resignation or to the weather.

"It (resignation) is news to me—midsummer news," he said. "There is no foundation for the report."

He said he would do anything he could to aid the Republican campaign while here, but added that he didn't come for that purpose. He planned to return to England, he said, within two or three weeks. His son, Paul, accompanied him.

Bank Looted of $2,000; Three Locked in Vault

Paint Lick, Ky., July 24 (A.P.).—The Peoples Bank of Paint Lick was held up and robbed of between $2,000 and $2,500 today by four unmasked men who escaped in an automobile after locking three bank employes in a vault.

69 GERMANS DROWN AS GALE SINKS SHIP

37 Are Saved From Naval Training Vessel; Cadets Lead in Casualties.

Kiel, Germany, July 26 (A.P.).—A gale-borne thunderstorm bowled over the three-masted German naval trainer Niobe off Holstein today and sent her and 69 men to the bottom.

Thirty-seven persons, including the captain, his lieutenant, seventeen of the Niobe's crew and eighteen naval cadets, were rescued by the steamer Therese Russ.

The steamer was passing when the storm struck the Niobe 1 mile off Fehmarn Lightship, near Kiel. Although several naval vessels and airplanes soon were sent to the scene, there was no evidence of any other survivors.

There was a slight glimmer of hope that Danish fishermen may have taken more survivors aboard and landed them at the isolated settlement of Rodby, on the Danish island, Laaland. Naval officers were inclined not to believe this, however.

The fact that most of the rescued were members of the experienced crew instead of the cadets who had just gone aboard for a sailing cruise led naval officers to conjecture that the crew was handling the ropes when the vessel went over.

It was apparent to them that the Niobe was full-rigged and was not using her 240-horsepower motor. They thought, perhaps, the sudden blow came off land and bowled her over before the canvas could be reefed.

The total number aboard was tentatively placed at 106. The naval authorities allowed for a discrepancy, since several cadets had not joined ship because of illness.

5 Retaken Soon After Prison Camp Escape

Montgomery, Ala., July 26 (A.P.).—Five of ten State convicts who escaped early today while en route to work at Wetumpka prison farm, 18 miles from here, had been recaptured tonight, and State authorities pushed their search for the missing, who were reported heading toward Georgia. The convicts were run down by bloodhounds.

White Hall, Md., Bank Robbed of $2,500 by 2

White Hall, Md., July 26 (A.P.).—Two armed bandits, a Negro and a white man, held up the White Hall Bank shortly after it was opened today and escaped with $2,500.

The robbers attempted unsuccessfully to lock two bank employes in the vault before fleeing in their waiting motor car in the direction of York, Pa.

Rover Orders Arrest Of Brevities Dealers

News dealers handling Washington Brevities were ordered arrested yesterday by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover in a note sent to Police Headquarters.

The newest edition of the publication made its appearance here yesterday, just before Mr. Rover issued the order for the arrest of persons offering it for sale. So far no arrests have been made.

FARLEY VISIONS RACE CENTERED ON 'VITAL EAST'

ROOSEVELT FAVORS REGIONAL RADIO USE

Solid South and Most of West Held to Be Democratic From Start.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A closely organized and centrally directed campaign in behalf of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket this fall, with the major effort centered on the "pivotal Eastern seaboard, took form here yesterday as James A. Farley, the new chairman of the Democratic national committee, launched his effort to align all factions of the party solidly behind the plan.

In a series of conferences on Capitol Hill with party leaders from all sections of the country, Farley presented the broad outlines of the campaign strategy which he and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has agreed upon and sought to fit that plan into the varying picture presented in different States.

Although no final decisions on important details of the campaign will be reached until Mr. Roosevelt has been consulted again, he said, there appeared to be a somewhat general feeling last night among the senators and representatives who attended the conferences that there would be a minimum of political barnstorming in the Democratic national appeal.

Smith Expected in Line.

As Mr. Farley presented the picture at a four-hour meeting in the office of Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, the party's maneuvers will be mapped "with the Solid South and most of the West assuredly Democratic from the outset." Thus, the great Eastern seaboard, particularly New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, remain as probably the decisive campaign battleground. In this region, as the Democratic managers see it, must the chief effort be put forth for the electoral votes necessary to make a majority.

What part former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will take in the campaign still was a moot question after yesterday's conferences, but Chairman Farley said he had no doubts that time eventually would heal all the wounds of the Chicago convention and throw a militant and united party into the vital Eastern campaign.

Whether Speaker Garner would be called to campaign services outside of his own State also was undecided yesterday, but Chairman Farley explained this was a matter largely for Mr. Garner himself to decide. The

Big Push Against Rebels Of Sao Paulo Is Begun

Rio de Janeiro, July 26 (A.P.).—The long-heralded big push against the rebels of Sao Paulo apparently got slowly under way today, but little progress was reported from any direction pending further army communiques.

In response to a request from Walter Thurston, American charge d'affaires, the minister of marine today began arranging to transport American citizens from Santos, Brazil.

Leaders Surprised at Naming of Democrat.

"GOOD CHOICE," RAINEY STATES

Some Aver President Wished to Shift Responsibility.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

President Hoover yesterday named Atlee Pomerene, a Democrat, to be chairman of the modified Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and thereby threw a loud exploding bombshell into the political arena from the shock of which political leaders had not recovered last night sufficiently to make more than nominal comment.

Appointment of Mr. Pomerene, who formerly was a senator from Ohio, to the corporation board makes a board composed of four Democrats and two Republicans. There is one vacancy. Under the law this must be filled by a Republican.

Whoever is appointed to fill the remaining vacancy the fact will remain that Democrats will be in charge of operations of the corporation from now on.

The naming of Mr. Pomerene was announced late in the day by one of the President's secertaries. The announcement came as a surprise, not only to newspaper correspondents, but to Democratic and Republican members of the House and Senate, who have remained in Washington since Congress adjourned.

Experts' Interpretations.

Immediately announcement was made of the surprising action of the Republican President naming a Democrat to head such an important Governmental agency, political experts began interpretations. It was obvious, some said, that the President wished to shift responsibility for operations of the corporations to the shoulders of the Democrats.

But those Democratic leaders who could be reached immediately for comment did not seem to be worried about that aspect.

Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic leader of the House, said the appointment of Mr. Pomerene indicated that the Republicans did not have a man adequate to the job. Becoming more serious, Mr. Rainey said it was a "good appointment" to a hard job of a "man of unquestioned ability."

"There isn't any question about responsibility for the existing relief law," Mr. Rainey said. "The President has had his own way about the kind of relief law we should have. If it fails, the responsibility will be his. He can't dodge it. He vetoed the Garner relief bill."

Senator Cordell Hull (Democrat), of Tennessee, said he considered the naming of Mr. Pomerene "an excellent appointment." Mr. Pomerene, Senator Hull said, was well poised, experienced and should make a good official.

Called Honest and Sincere.

Out of the welter of speculation and comment, prejudiced one way or the other, there emerged a consensus that if the Democrats had to assume responsibility for operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they were pleased to assume it under the chairmanship of former Senator Pomerene, who is rated—behind closed doors, as well as in the open—as one of the most honest and sincere men in public life.

There was talk that the President proposed to draft former Gov. Alfred

TILSON WILL QUIT SEAT IN CONGRESS

(Associated Press.)

After 22 years in the House—six as a Republican floor leader—Representative John Quillin Tilson, of New Haven, Conn., is going to resign to seek a more lucrative job.

The affable lawyer-politician yesterday announced his decision not to run for reelection and to resign from the present Congress as soon as it is practicable in perhaps his last "extension of remarks" in the Congressional Record.

Declaring "legitimate necessary expenses" of a member of Congress require his entire salary and make it impracticable to lay aside anything for his family, Tilson at 66 says he will seek activity in other fields where he hopes the net financial return for his labors "will at least be on the right side of the ledger."

Tilson is now summering in New Hampshire. He did not say he intended to take up law again, but he indicated he might. He also left the way open for any future public service he may be able to render.

If the importance of the service demands it, he said, "no sacrifice" would be too great for him.

For the present, at least, Tilson will continue on with politics. He has just been named head of the Eastern Republican Campaign Speakers' Bureau.

A Tennessean by birth, Tilson went to New England as a young man. He served in the Spanish-American War, and as a member of the House mil-

Flood Waters Damage Arizona Valley Cities

Nogales, Ariz., July 26 (A.P.).—The two border cities of Nogales were damaged by floodwaters which swept down today from the Sonora watershed, inundating streets to a depth of 1 to 3 feet. A furious storm in the Sonora Mountains this morning caused the flood to boom down to the valley cities. Little rain fell in this vicinity.

At noon flood alarms were sounded and residents frantically began to barricade their homes and business establishments. The arroyos quickly overflowed their banks. Trees were uprooted and merchandise in stores ruined, although damage was small in comparison with other flood periods.

G. U. Expedition Leaves Today to Study Eclipse

Dr. Paul A. McNally Heads Institution's First Group of Kind Going to New Hampshire Elaborately Equipped to View Solar Phenomenon August 31.

To study the total eclipse of the sun August 31, Georgetown University is sending out its first scientific expedition when a group under the lead of Dr. Paul A. McNally, S. J., director of Georgetown Observatory, leaves Washington today to establish an observation station near Fryeburg, Me.

Scientists from all parts of the world will be taking up their quarters between Fryeburg and Conway, N. H., this month. The period of the total eclipse will continue only 100 seconds. It will not recur in the United States until 1963 and 1970.

Accompanying Dr. McNally from Georgetown are the Rev. E. J. Kolkmyer, S. J., head of the physics department, and the Rev. Thomas D. Barry, S. J., and Walter Miller, S. J., assistants in the observatory. They will be joined in Maine by a number of prominent Jesuits. Among these will be Father Stein, director of the Vatican Observatory; Father Paul LeJay, a French scientist connected with the Zose Observatory in China; Father Daniel O'Connell, of Ireland, who is soon to become an assistant in a Jesuit observatory in Australia, and Father William R. Crawford, S. J., rector of the Boston College High School.

The Georgetown group will take special equipment, lent by the National Geographic Society, to take colored photographs of the eclipse if conditions are favorable. A 5-inch telescope equipped with short and long focus cameras and a spectograph which will be used to photograph the ultraviolet rays in the corona, also will be part of the equipment.

Dr. McNally said it would take a month at least to establish the exact location of the station.

The principal experiment will be to determine the exact position of the

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 309. Clarendon, Va.

Arlington County stands to lose at least $114,405.40 through the alleged peculations of E. Wade Ball, former county treasurer. The shortage in his accounts stands at $564,405.40, State Auditor T. Coleman Andrews, whose men have been at work on Ball's books for about five months, reported yesterday. The highest bond ever required of Ball was $450,000.

It is a moot point between attorneys and financial experts whether the bonding company can be held responsible for the $450,000 figure, since part of the alleged peculations occurred in 1929, or whether the firm is liable for only $300,000—the bond in force at the present time.

At best the shortage charged in Mr. Andrews' report is far in excess of any bond ever carried on Ball. Records show that in 1927, Ball executed a $300,000 bond. In April that year, an additional bond of $150,000 was executed. His bond for the term beginning January of this year was reduced again to $300,000.

Text of Andrews' Report.

The State auditor's report shows that at the time Ball resigned, February 26 last, he was accountable to the county for $602,321.51, and to the State for $47,945.45, making a total of $650,266.99.

He actually had on hand, the report states, $85,861.59. Of this amount, $80,000 was in bonds and only $5,861.59 was in cash.

The shortage is said by officials to be the heaviest of any county official ever reported in the State of Virginia.

Mr. Andrews' report to the county board, say:

"In October, 1930, upon the basis of findings reported to him by a deputy who left the employ of the Commonwealth early last year, the then State auditor reported that Ball had cash and cash items at June 30, 1930, in the amount of $3,513.38 more than the total of the amounts for which he was accountable to the county and the Commonwealth at that time.

Itemization of Shortage.

"As a mater of fact, Ball was short at that date the sum of $388,670.05, the difference of $392,182.43 between the excess reported and the shortage which existed being represented by several items, as follows:

"1—Water service installation notes, interest on loans made from Washington District Road Bond Sinking Fund, and sewer and sidewalk notes, collected prior to July 1, 1930, but not charged to Ball by the former auditor.

"2—Commissions on the items named in group 1 which, of course, was not credited to Ball by the former auditor.

"3—Warrants not paid by Ball until after June 30, 1930, but nevertheless credited to Ball by the former auditor (these, of course, were allowed by us for the year ended June 30, 1931).

"4—Differences between the accounts of Ball and the Commonwealth not discovered and taken into account by the former auditor.

"5—County jury tickets which were on hand at June 30, 1930, but not taken into account by the former auditor and

Check Kiting Charged

"6—Fictitious deposits which were the result of the kiting of checks by Ball and which were not discovered by the former auditor. Incidentally, Ball again kited checks to the extent of more than $100,000 at the next settlement date, June 30, 1931.

"The details of Ball's personal use of the county's and the Commonwealth's money and his kiting operations have been reported to the Commonwealth attorney and Ball is now held under two indictments founded on this and other evidence.

"From the civil point there are two other items which must be added to the shortage of $564,405.40 in order to arrive at Ball's total liability. The first is $6,250 of warrants which F. J. Hallock, former clerk to the County School Board, has been charged with forging and converting to his own use; an indefinite sum, estimated, however, at not less than $7,500, due from Ball on account of excess compensation for the year 1931. In preparing the statement herewith we did not charge these two items to Ball. The first was omitted because we are not certain of his responsibility in connection therewith; and the second item was omitted because the amount could not be determined. Incidentally, Ball's fee report for the year 1931 was to be filed with the fee commission several months ago. We are informed that he has been promising for some time to file this report, but so far has not done so."

He served as Republican leader from 1925 to last December, when Representative Snell defeated him for the speakership nomination, and the New Yorker then became leader when the Democrats won control.

As to the caliber of the House membership, Tilson says regretfully: "It would be delightfully pleasant if we might truthfully say that the entire membership of Congress were high-minded, courageous, fair, considerate of others, generous in thought and deed, but, alas, one can not say so as to all and be truthful.

FEDERAL AID TO GIVE 250,000 MEN WORK

States to Institute 30-Hour Week for 11 Months on Road Construction.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—A quarter of a million men working 30 hours a week for eleven months—that will be the result, a Nation-wide survey indicated today, of the $120,000,000 Federal appropriation to aid States in highway construction.

In virtually every State, the construction program, designed to make the jobless self-sustaining, was hailed as a vigorous step in the right direction. Relief workers generally were enthusiastic over the provision for a 30-hour week, thus providing jobs for more workers over a longer period.

Highway construction will be doubled or tripled in many States by the Federal appropriation, which must be matched dollar for dollar by the States themselves. Governors of several States indicated as many as 40,000 men would be employed at road work.

Work for Many Others.

In addition to the thousands working directly at road construction, others will be employed at manufacturing materials and machinery. Work for the unemployed also was expected to better business conditions in countless communities throughout the Nation.

Highway officials of 18 States gave definite estimates of the additional number of men to be employed in their territory and the total was 118,740. Virtually every other State reported substantial employment increases would result, but estimates were unavailable pending a check on the amounts to be expended for materials and labor.

California reported 16,000 men would be put to work, extending the State's improved road system. Kansas estimated 20,000, and Mississippi, 9,000.

Contracting companies everywhere were jubilant over expectations of new jobs. Employes who have been laid off for months were told to "come back in a week or so and we'll probably have something."

Will Stagger Employment.

Most States announced plans for setting a minimum wage scale, "staggering" employment to provide as many jobs as possible and limiting employment to those with families and needing work.

Florida's proposed wage scale was announced at 20 cents an hour, but many States planned to pay union wages.

North Dakota's highway department canceled vacations, began drawing plans for 500 miles of road building, and announced the force of about 3,000 men now employed would be doubled. Georgia and Ohio announced all work would be given to the needy.

Following are reports from States unable to estimate probable employment but intending to use Federal allotments:

Georgia—Maximum number skilled and unskilled laborers to be employed in expending $5,123,928 State and Federal funds.

Illinois—Nine thousand men already working on State highways and number expected to be substantially increased with Federal funds.

Iowa—Nearly $5,250,000, including more than $3,000,000 Federal aid, to be spent on highways in 1933.

Maryland—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie said State would withhold decision on acceptance of $1,019,570 until report on relief survey now in progress was completed.

$8,500,000 in Michigan.

Michigan—Eight and one-half millions available, including Federal aid.

Missouri—Highway officials aid "several thousand extra men" would be employed if Missouri's allotment of $3,753,000 were granted.

Ohio—Nearly $5,000,000 available, of which $3,750,000 was expected to go to labor, directly or indirectly.

Oregon—State's share of Federal fund to be $2,000,000, with a large portion going toward employment.

South Dakota—Highway officials declared 30-hour week impractical for South Dakota and wished to consider other technical points.

New York—State to spend $35,000,000 on highways, including $6,000,000 Federal aid.

Definite forecasts of probable employment in various States follow:

Arizona, 3,000; Arkansas, 5,000; California, 16,000; Colorado, 7,500; Florida, 10,340; Kansas, 20,000; Louisiana, 8,000; Minnesota, 7,000; Mississippi, 9,000; Nebraska, 8,000; North Dakota, 3,000; North Carolina, 5,000; Rhode Island, 400; Tennessee, 5,000; Texas, 4,500; Utah, 2,000; West Virginia, 1,000, and Wisconsin, 4,000. Total, 118,740.

COBLENTZ GUILTY, VERDICT OF JUDGES

Cumberland, Md., July 26 (A.P.).—In a decision announced this afternoon, more than a month after completion of the trial, State Senator Emory L. Coblentz was found guilty by three judges sitting in circuit court of accepting deposits in a bank he knew to be insolvent.

No sentence was announced when his attorneys gave notice of an appeal for a new trial, and, at their request, the time for filing their motion was extended until Saturday.

Read by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, the announcement of the decision was brief but direct.

It was:

"We have determined that it will serve no necessary purpose to enter into a detailed statement of the facts of this case, as the hundreds of pages of testimony in evidence tell their own story, except to say we are now convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the Central Trust Co. was insolvent—not only for a day before it closed, but hopelessly insolvent for a long time and that the defendant not only knew it, but that he was personally largely responsible for its condition and the verdict therefore is guilty."

Senator Coblentz, who was listening attentively, flushed slightly, but otherwise made no show of emotion.

The indictment under which Coblentz was found guilty was voted by the Howard County grand jury in February, after an investigation into the collapse of the Central Trust Co. of Maryland and its eleven branches.

Capper Visits Hoover; Backs Exchange Ban

(Associated Press).

After a conference with President Hoover yesterday, Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, told newspapermen he had expressed hearty approval of the order that the Chicago Board of Trade be closed unless the Farmers' National Grain Corporation be granted clearing house privileges. "I told the President," Capper said, "that such a move will be met with hearty approval in our country. We are strong for the co-operative movement there."

Capper added he also had said goodby to Mr. Hoover. He plans to leave today for the Midwest.

Soo Railway Borrows $5,000,000 of R. F. C.

(Associated Press.)

The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday to borrow $5,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation to pay part of its one-year notes due August 1.

The company on February 9 applied for loans totaling $15,329,609. On February 25 the commission authorized a loan of $2,300,000.

eclipse. This will be for the purpose of testing the Einstein theory from the shift of the stars.

During the period of totality Father Kollmyer will measure the light intensity, using a method originated and employed in 1924, during a previous total eclipse, by Father Wolfe, a Jesuit scientist of Valkenburg, Holland. Father Wolfe is sending his own special equipment for use in these experiments.

Dr. McNally is taking with him a number of Ross lenses equipped with the new Ross curvature and an equitorium mounted, also a battery of smaller lense cameras.

The last total eclipse of the sun visible in the United States was in 1930 in California.

Washingtonians, who equip themselves with a piece of smoked glass or with colored eyeglasses, will have an excellent opportunity to study the effects of the eclipse, although it will be only about 89 per cent total in this vicinity.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be expended by the great observatories of the world in equipment and travel expenses for this 100-second chance to examine the total eclipse of the sun. The vicinity in Maine was chosen by most of the expedition because of its excellent chances for fair weather prevailing on that day. A month of preparations will come to naught if the weather man does not cooperate.

Telegraphic Dispatches

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Seven women, representing themselves as his former wives, today sought the body of Michael Maricondo, business agent of the Cloak and Suit Makers Union, who was slain on his doorstep last night.

Little Rock, Ark., July 26 (A.P.).—One man was fatally injured in leaping from a third-floor window and six persons were burned, two seriously, in a fire that destroyed the three-story Staube Hotel here early today. Another guest, A. C. Lee, of Little Rock, was missing several hours later, but firemen searching the ruins failed to find his body.

Gadsden, Ala., July 26 (A.P.).—Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, predicted in an address at the Alabama convention of the American Legion today that Congress will pass bonus legislation "which will place American World War veterans on a level with those of European nations."

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—The Farmers National Grain Corporation, Farm Board-sponsored cooperative, reported today a substantial increase in its grain trade during the year ended July 1, 1932. It was particularly noticeable in the cooperative's direct marketing program. Of the 28 member cooperatives, 19 marketed their grain direct from country elevators through the Farmers National.

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Vincent Bendix, millionaire head of the aviation and automobile accessories manufacturing firm, was divorced today by Mrs. Elizabeth Channon Bendix. Mrs. Bendix charged desertion in her suit, stating they were married October 5, 1922, and that he deserted her eight years later.

Jackson, Mich., July 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Arthur G. Larkey, for four years assistant chaplain at Michigan State Prison here, today was dismissed by Warden Harry H. Jackson after an investigation of charges of irregularities in funds belonging to inmates of the prison.

St. Louis, July 26 (A.P.).—Stephen Eighlein, chief engine mechanic in the Pickwick Greyhound, Inc., service garage, died at City Hospital here today from burns suffered yesterday in a gasoline explosion which wrecked the building and injured seventeen other persons. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—William S. Brock, noted flier, has been a patient at the Presbyterian Hospital. Hospital officials and Mrs. Brock, while not divulging the nature of his illness, said today he probably would leave the hospital shortly.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, returned to America today on the liner Majestic with news that the Republican party plank on prohibition "is the subject of no inconsiderable merriment and sarcasm" abroad.

Akron, Ohio, July 26 (A.P.).—Completion of the U. S. S. Macon, twin sister of the world's largest airship, probably will be delayed several months because of efforts to stretch employment as much as possible, officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation said today.

Gloucester, Mass., July 26 (A.P.).—Charles F. Bradley, 88, a native of Chicago, graduate of Dartmouth and for many years a professor at Northwestern University, Chicago, died here today.

5-DAY FEDERAL WORK WEEK ADOPTED BY TWO MORE UNITS

demonstrated the plan is workable," Mr. Campbell said.

The program goes into effect Saturday in both the Civil Service and Employes' Compensation Commissions, likewise the Labor Department order, announced Monday.

Mrs. Bessie Parker Brueggeman, chairman of the Employes' Compensation Commission, authorized the following statement:

The commission has had this matter under advisement for several weeks, and after a careful survey it has concluded that the adoption of a five-day week is entirely practicable for its administrative organization."

The Civil Service Commission decision on "administrative" furloughs amounts to slicing 20 per cent from the pay of members of the commission and high paid employes. The commission's funds were severely cut by Congress. It is probable the furloughs announced yesterday will make up only a third of its deficit.

Others to Be Announced.

"Such additional furloughs as may be required during the second half of this fiscal year will be announced later," the commission's order read.

"Division chiefs and District managers are authorized to grant all furloughs referred to above without prior reference to the commission. Employes who desire to be absent from duty for periods not required under these furloughs provisions may be granted leave without pay in accordance with old regulations. Such leaves without pay will be considered in computing additional furloughs."

Sixteen new decisions on the economy act were handed down yesterday by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl, bringing the number of rulings on this controversial piece of legislation to 90. Yesterday's findings were mostly technical in character, many covering paid leave restrictions already passed on by the comptroller.

Rulings Handed Down.

The comptroller ruled it proper to compute the per diem compensation of employes paid on an annual basis, held it possible for an employe to take furlough leave in a one-month stretch, ruled a 73-year-old employe can not be released without completing 15 years necessary to retirement, denied Rear Admiral Ridley McLean an automatic pay increase and held the Government can not pay for transportation of privately owned cars even though they be used on official business.

He held employes of Howard University and Columbia Institution for the Deaf are subject to furlough provisions of the economy act.

Members of the Alaska Legislature will receive a $1.25 per diem pay cut as a result of one ruling. Alaska legislators are paid $15 a day, sit 60 days, with an additional 15-day stretch possible on proclamation of the governor. The comptroller found this brought their potential pay to $1,125 a year, making them subject to provisions of the act.

At the same time members of the Hawaiian Legislature were exempted from the cut, inasmuch as Uncle Sam contributes only $1,000 to the pay of each member.

Convict's Wife Acquitted Of Killing News Writer

Hattiesburg, Miss., July 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Venie Jones was acquitted today of the charge of murdering Hansel Batten, young Hattiesburg newspaperman, whose body was found in the railway yards last winter.

The prosecution presented testimony purporting to show Mrs. Jones and her husband, Tom Jones, killed Batten for revenge because of newspaper stories he had written about them being involved in liquor dealing. Jones was convicted of first degree murder last April and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Man Admits Rubbing Poison on Wife's Towel

Northampton, Mass., July 26 (A.P.). Antoni Ciaglio, of Hadley, pleaded guilty today to assault. It is charged he rubbed poison ivy leaves upon his wife's clothing and upon a towel she used, with the result that the woman's life was for a time despaired of.

The court continued the case for disposition.

Editorial Association Elects Craemer Head

Los Angeles, July 26 (A.P.).—Justis F. Creamer, of Orange, Calif., was elected president of the National Editorial Association today.

Among resolutions adopted at the closing session of the association's convention were declarations deploring Government competition with private business and failure of Congress to pledge corrective measures; indorsing corrective legislation to put radio lottery broadcasts under the same restrictions placed upon newspapers; supporting advertising rates as not excessive, and protesting against censorship of newspapers and dissipation of assets in bankruptcy cases.

HYDE APPROVES AID PLAN FOR FARMERS

R. F. C. Act Makes Possible $360,000,000 Extension in Credit.

(Associated Press.)

Provisions under which the Agriculture Department will lend $10,000,000 allotted by Congress to help finance agricultural credit corporations and live-stock loan companies yesterday were approved by Secretary Hyde.

The regulations provide for the setting up of corporations of at least $50,000 capital, or expansions of old organizations, which, after receiving Federal loans, will in turn aid farm credit by rediscounting farmers' notes at the intermediate credit banks.

The loans are not intended to finance farm operations directly, but to expand credit in rural communities.

"Used as a part of the capital of credit corporations, live-stock loan companies or similar organizations," Secertary Hyde said, "This appropriation will be the means by which the communities may borrow several times the amount supplied by the Government for loans to farmers, and will operate to supplement the regular credit system."

Department officials did not expect any immediate large demand for the funds because of the simpler credit facilities provided for in the $2,122,000,000 relief act to be handled through the Reconstruction Corporation. Under this plan, twelve agricultural credit corporations would be set up, one in each Federal Reserve district, with a capital of $36,000,000, capable of rediscounting to the extent of $360,000,000.

Under the Agriculture Department allotment a group needing credit may organize an agricultural or live stock corporation. Loans are limited to individuals and each borrower may obtain not more than 60 per cent of the par value of the stock offered as security.

If 50 individuals each subscribe $1,000 in stock, the maximum to each borrower would be $600, with $1,000 stock as collateral security deposited with the Secretary of Agriculture.

Upon approval of these loans, which would bear 5½ per cent interest, the proceeds would be sent to the Federal intermediate credit bank serving the district.

Duesenberg, Auto Man, Succumbs to Pneumonia

Johnstown, Pa., July 26 (A.P.).—Fred Duesenberg, 55, Indianapolis automobile manufacturer, died today of pneumonia which developed from injuries he suffered in an automobile accident July 2. He had been recovering, but a sudden relapse set in last night. He was unconscious for three hours before his death.

The manufacturer suffered two broken ribs, a partial fracture of the spine and dislocation of a shoulder in the wreck. His car skidded into a bank and rolled over twice. Mrs. Duesenberg and a son have been at his bedside since July 5.

Brother of Griffin, Flier, Dies.

Oklahoma City, July 26 (A.P.).—Jennings Bryan Griffin, 33, brother of Bennett Griffin, Oklahoma City aviator, whose attempt to circle the globe in record-breaking time ended disastrously in Russia, died here today following an appendicitis operation.

McILVAINE
OIL BURNER
Saves 1,226 Gallons Per Year!

Mr. John H. McIlvaine, Pres., June 13, 1932.
McIlvaine Burner Corporation,
749 Custer Avenue,
Evanston, Ill.

Dear Mr. McIlvaine:

Replying to your inquiry, I am pleased to say that the continuous burner referred to in my article in the June number of The Aerologist is the McIlvaine burner.

They say "the proof of the pudding is in the eating" which applied mechanically would be interpreted "the proof of the apparatus is in the use of it."

The six-year record in the article mentioned, proves my earlier reports of June 7, 1927, after one season in service, and August 15, 1930, after four seasons in service. This is conclusive evidence that the burner is most economical and highly efficient.

I have no objections to your use of this article through your dealers and with your prospects, as my testimony after ten years' experience in burning oil for domestic heating.

Very truly yours,
JOHN D. SMALL.

Letter to the McIlvaine Burner Corporation From John D. Small, Consulting Engineer, Referring to Test Conducted, Comparing McIlvaine and Intermittent Oil Burner.

HEATING with oil the McIlvaine way—not only removes dirt and eliminates labor, but reduces your fuel cost to a point where you cannot afford to use any other method of heating.

Where McIlvaine burners have replaced other types of burners fuel costs have, in some instances, been cut in HALF.

Call or phone for our booklet "Balanced Heat." Let us show you a McIlvaine in operation.

NEW DRIVE STARTED FOR TAX REDUCTION

U. S. Commerce Chamber Urges Membership to Extend Campaign.

(Associated Press.)

A fresh drive to achieve further drastic cuts in Federal, State and local expenditures and tax burdens was started yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

In a letter to the 1,600 business organizations making up the chamber's membership, President Henry I. Harriman called attention to the $800,000,000 reduction in appropriations by Congress and the appointment of committees to study future curtailments, but said the economy fight had only begun.

"During the past year," Harriman wrote, "the fiscal problems of the Federal Government, including the reduction of expenditures and the balancing of the budget, have been the daily concern of the national chamber.

"It would be impossible here to reflect the scope and intensity of the campaign efforts. Nevertheless these efforts and the results obtained must be regarded as only foreshadowing what our member organizations in cooperation with national headquarters can and must do in the year ahead.

"I urge you to maintain in full force and effect your activities designed to reduce the cost of government and the level of taxes, and to coordinate these within your States and cities in line with efforts of officials of the chamber to secure national coordination.

"Washington headquarters will respond to the limit of its ability to all requests for cooperation and in return asks that our organization members during the campaign being launched give the same prompt and effective support that characterized the efforts of the past year."

Col. Harry R. Lay, 54, Native of Capital, Dies

San Diego, Calif., July 26 (A.P.).—Col. Harry R. Lay, chief of staff of Brig. Gen. Frederic L. Bradman, commandant at the Marine base here, died unexpectedly tonight of an apoplectic stroke. He was born at Washington, D. C., in 1878, and is survived by his widow, who was with him when he died.

Budget in Philippines Calls for $27,727,246

Manila, Philippine Islands, July 26 (A.P.).—A budget for the Philippine Islands colling for appropriations of $27,727,246 in 1933 was presented to the Insular Legislature today by Gov. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt.

The budget figure is designed to call for the smallest possible governmental overhead. Estimated revenue from current sources is $24,000,000, necessitating new forms of taxation. Gov. Roosevelt pointed out more than $5,000,000 is required by unreducible items, so the actual proposed cut in reducible government expenses is 25 per cent.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

SIGHTSEEING BUS—1932.

(On a trip through the rue de Whatziss in any metropolis.)

YOU are now entering the Devastated Area, or what was once the residential district occupied by some of America's richest men. . . . On your left you will observe a ten-story white marble mansion. . . . This was once the home of one of the foremost members of America's New Poor, Col. Dudley Pazazzle. . . . It was completed at a cost of $2,000,000 in July, 1929. . . . Col. Pazazzle moved in, but occupied it only until mid-September. . . . He is now driving a taxicab for a living.

• • • •

"On the right you will see the Georgian mansion erected a few years ago by Gregory P. Waffle. . . . It has 45 rooms, mostly baths, and an underground garage for eleven sedans. . . . Mr. Waffle, you will recall, was one of the country's best known capitalists. . . . He guessed wrong during 1930 and 1931 and is now living in the underground garage by courtesy of the sheriff. . . . On clear, sunny days you can see Mr. Waffle sitting on the steps under the 'For Sale' sign wondering what hit him.

• • • •

"That tall building directly ahead on the northeast corner is probably familiar to all Americans through the rotogravure sections. . . . It was the town house of Manuel Whiffleblotz, the copper king. . . . On the grounds are four outdoor swimming pools of pink marble. . . . Mr. Whiffleblotz is the man who announced to the American people in December, 1929, that the slump would be over in 60 days. . . . He believed it himself. . . . Mr. Whiffleblotz now bathes at the community shower baths and votes the straight Democratic ticket. . . . You can have the mansion for the first mortgage.

• • • •

"On your left, under that large elm tree, you will see a little man selling apples. . . . He is Maj. Jacques K. Burper, founder of seven investment trust corporations. . . . Up until the big wind Maj. Burper was called the Wizard of Finance. . . . He was one of the country's best known polo players and had a stable of 200 ponies. . . . He now travels entirely by hitch-hiking and if he had a polo pony he would eat it.

• • • •

"On the southwest corner is the show place of one of the most remarkable women in the world, Mrs. Penelope Artichoke. . . . Her husband, Luther J. Artichoke 3d, well-known financier, had put most of his money in her name. . . . At the height of the bull market she insisted on selling everything instead of holding for another hundred points. . . . Mr. Artichoke had her committed to the bobby-hatch. . . . She was released shortly after August 20, 1929, in an exchange for her husband. . . . Mrs. Artichoke now occupies the mansion, which is one of the few show places still maintained in its accustomed style."

RESTFUL.

THIS is a summer when you see very little of the fellow at the vacation resort who had to cut his recreation short so he could get back to work.

THE PUBLIC PULSE.

Mussolini's reason for ousting all those cabinet members, including Dino Grandi, has leaked out. He felt the public wanted new faces in the news-reel movies.

OBSERVATIONS OF THE HOUR.

Now is the time when a friend in need is a friend in need.

• • • •

We call ourselves a civilized Nation, and yet it's only about a year ago that they stopped the old cruel custom of putting people in stocks.

FARLEY VISIONS CAMPAIGN CENTERING ON 'VITAL EAST'

Modified "Front Porch."

"After that conference we will know more about Mr. Garner's arrangements," Farley said.

Gov. Roosevelt was reported to favor a sort of modified "front porch campaign," with an intensive use of regional radio hook-ups.

After a trip to the Middle West soon after mid-August, according to present plans, Gov. Roosevelt will spend virtually all of his time in New York and New Jersey. The keynote of the Eastern campaign is expected to be sounded in a speech by Gov. Roosevelt at Seagirt, N. J., on August 27. But perhaps a week before that he will make his Middle Western speech, at a time and place yet to be announced. Indications are that this opening gun in the Middle Western sector will be timed to follow closely upon President Hoover's acceptance address, scheduled for the night of August 11, in Washington.

Prohibition vs. Slump.

Although yesterday's conferences developed sharp differences of opinion as to the relative place of prohibition and an economic program in the national campaign, Mr. Farley expressed the view that all such differences would be dealt with satisfactorily under the general plan of allowing each State manager to adopt the battle cry best suited to his territory. To avert open conflicts between the State and national plans, however, Farley will seek periodic regional conferences with the State strategists.

Senator Harrison will open the Democratic national appeal with a Nation-wide radio address next Friday night, and Chairman Farley will follow on Saturday with a speech which is expected to give the first hint of the campaign issue selected for major emphasis by the national high command.

Gov. Roosevelt's decision against an old-fashioned swing around the country was attributed by Chairman Farley to the fact that the radio now affords more effective campaign coverage at considerable less expense.

Coast Trip Considered.

"The radio has introduced an entirely new sort of campaign," he said, "and we are making our plans accordingly."

Whether William G. McAdoo, whose dramatic break to Gov. Roosevelt was a decisive factor in the Caicago nomination, will have an active part in the national campaign is problematical, but he is expected to render important service in California, where he is a candidate for the Senate. Gov. Roosevelt has not considered a trip to the Pacific Coast, but may decide on one as the campaign develops, Mr. Farley said.

Reports that some party leaders from the South favored a minimum of repeal emphasis in campaign oratory on prohibition were met last night by Senator Cohen, of Georgia, vice chairman of the national committee, with an unqualified declaration that the "South will accept the Democratic platform in its entirety."

Sees Entire West Captured.

"You need not have any concern about the South on that or any other score," he told Chairman Farley.

Later Farley said he would be disappointed also if Gov. Roosevelt did not carry "every State west of the Mississippi River."

Besides Senators Harrison and Cohen, yesterday's campaign round table on Capitol Hill was attended by Senators Hull and McKellar, of Tennessee; Connelly, of Texas; Ashurst and Hayden, of Arizona; Black, of Alabama; King, of Utah; Lewis, of Illinois; Trammell, of Florida, and Costigan, of Colorado.

For reasons of economy the day-to-day direction of the campaign will center in Mr. Farley's headquarters in the Biltmore Hotel, New York.

The Washington headquarters opened two years ago by former Chairman Raskob, in the National Press Building, will be maintained, but will be operated with a curtailed staff.

HOOVER NAMES POMERENE R. F. C. BOARD CHAIRMAN

E. Smith, of New York, Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1928, for the job. Just how direct was the President's approach to Mr. Smith and just how blunt was Mr. Smith's refusal is not known. Owen D. Young, of New York, the powerful financier who sometimes has been called the father of holding corporations, was offered the job, but refused it. Out of public life for the last several years, Mr. Pomerene is in a safer position than would have been either of the other two mentioned.

Although there was no statement that Mr. Pomerene would accept the appointment, the inference that he would was strong in the White House statement:

"It is a great pleasure to announce the appointment of former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, to the Board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation," the White House announcement said.

"He will be elected as chairman of the board.

Long Service Is Cited.

"He has had long service as a lawyer and business man and as a member of the United States Senate where he was a member of the banking and currency committee.

"His firm has been counsel for the Reconstruction Corporation's work in the Fourth Reserve District."

Mr. Pomerene will take the place of Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, as chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation. The two Republican members of the corporation board are, at present, Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and Gardner Cowles, sr., who is a publisher, of Des Moines, Iowa. The other members of the corporation board, all Democrats, are Wilson McCarthy, of Salt Lake City, Utah; Harvey Couch, of Pine Bluffs, Ark., and Jesse Jones, of Houston, Tex.

The board has had no formal head since Charles G. Dawes retired and went back to Chicago to attend to the serious business of keeping his banks afloat with the aid of an $80,000,000 credit from the corporation of which, it is said, he has had to use comparatively little.

It still has to elect a president, which it is assumed it will do soon. Mr. Hoover exercised the authority in the law when he named the chairman of the board in the person of Mr. Pomerene.

Congress directed reorganization of the board should be done within ten days after the signing of the bill to make it a law. The President signed the bill last Thursday.

The new law added $1,800,000,000 to the capitalization of the corporation. It provides for loans to the total of $300,000,000 to States to relieve distress. It provides also that $1,500,000,000 shall be available for loans to self-liquidating private projects. There remains, it is said, about $1,000,000,000 of the original sum authorized to be distributed in loans to banks, railroad, agricultural and other acceptable paper.

The move of the President in naming a Democrat of such prominence was interpreted as a direct and flat answer to the vociferous plaints of the Democrats before Congress adjourned that resources of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were being used to help the wealthy bankers and industrialists and financiers while the "little fellow" was being neglected.

President Hoover's answer was the appointment of four Democrats and two Republicans to the corporation and the naming of a Democrat to the chairmanship. One appointment remains to be made—a Republican under the law.

2 Capital Hitch-Hikers To Boston Picked Up

Boston, July 26 (A.P.).—Edward Council, 15, of 315 H street northwest, and John Pappas, 16, of 811 Third street northwest, Washington, D. C., were plucked up by Boston police tonight after they had hitchhiked from their homes. Their parents were notified.

The boys said they were inspired to visit Boston by their school teacher, who had told them it was a far-famed seat of culture. They said they had their parents' permission to make the trip. They carried knapsacks loaded with canned goods. Pappas was born in Lowell, but went to Washington to live when a baby.

Foreign News in Brief

St. John's, Newfoundland, July 26 (A.P.).—Several hundred unemployed men rioted in the streets early this morning, pillaging shops and smashing windows before police could get the disorder in hand. Two policemen were injured and eighteen of the rioters were arrested.

Belleville, Ontario, July 26 (A.P.).—Two Canadian air force airplanes collided during a formation flight today. Flight Lieut. H. W. Heson crashed and was seriously injured. Flying Officer F. M. Bobell, pilot of the other ship, landed safely in a parachute.

London, July 26 (A.P.).—A recent appeal by George Lansbury, head of the Parliamentary Labor Party, asking the Pope, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the chief rabbi and the president of the Free Church to intervene in the Anglo-Irish dispute has been rejected by three of those religious leaders.

Genoa, Italy, July 26 (A.P.).—The Italian Steamship Line announced today that the navigating time between Genoa and New York will be cut from nine days to approximately six when the giant new liners Rex and Conte di Savoia go into service next winter. The Rex is due to make her maiden voyage September 27 and the Conte di Savoia November 18.

Munich, Germany, July 26 (A.P.).—Carl Hammerschmidt, 70-year-old president of the German Saengerbund, dropped dead of a heart attack today while he was on the way home from Frankfort, where he attended the song festival last week.

6 NOTED AMERICANS JOIN WAR ON WASTE

Coolidge, Smith, Root, Baker, Pershing and Sims Added to Economy League.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Six of America's foremost men have accepted leadership of the National Economy League's war on waste in Government, which was declared today with formal sanction of President Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith, Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker, Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral William S. Sims comprise a national advisory council of the league, formed to guide its fight against alleged excessive payments to veterans and mounting Government costs.

These six, the league announced, will serve in active capacity as advisors and leaders.

A vehement plea by President Hoover for a national group to defend Congress in withstanding "swarms of lobbies" was read before men from 30 States assembled to organize the movement.

Immediate objective of the league is to pare off some $452,000,000 in payments to veterans, most of which, it is claimed, is collected for disabilities not suffered through war service.

The roster of names in the movement is a distinguished "who's who" from both political parties, the Army, Navy and civilian life.

Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, Virginia explorer, told the group it was just a man's simple duty to "stay at home and fight" for the economy cause. He is postponing his second venture into Antartica to serve as league chairman pro-tem.

ALFRED C. OLNEY, 65, OF I. C. C., EXPIRES

Native of Charleston, S. C., Had Been Resident of Capital 11 Years.

Alfred C. Olney, 65 years old, of the Bureau of Valuation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, died yesterday after an illness of three days. He had been in ill health about three years.

Mr. Olney was a native of Charleston, S. C., but had been a resident of Washington eleven years, having come here when the Bureau of Valuation was formed. At the time he was transferred to Washington he was an assistant district engineer for the Interstate Commerce Commission, with headquarters in Chattanooga, Tenn. He had been with the Commission since its formation.

Before entering Government service, he was a construction engineer with the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line Railways. He was a Mason, member of the Mystic Shrine and of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Mr. Olney is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eva Curtis Olney; two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert E. Doan, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Mrs. John B. Bowen, jr., of Washington, and two sons, Lieut. Alfred C. Olney, jr., of San Diego, Calif., and Robert Olney, of Spartanburg.

Funeral services will be held at 6:30 p. m. today at the residence, 4510 Thirteenth street northwest. The remains will be cremated and sent to Charleston for commitment.

Aspinwall Heads Special Gift Unit

Community Chest Worker Again to Have Charge of Large Donations.

Clarence A. Aspinwall, president of the Security Storage Co., again will head the special gifts unit in the Community Chest campaign in November. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Newbold Noyes, chairman of the general campaign committee.

Mr. Aspinwall helped to organize the Community Chest in Washington and has been associated with it in an official capacity ever since the first campaign in 1929.

He served with the special gifts unit in every campaign. Mr. Aspinwall's unit raised more then $800,000 among the givers of $500 or more. Because of this record, he was asked to assume again responsibility for the work of this unit this year.

There will be some change in the operation of the special gifts unit this year. Instead of holding their campaign a week or ten days in advance of the general campaign, all units including the special gifts will start work simultaneously and will report with the other units at daily meetings.

REICH LEADER RAPS MILITARY DICTATOR

Defense Minister Addresses People as Martial Law Is Withdrawn.

Berlin, July 26 (A.P.).—After Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg had been freed from martial law today, Defense Minister Kurt von Schleicher, an important figure in the old imperial military caste and generally considered the "strong man" behind the present German government, told the nation in a radio talk that he was firmly opposed to military dictatorship.

His address was one of the most important pronouncements of the bitterly contested campaign for the Reichstag elections next Sunday. It came as political experts were predicting that the voting would end in deadlock.

The defense minister asserted military dictatorship in Germany was wholly out of the question because the only government possible was one supported on the broadest basis of the people.

Minimizes Military Trend.

"I am less a military man than many ministers who, professing democracy, still put their faith in bayonets," he said.

"To say that the Junkers (landed aristocrats) and the generals overthrew the previous government is an arrant lie.

"Nothing galls a soldier worse than being dragged into politics. It has been said that I am trying to make the Reichswehr a political instrument, but nothing is farther from my mind."

Gen. von Schleicher called for reorganization of the nation's defenses in such a way as to guard against any increase in the amount they cost now under the limitations of the Treaty of Versailles. He blamed previous German governments for neglecting physical training of the rising generation.

"With conscription and without unemployment," he said, "the growth of organized bands completely useless in war would have been avoided."

Reich Sets Arms Cut Goal.

Few people, the defense minister continued, believe that the powers will accomplish the miracle of reducing their armaments down to the present level of Germany.

Franz Bracht, deputy federal commissioner with dictatorial powers over the State of Prussia, reassured the people the Reichstag election would take place next Sunday, as scheduled. At the same time, he instructed police throughout the state not to hesitate to use their weapons to stop political disorders.

Persons in close touch with political developments asserted in Sunday's voting there would be a majority neither for the supporters of Chancellor Franz von Papen—the National Socialist followers of Adolf Hitler and the Nationalist followers of Dr. Alfred Hugenberg—nor for the parties that made up the coalition which ran the government under the chancellorship of Dr. Heinrich Bruening.

There were new outbursts of political violence today. At Cologne a man was killed in a fight originating in politics. At Friedrichskoog, Frau Luise Schroeder, Socialist member of the Reichstag, was driven away from a campaign meeting by National Socialists. She left in an automobile and the Nazis threw stones and fired several shots at the car. One man was killed and several were seriously injured.

BRIDGE AND MATHEMATICS.

BRIDGE is not an exact mathematical science, and the player who sees in Bridge only an application of the law of mathematics applied to honor-tricks and distributional tricks misses the very spirit of the game. Psychology—both the psychology of your partner and the psychology of your opponents—is an important element in the bidding and play of hands at the Contract table. Thus, in certain stages of the bidding, against one type of player a certain daring bid would be extremely poor tactics, because that player is of the "killer" type, and prefers to double rather than to play the hand, while the same bid against another opponent would be extremely effective, because the opponent in this case prefers to attempt to make game or part-score at his own bid rather than to permit his opponents to play the hand even at a loss.

Good Bridge playing is mathematics plus imagination plus psychology. The exact mixtures in any given rubber will differ with the make-up of partner and opponents. The one safe rule to follow is: Never, under any circumstances, become a wooden player or a wooden bidder.

Precise bidding, which is mental play, is usually rewarded with the exact making of the contract, provided the opponents are kind enough not to interfere with the bids which may upset the calculations of the purely mathematical mind, but there are many hands that do not lend themselves to precise mathematical formulae.

In the hand below, played recently in a Rubber game at the Cavendish Club, New York, the West player seized an opportunity to convey additional information about his hand by making a slightly unorthodox bid, because he felt uncertain as to the correct declaration on the hand and wished to assure himself of a further response from his partner.

West—Dealer.

The Bidding.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
	1♠(1)	Pass	2♠(2)
Pass	3♣(3)	Pass	3NT(4)
Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) Of course, the biddable suit is shown first.

(2) A much better bid than one no-trump. The hand contains adequate trump support for spades, and this information is of greater importance to West than knowledge that East holds about 1½ honor-tricks, which would be the information conveyed by a bid of one notrump.

(3) Unorthodox, but basically sound. West, vulnerable, does not wish to plunge blindly into the bid of three notrump, nor with his evenly balanced hand attempt to make game in spades, which, with partner's single Raise, appears impossible. However, game at notrump may still be available, and thus the further approach to that possible goal by this bid of a shaded suit.

(4) With this additional information regarding West's hand, East, with honors in the unbid suits, decides to take the plunge.

As the cards lay, game could be made in either spades or notrump. The correct play of the hand at notrump was rather interesting. South, the leader, made the correct Opening of the 10 of hearts, the top of a worthless suit. When East saw the Dummy he at once realized that time militated against the possible making of game through any attempt to establish tricks in the club suit. Playing to establish clubs, he must lose one diamond, two hearts and two clubs. His one chance for game, therefore, rested in the establishment of the diamonds, with the loss of a single trick. If this could be done before a heart trick was established, then game was safe, as East must then make four spades, two hearts and three diamonds.

Thus reasoned, East planned the play. He refused to win the first round of hearts, winning the second with the King in his own hand. The 8 of diamonds was then led, and when South refused to play the Ace, the King was played from Dummy. The 7 of diamonds was returned, and East realized that if South held both Ace-Knave of diamonds, game was impossible. The 9 was therefore finessed, and South, seeing no advantage in refusing to win, took the trick. The heart suit was continued, but East won with Dummy's Ace, returned to his own hand, with the Ace of spades, cashed 2 diamond tricks, and thus made his contract.

A clever use of sound psychology, designed to insure another bid from partner, brought a satisfactory result.

Today's Pointer.

Bridge is not mathematics alone, but is a combination of mathematics, imagination and psychology. The mixture differs with the make-up of the game at the table.

Tomorrow's Hand.

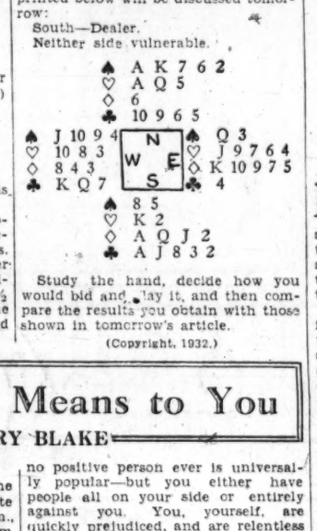
South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Black dull luster satin costume with striking sleeve and waisted jacketed effect, ending in an upstanding collar. The collar and sleeve linings are of white peau d'ange, and the jacket, to which is attached the belt, can be removed to show a decollette dinner gown beneath.. (A Dah-ray design.)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 26.—"Birds of a feather flock together——" and get caught, and their feathers fall one by one—to be picked up by artistic hands and fashioned into an ornament for that most lovely of all God's creatures—woman.

Personally, I think it's far more interesting to be slain for an artistic reason than to be killed to feed another animule. But then, that's a matter of 'pinion, my deah—and, of course, I admit that I am not a bird, as well as the possibility that I might feel a bit different about it if I were!

Feelings aside, feathers are still an important item of trimming for Miladi Lovely's clothing. We see feather boas worn this summer, flattering when worn by the right type of femininity. We are going to see feather trimmings for autumn and winter hats, feathers that come from rare birds, too—not chicken feathers bleached and dyed into a semblance of ornamentation.

• • • •

If any one really is in doubt, the answer is no. To whether you can wear cotton and organdy and gingham evening gowns this fall and winter. Obviously, no. For these fabrics, delightful though they may be when made up into "party" frocks, are nevertheless informal and girlish and somehow just not appropriate to the general formality of the autumn affair.

For home parties, though, it might not be too obvious to wear them. If you are the type—and be sure you are—that can wear anything like this and not look too plain.

• • • •

Dull or shiny—you absolutely can have your choice—in fabrics for your autumn evening wear. Fashion articles to the contrary, one is quite as smart as the other. As well as stiff and limp fabrics, either of which is chic, both used to fashion evening wear of various types.

• • • •

There you are! Yes, another jacket-with-sleeves idea, would you ever guess it? The sketch I made of a design of my own, I mean. Black dull luster satin, you know; that heavy-looking stuff that isn't? Well, it makes the dress I'd sketch for you today, a dress that is the chic length a few inches above the ankle, for informal dinner gowns. And 'neath the jacket——which I'll tell you about a bit later, the top of this dress is quite sleeveless and smartly decollette. Well, as to the jacket, it fastens as you can see, and then the stiffened collar is lined in white peau d'ange—which we are calling "angel skin" these days. And the sleeves have deep undercuffs of this white—which you can turn back or which turn themselves back, really.

One can wear the jacket and make a most interesting afternoon ensemble of this, no? Informal evening wear, too. Then without the jacket, a dinner dress. It's all the rage, my deah.

• • • •

Wouldst make a really comfortable and flattering house dress for your little self? And wouldst have it cost all of 25 cents? And take a half an hour to make? And be stylish and gay and flattering? Seems to us that's quite a lot of interesting angles to any house dress, what? Yes, we think so; we do, we do. So we ask you to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet of this week, which tells you how to do all this. Sh-h-h-h-h-h, you've guessed it. 'Tis made of bandana handkerchiefs, this house dress! One has a sun back and is simply gorlicious for hot weather—the other, which takes one more 5-cent hankie, has a completely covered back and shoulders, and even little sleeves.

• • • •

Almost forgot to mention the chiffon dinner dress also designed for you today—one of those generally all-round useful ones, my deah.

Au revoir!

Cousin of King of Siam Reaches U. S. to Study

San Francisco, July 26 (A.P.).—Prince M. R. Chakratong Tong-yai, cousin of King Prajadhipok of Siam, arrived today en route to Cornell University to study entomology.

"Don't call me a prince," he protested when interviewed. "I just want to be one of the crowd. I want to be democratic and I don't like to be burdened with the title of prince." The other passengers said Chakratong was called "Jack" aboard ship.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

CLIMATE AND HEALTH.

SOME say that the outbreak of disobedience of law and the general breakdown of government in some large cities is the result of prohibition, but C. A. Mills says it is the climate. There are those who try to explain racketeers and gunmen on the basis of racial groupings, countries of origin, bad immigration laws and bootlegging of immigrants. Mills says it is the number of storms per year in those cities were gangsters flourish. He asserts that practically all the gang killings and racketeering are in Northern cities because, in the prevailing climates in these cities, the people are overstimulated. The softer Southern climate does not overstimulate and, therefore, does not cause men to kill and cheat.

The effects are by no means limited to considerations of conduct. Diabetes and exopthalmic goiter are twice as prevalent among persons living in the colder climate. There is more arteriosclerosis and high blood pressure, and the diseases related thereto, in the North. Suicide is more frequent. While young women have a high reproductivity rate in the North, the period of reproductivity is longer continued in the South. The total reproductivity for all periods of woman's child-bearing life is higher in the South than in the North.

Certain diseases are much less prevalent in the South. For instance, scarlet fever is seldom encountered. There are some authorities who deny its existence in the near-equatorial zone.

On the other hand, the Northern climate has some advantages. Persons who live in it are more alert and energetic. They are quicker mentally and better fitted to excel in the competitions of modern life. They are generally more efficient.

Climate is largely responsible for our feverish attempts at the "bigger and better." Up to a certain point this urge is all to the good. But, carried beyond that limit, harmful effects follow. The laws of compensation provide bounds for all forms of excess, and there is evidence in the developments of certain diseases and disorders that the automatic limiting forces are now in operation.

Mills does not advise the residents of northern regions to immigrate southward. His advice is that they stay where they are, but that they travel southward more frequently and, when they do, to fall into the soft, soothing ways of the people. This will supply the medicine they need.

These conclusions are based on scientific, careful studies of vital statistics made by a student. No association of commerce or greeter's organization or press agent of a railroad is to be charged with getting up this report as propaganda.

PREPARING FOR BABIES.

Mrs. W. S. R. writes: I should like to get the addresses of the Government bodies that send out booklets about prospective mothers, babies and young children, both in the United States and Canada.

REPLY.

Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., and Department of Pensions and National Health, Division Child Welfare, Ottawa, Canada.

Most State and provincial health departments and many city health departments issue booklets on these subjects.

BLOODSHOT EYES.

S. J. S. writes: 1. What causes bloodshot eyes? 2. What is the remedy?

REPLY.

1. Irritations and strains, such as exposure to dust, wind, heat and glare, swimming, drunken sprees, insufficient sleep, difficult eye work.

2. Avoid the cause.

WASSERMANN TEST.

Mrs. B. writes: Will you give me information about the Wassermann test for syphilis? Where could I obtain such a test?

REPLY.

This test is made free by all State health departments, and also by many local departments.

If a person can pay for this service any physician can take the specimens and examine them or send them to a laboratory.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Weekly Shampoo, Brushing and Astringent Tonic Ideal Treatment for Oily Hair.

EXCESSIVELY oily hair is the year-round problem of many women, but more are troubled with this condition during the summer than at any other time. Because during the warm weather the oil and perspiration glands function more rapidly.

The majority of women troubled with this hair condition make the mistake of resorting to very frequent shampoos, two or three times a week and sometimes daily. While I do not agree with those beauticians who feel that hair should not be shampooed often, I do feel that daily or thrice weekly shampoos may prove harmful. Furthermore, they relieve the condition very temporarily at best. A weekly shampoo supplemented by very regular brushing, massage and the use of an astringent tonic makes an ideal method for attacking the problem.

How to Shampoo.

When shampooing the hair, remember the liquid or jelly shampoos are far better than the soap in bar form. It is simple enough to shave and melt a medium-sized bar of soap over a slow fire (in a pint of water). As soon as the soap is dissolved it may be strained through two layers of cheesecloth and be allowed to cool before using. The excess may be poured into a clean glass container and allowed to jell. When the jelly is used it should be mixed with warm water and the lather worked up in the palm of the hand bofore it is applied to the hair.

Of course, thorough rinsing is the most important part of the shampoo. The vinegar rinse following the shampoo will help to cut the soap curds. If the hair is light, pure castile soap is good to use. For dark hair either tar soap or tincture of green soap.

Brushing Important.

Somehow and for some unknown reason, the erroneous impression exists that brushing is bad for the oily type of scalp and hair. As a matter of fact, brushing is good for all types. At first, it is true that the hair may seem more oily. But this is no reason for discarding the hair brush (particularly if it is a good one). The stimulation is splendid to whip up the healthy circulation, distribute the oil evenly through every strand of hair and to gradually normalize the activity of the sebaceous glands. If you have just had a permanent or a finger wave and fear disarranging the hair, and therefore do not wish to brush, be sure to massage the scalp and keep it loose, for a tight scalp is often the root of hair difficulties.

Astringent Tonic.

A good astringent tonic may be used several times a week followed by massage. There are many excellent ones on the market. Be sure to choose one suited to your individual needs. A simple one may be made of 40 grams resorcin, 2 ounces bay rum, 2 ounces witch hazel and 1 ounce distilled water.

Watch Diet.

Invariably excessive oiliness of skin or scalp can be traced to the diet. Be sure to include more fresh fruits and vegetables and less fatty foods and pastries.

My hair bulletins and special diet may be had for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 12:35 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 9:40 p. m. to 10:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:15 p. m.

Most everybody will be caught napping on July 27, and will have to use their wits in order to save some situation which will descend out of a clear sky. A propitious time for affairs in writing—correspondence, contracts and agreements. Office people will find themselves in good working form, and their efforts will be applauded.

The child born on this July 27 will have both a clever head and clever hands. Its versatility may not be all to the good, as it may keep it from becoming an expert in any line of endeavor. Because it does not need to dig, mentally, it may scratch the surface of things too lightly for real efficiency. It will have very attractive little ways about it.

There are many things to make you stand out from the throng, if born on July 27, regardless of your physical make-up. You are full of personality, and your magnetism is too strong not to attract people to you. You are a wide sort of person, and have very decided mannerism and ways. Not everyone likes you—no positive person ever is universally popular—but you either have people all on your side or entirely against you. You, yourself, are quickly prejudiced, and are relentless when you hate.

You are capable of getting keen interests, but they are seldom lasting. Nobody can give their heart and soul to one thing, whilst cherishing a secret desire for something else, as you often do. You allow too many distractions to interfere with your real job. You are a natural born rainbow chaser, and nothing will ever stop you seeking this illusive bag of gold.

You are too materialistic to be a philosopher, and you will take your religion indifferently. Real adversity would make you "climb" to get into a happier environment, but you do not take "hard luck" as a stoic or saint. You are very fond of the good things of life, and their attainment will probably be your sole ambition. You will also take the first and easiest means.

Successful people born on July 27:

Alexander Macomb, merchant.

Samuel Smith, Acting Secretary of the Navy.

John Warren, physician and surgeon.

Herman Knickerbocker, lawyer.

George Foster Peabody, banker.

(Department of Agriculture).

A deep fat frying kettle is necessary to make the fried eggplant that one is given in a hotel or restaurant. Otherwise this delicious way of preparing eggplant is not difficult. The old-fashioned idea that the eggplant had to be soaked several hours in salt water is no longer accepted. However, for most deep fat frying, the food is first coated with egg and bread crumbs, and time allowed for this coating to dry. The following directions are supplied by the Department of Agriculture:

French Fried Eggplant.

1 medium-sized eggplant
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
¼ teaspoon salt
Fine dry grated bread crumbs
Fat for deep frying

Pare the eggplant and cut it in strips about ½ inch thick and 3 inches long. Beat the egg slightly, add the water and the salt. Dip the pieces of eggplant into the beaten egg, and then roll each piece in the bread crumbs and let the strips stand an hour or longer to dry the coating. Heat the fat in a deep vessel to about 365 degrees F. and cook the eggplant about 5 minutes or until golden brown. Drain the eggplant on paper and serve hot.

POWERS, CONVICTED IN GOEBEL CASE, DIES

Former Member of House Shipping Board Counsel at Time of Death.

Barbourville, Ky., July 26 (A.P.).—Caleb Powers, whose 84 years carried him through a varied career that ranged from eight years imprisonment to eight years as a member of Congress, consecutively served, will be buried here Thursday. He died last night in a Baltimore Hospital after an extended illness, and his death revived memories of the stirring episode of Gov. William Goebel's assassination in 1900.

Out of the political whirlpool and struggle which was climaxed by the assassination, Powers emerged with eight years to serve on a charge of conspiracy. The conviction was at his fourth trial. Tall, immaculate, educated in law, and a former cadet at West Point, Powers took a large part in his own defense. Two other men were convicted in connection with the Goebel death, James Howard and Henry E. Youtsey. All were pardoned in 1908.

Two years later Powers was elected to Congress from the Eleventh District. He was reelected three times afterward.

After retiring from Congress Mr. powers was named as assistant counsel to the Shipping Board, a position which he held until his death. He lived in Washington at 5100 Chevy Chase Parkway. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Anna Dorothy Kaufman, of Newport, Ky., whom he married after his first reelection to Congress, and a daughter.

Philatelists Mark Mail Anniversary

Society Plants Tree in Honor of 157th Birthday of Postal Service.

The 157th anniversary of the founding of the postal service by the Continental Conggress on July 26, 1775, was celebrated yesterday by the Society of Philatelic Americans as part of the program of a three-day meeting at the Mayflower Hotel.

The ceremony consisted of the dedication of a tree at Eighth and E streets northwest, at the site of the first permanent postoffice building in Washington, by Mrs. Edward H. Shaughnessy, wife of the late Third Assistant Postmaster General, who lost his life in the Knickerbocker Theater disaster.

Original plans of the George Washington Bicentennial program included a general observance yesterday by the Postoffice Department in Washington, but this was postponed until the laying of the corner-stone of the new Postoffice Department Building in September.

To participate in the national celebration of the anniversary, the Society of Philatelic Americans arranged to meet in Washington a month in advance of their usual annual meeting in August.

Rankin Calls Borah Plan Most Astounding Step

(Associated Press.)

The proposal of Senator Borah (Republican), of Idaho, for a world conference to consider war debts and other postwar problems was characterized yesterday by Representative Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi, as "the most astounding political development of recent months."

"This is the same proposition that has been pushed forward by certain international bankers for the last few years," Rankin said in a formal statement. "It was back of the Hoover moratorium proposal last year, as was evidenced by his request for the re-creation of the old debt-funding commission, which could have but one possible function—that of reducing or canceling these debts."

BONUS MEN WILL FACE CRISIS TODAY ON CAMP EVICTIONS

is in the outskirts of the District and is privately-owned. The officials of the army would not reveal the identity of the owner. Neither would they say who gave them assurance that the women and children would be properly housed.

Wrecker Gets Orders.

Instructions to proceed in an "orderly manner with the fulfillment of the wrecking contract" were given yesterday to George W. Rhine, the contractor, by Treasury Department officials. Simultaneously, they sent a notice to the District Commissioners that the Treasury Department is about "to proceed with the work."

Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford was last night awaiting instructions from the District Commissioners as to what police action is to be taken to oust the men from the billets so that the wrecking crews may go to work. At a late hour last night he had not received the instructions.

The new accord between the veterans and Federal officials was ascribed by Army officials as due to the fact that "we convinced the Federal authorities that we are here to cooperate with them and not to fight them."

The property where they will be encamped is immediately available, but the big problem of providing tentage has not yet been solved. It is likely, it was said, that several States will be asked to lend tents of their National Guard to the bonus army.

If the wrecking company attempts to proceed with the work today the radicals in the areas will be isolated from the regulars under Waters before attempts are made to clear the sites, bonus officials announced last night.

Both Brig. Gen. Glassford and Mr. Rhine seemingly are in an unsolvable dilemma as to what their action shall be. Mr. Rhine has been ordered to clear the blocks by the Treasury Department. Through Edward R. Whitman, legal adviser of the Treasury Department, Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills has advised that the hovels housing women and children be undisturbed.

Warning of Surety Company.

The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., which underwrites Mr. Rhine's public liability and workmen's compensation insurance, has warned him that if he proceeds with the wrecking while any veterans or their kinfolk are in the block, his insurance policy will be revoked.

If he should proceed despite the revocation he will be liable to arrest for violation of the District code, which requires such contractors to have public liability and workmen's compensation insurance. Mr. Rhine said he would be responsible personally for any injuries to his men or to the veterans, should any accident occur, and that he would not proceed until the block was cleared entirely.

Before Waters issued his "no resistance" order, Gen. Glassford, anticipating that the passive resistance policy of the veterans would be continued, ordered a special "evacuation squad," of 54 men, under Inspector E. W. Brown, to report for duty at the wrecking site at 7 o'clock this morning.

When the attempt is made to clear the area bounded by Pennsylvania and Missouri avenues, Third and Sixth streets northwest, Gen. Glassford will clear the sector of everyone except veterans, workmen, newspapermen, and police.

Mr. Rhine, who purchased the old buildings for their salvage value, said yesterday there are 125 more buildings on the grounds now than when he took the contract. All of these have been constructed of material which he bought under the wrecking contract, and from which he hoped to obtain recompense for his purchase because of their salvage value.

Radical Leaders Convicted.

The leaders of the radical wing of the army were convicted in Police Court yesterday on charges of parading without a permit. They are John Pace, Walter Eicher and Beckwith Johnson. They were sentenced to either 40 days in jail or a $40 fine. Their trials were in connection with offenses committed during the attempted picket of the White House on July 20.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt and Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward M. Welliver offered to release the men if they would take an oath not to repeat the offense. The men said they felt they had committed no offense. The offer was then withdrawn. At this stage Charles E. Ford, attorney for the defense, announced he would appeal the case.

The arraignment of the nine men arrested Monday during their thwarted picket of the White House was postponed until next week. The demonstration threatened to take place at Police Court, but the radical wing failed to materialize. Special precautions were taken by police to prevent any outbreak near the court.

One worry was eliminated by the bonus camp yesterday when Gen. Glassford obtained an agreement from Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, in charge of the District National Guard, not to enforce the order of the District Commissioners that all tents and rolling kitchens loaned to the veterans be returned on August 1.

All danger of milk famine, which threatened 400 children in the camp, was also obliterated yesterday when officials of the Catholic University offered to supply adequate milk for the children.

About 175 veterans received $87,000 yesterday in the form of loans on their adjusted service compensation certificates under a law passed two weeks ago by Congress, eliminating the two years' application provision.

Fake Message Reports District Attorney Dead

Los Angeles, Calif., July 26 (A. P.).—The "poison tongue" individual who has been calling various persons to inform them a relative is dead, today chose Buron Fitts, district attorney, as the subject of one of his fictitious messages.

Telephone calls purporting to be from George Gregory, a brother-in-law, reported the district attorney had died early this morning at his Malibu Beach home. Fitts arrived at his office hale and hearty after the fake message had been delivered to the sheriff's office, police department and newspapers.

Jr. O.U.A.M. Will Hear Byrd Road Act Debate

A meeting of the Ballston Council, No. 221, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the order's hall at Ballston for a discussion of the Byrd road act.

The speaker in favor of Arlington County withdrawing from the provisions of the act will be Lyman M. Kelley, member of the county board. Favoring the act will be Fred A. Gosnell, also a county board member.

Store Burglar Escapes Shots.

Special Policeman William A. Pennington discovered a colored man breaking into a store owned by Jack Vogel at 605 Seventh street southwest early yesterday, but was unable to catch him. The intruder had broken a show window to gain entrance. Pennington fired several shots at the escaping colored man.

SHRINERS' CONCLAVE BEGUN WITH PARADE

San Francisco Riot of Color as Fifty-eighth Convention of Order Starts.

San Francisco, July 26 (A.P.).—Fezzed, uniformed Shriners painted the town red, yellow, green and purple in opening their fifty-eighth annual convention here today and then settled down to a little serious funmaking.

Thousands of brightly uniformed nobles from all over the continent mobilized into bands, drill teams, drum and bugle corps and other units to march through streets already made arabesque by an army of decorators. Other thousands lined the curbs and watched.

In a downtown theater members of the imperial council opened their fifty-eighth annual formal session with a view to clearing away promptly the few serious matters underlying every convocation of the ancient Arabic order.

The ceremonies, for the first time in the order's history, were open to the public. Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Houston, of Chicago, presided.

Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, brought a personal message from President Hoover to Shrinedom. The President, he said, deeply regretted his inability to attend, but was forced to remain in Washington to direct the "Nation's frontal attack on the present economic maladjustments."

"America has never failed," Jahncke said. "The Government has not survived the perils and hazards of internal and foreign conflicts to be defeated in economic battle or to surrender ignominously to forces of the depression. President Hoover is assured the Shrine will play a valuable part in rekindling the flame of that unconquerable spirit of America which in the past has always led us to victory."

Nearly 15,000 Shriners took part in the parade, which honored the imperial potentate, Houston. The grandstands erected in San Francisco's civic center to seat 60,000 persons were filled.

Chased by Bull, Girl Drowns.

Brigham City, Utah, July 26 (A.P.).—Chased by an angry bull, Hazen Hendrickson, 19, leaped into the Bear River near here and drowned. Two sisters, who also sought refuge in the stream, found a shallower spot and remained there until a fourth sister outmaneuvered the bull and rescued them.

ARGENTINA SEEKING ALLIANCE ON CHACO

Four-Power Neutral Pact to Prevent War Over Area Is Aim.

Buenos Aires, July 26 (A.P.).—Argentina today sought to make a four-power neutral alliance to prevent war between Bolivia and Paraguay in the 50-year-old Chaco territory dispute.

The signatories would be Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru. There was no indication as to progress, but Argentina went ahead with her intention to exert "moral pressure" on the aroused nations.

Meanwhile there was little of peaceful portent in dispatches from La Paz and Asuncion. The Paraguayan government today received a quantity of arms captured from the Bolivians when Paraguayans retook Fort Lopez in the Chaco.

Catholic and society women's clubs of Paraguay offered their jewels and services, the society women advising they were willing to establish and maintain a field hospital.

Kin of Daniel Boone Victim of Holdup Man

Kansas City, July 26 (A.P.).—Daniel Boone, jr., today appreciates more fully his great-great-grandfather's practice of going out at night only when accompanied by the family deer gun.

Mr. Boone, president of a life insurance company, driving alone, encountered a highwayman, "very hard and very drunk." Prodded in the ribs with a revolver, Boone drove the robber about town. His passenger then left with $18 of the insurance man's money and two rings valued at $900.

$100 in Clothing Is Stolen.

Clothing valued at $100 was stolen from the Valet shop in the basement of the Clifton Apartments yesterday, it was reported by Edward J. Johnson.

Mike, Radio Famed Dog, Is Killed by Poison Dose

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 26 (A.P.).—Mike, the dog who barked his way to radio fame, died of poison today.

The dog was trained by his master, Henry Fillmore, band leader, to bark in rhythm with the music. Several days ago he became ill and death came despite efforts of medical experts. It was believed he may have eaten poisoned bread intended for sparrows.

Death of 2 Girls Laid To Drowning Accident

Milliville, Minn., July 26 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury today decided two Rochester, Minn., girls, whose bodies were found last week, died from accidental drowning, two men held without charge were released.

The jury heard six witnesses, three of them physicians who examined the bodies of Frances Polikowski, 23, a waitress and Louise Prigge, 21, farm girl, and concludd they were victims of drowning.

COOL
Just imagine, 350 degrees of heat inside the oven of an Electric Range . . . and yet the outside surfaces remain so cool that you can firmly hold your hand against them without burning yourself. Electric Cookery has no flames to cause escaping heat and fumes which are so common to other cooking fuels. It is so cool and clean that flowers placed right on top of the oven won't even wilt. No oxygen is ever consumed in the air of your kitchen, because you cook with HEAT, not flame! To substantiate this, a simple test, such as placing plants in your kitchen, will convince you. They will thrive just as if they were outdoors in Nature's own pure air.
It is inexpensive to enjoy this advantage which only Electric Cookery can give you. The average family pays less than $3 per month for electric current.
Ask your electrical dealer today to give you further information and other advantages of this modern way to a healthier, cooler, cleaner kitchen.

POLITICS IN SOVIET TRADE.

Gov. Roosevelt is studying the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia. It is reported from Albany that he intends to advocate a more liberal attitude toward the Soviet, perhaps not recognition but more extensive trade relations. If so, the policy of the Government in dealing with the Bolshevist regime in Russia will become an important factor in the campaign. Gov. Roosevelt ought not to delay his comment on the Russian question.

The American people are unalterably opposed to recognition of the Soviet for several reasons. Three Republican administrations have refused to establish diplomatic relations with the communistic government at Moscow, chiefly because that government insists on flooding the United States with propaganda designed to foment revolution in this country. It is not to be supposed that the Democratic party intends to advocate recognition of the Soviet, but if any plans are laid for extending trade with that country, the people ought to know about it.

A few Democrats in Congress are obsessed with the idea that trade with the Soviet's monopolies is the key to recovery, and they are probably bringing pressure upon Gov. Roosevelt to champion more extensive Russian trade. Furthermore, the party sees a necessity of advancing plans to improve foreign trade because of its claims that the slump in international commerce during the last three years is a foremost cause of the depression.

It is to be hoped, however, that Gov. Roosevelt will not seriously consider plunging into the dangerous morass of Bolshevist intrigue. Hopes for a prosperous trade with the Soviet are purely fanciful. It is true, of course, that the Soviet juggernaut would like to buy industrial equipment in the United States on credit. Vast quantities of machinery are needed to build up the communistic industrial system so that it will be prepared to carry out plans of the reds to destroy capitalistic nations. But aside from this, there is no basis for extensive trade between the United States and Russia. Imports from the Soviet have always been meager for two reasons: First, Russia produces almost nothing, excepting possibly manganese, that this country can not supply equally well or better. Second, Congress has refused to force American workingmen into competition with the slave labor of the communistic regime. Consequently, trade with the Soviet has been a one-sided affair. American firms have been dumping their inferior and obsolete machinery on the inexperienced reds while Russian exports to the United States have been held to a minimum. The opening of American-Soviet trade, therefore, would be a process of removing the obstacles to Russian dumping on the American market.

That is one thing that the American people would never tolerate. The working population of this country makes no pretense at competition with paupers living on black bread and cabbage soup. Such competition ought not to be made a political issue. Both parties ought to stand firm against trade relations that would be so obviously detrimental to American workingmen. Gov. Roosevelt can not afford to let rumors that he is considering the cultivation of Soviet trade, in the event of his election, stand uncorrected.

TILSON TO RETIRE.

John Quillin Tilson, for 22 years a member of the House of Representatives from Connecticut, announces that he will resign from Congress and will not be a candidate for reelection. His statement to that effect, printed in the last issue of the Congressional Record, which was issued yesterday, comes as a surprise. Nevertheless, it is readily understandable by his friends who appreciate the keen disappointments that the 72nd Congress brought to the veteran Republican leader.

Representative Tilson was Republican leader of the House during the two preceding sessions. When death claimed Speaker Longworth, Mr. Tilson and many warm supporters felt that he should be the Republican candidate for Speaker, not merely from precedent, but as his well-earned reward for faithful service and leadership. The selection of Bertrand H. Snell, of New York, as the party candidate, and the subsequent choice of Mr. Snell as floor leader for the Republican minority, was a blow to Mr. Tilson, but he continued to serve his party and his country faithfully.

In his valedictory Mr. Tilson says that his decision to resign does not necessarily mean that he is permanently retiring from public service. He says: "I doubt whether the importance of my service here is sufficient to justify me in sacrificing what may be my last opportunity to provide somewhat more adequately for my family and future." He makes it clear, however, that, like the good soldier he was in two wars, he will always remain ready to make a sacrifice for his country when the importance of the call demands it.

John Q. Tilson has rendered long and valuable service to his party and his country. The best wishes of hosts of friends and admirers will go with him in his return to private life and the practice of law. It is not at all improbable that Representative Tilson will again be called upon to render public service for his State and the nation.

FLEXIBLE WORKING HOURS.

Only one Government department considers the five-day week applicable to the Federal service. All the other departments prefer to continue in operation on Saturday mornings, allowing employes to take their enforced furloughs as annual leave. So far as working time is concerned the results will be the same at the end of the year. Labor Department employes will have 48 week-ends of leisure, while the great majority of Government workers will be able to take one extended vacation.

It appears that the Department of Labor has simply made a gesture in favor of the five-day week. The American Federation of Labor is anxious to have all Government departments adopt the shorter week as an example to industry and business. While President Hoover is known to favor a shorter week and most of the department heads are doubtless in accord with the general aim of spreading employment, they see no reason why the Government should adopt a plan that would impair its efficiency and deny vacations to employes.

There is a vast difference between the general principle of shorter working hours and closing down Government departments over Saturdays and Sundays. Presumably the Labor Department's action will mean that employment agencies operated under its direction throughout the country will be closed on Saturdays. This will work a hardship on men seeking jobs and reduce the efficiency of the agencies. It is difficult to see how labor will benefit from this decision.

The five-day week does not imply that all operations should be suspended two days every week. Many industrial plants must be kept in operation continuously. For the most part the five-day week is put into effect by releasing one-sixth of a plant's working force on Monday, one-sixth on Tuesday, and so forth. To make Saturday a universal day of rest and pleasure would handicap business as well as industry.

The objective to be sought in the five-day week is the spreading of employment on the basis that is most practicable to each industry. In the Government, that can best be done by reducing the number of days that each employe works per year, instead of on a weekly basis. This plan insures better service to the public and allows Government workers to enjoy extended vacations, to travel or otherwise make valuable use of their accumulated leave. There seems to be no justification whatever for forcing employes to divide up their leisure into half-day periods when the same general result can be obtained in a more satisfactory way.

The idea of an arbitrary five-day week should be replaced by the more reasonable objective—the flexible working week. Five working days per week at the same hourly wage means a lower standard of living than the six-day week. Most Americans would rather work a few more hours and increase their incomes. During normal times there seems to be no economic reason why they should not do so. The shorter working week is an emergency measure to reabsorb the unemployed into the industrial system. When that has been accomplished working hours in the various industries should be adjusted, with a reasonable maximum, so that workingmen will be able to improve their economic status. It is this conception of flexible working periods, adjusted to the demands of the public for goods and services, and not the arbitrary five-day week, that holds out promise of greater industrial stability as well as a higher standard of living.

BRANCH FACTORIES ABROAD.

The establishment of branch plants in foreign countries by American manufacturers is not without its perils. In an address broadcast by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, the industrial interests of the United States were urged to consider carefully many factors entering into the possible success or failure of such enterprises. Not a few concerns of this kind, hastily established abroad, usually for the purpose of escaping tariffs and costly freight charges on finished products, have found that changes in the laws, customs regulations, taxes and national prejudices, have, in a short time, changed radically the opportunities for profitable operation.

More American factories have been set up in Canada than in any other nation. There are nearly 1,100 of these plants north of the border, representing an investment of more than $1,000,0000,000. Their objective in locating abroad was not merely to avoid the Canadian tariff, but also to secure more advantageous access to the markets of other members of the British Commonwealth. "Empire content" is an important term in connection with British trade between England and the dominions. It means the proportion of material going into an article that is produced within the empire.

In many cases a minimum of 25 per cent of the ingredients of an article must be of native origin to entitle the manufacturers to the preferential empire import duties. This requirement varies in different countries and for different articles. American owners of plants in British countries are much concerned regarding the proposal at the Ottawa conference to stiffen this requirement so as to bar American branch factory products from the preferential advantages.

If the proportional content questions should be decided by the adoption of a sliding scale arrangement that could be readily adjusted to foster trade within the empire it might work disastrous results for American branch factories. Canada's flexible tariff is an example of how quickly changes can be made against imports from the United States. Under the provision which permits the adjustment of valuations of imports by the executive department through "orders in council," imposts can be changed in a day without any alteration of the ad valorem rate of duty. Manufacturers who have established plants abroad will watch the outcome at Ottawa with much anxiety.

While causing some dislocation of labor and consequent rearrangement, foreign plants have not been as disastrous to American exports as some critics would have it appear. A branch factory may decrease the shipments of a certain finished article and yet so stimulate its use through local manufacture that the export of the component parts soon exceed the former business in the finished product.

DIVISION OF TRADE.

Eating provides more business than any of man's other activities. Nearly one-fourth of the total retail sales are made in the food group of stores. Such is the result shown by the detailed compilation by the Census Bureau for the State of Ohio, which is fairly representative of the entire country. The next interesting fact disclosed by the canvass is that purchases in the stores of the automotive group form the second largest total. These census figures cover the year 1929 and it is probable that if the figures were available for last year automobile purchases would not rank so high.

The total retail sales of Ohio for the year amounted to $2,864,821,119, a sum of which many a small nation would be proud. The 24 per cent which represented food purchases included sales in grocery stores, meat markets, fruit and vegetable markets, candy stores and delicatessens, $688,000,000, to supply the tables of Ohio folks in addition to what was provided by their own farms and gardens. The $609,000,000 expenditure for automobile supplies included, in addition to the machines themselves, all kinds of accessories, tires and batteries, filling station and garage service. The general merchandise group, including department stores, made 14 per cent of the sales, while the apparel group, including clothing and furnishing stores, claimed nearly 9 per cent.

Chain stores have not run away with business in Ohio, single-store independents handling over 66 per cent of the business. Only 14.51 per cent went to the sectional and national chains. While more than 80 per cent of the stores are owned by proprietorships, the 19 per cent owned by corporations did 53 per cent of the business. Ohio's 83,717 stores pay 230,000 full-time employes $318,000,000 a year.

HIGHWAY MAINTENANCE

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

There are aspects of the highway situation under present economic conditions which, despite their seriousness, elude the Nation's car owners. So say those who are familiar with the national road picture, those who view it down to such small detail as the county highway program.

Their report regarding maintenance is one that is designed to make the motorist take notice. It is sufficiently serious that some rather conservative authorities on the subject profess to foresee the possibility of a set-back of several years in highway development.

While the county highway networks are those most definitely threatened by a shortage of maintenance funds, a few States also find themselves in the same predicament with regard to the protection of their improved road investments. This is indicated by the probability that the Federal Government will have to invoke that provision of the national highway law which permits the United States Bureau of Public Roads to assume maintenance jurisdiction over Federal-aid projects where State maintenance can not be financed.

Highway officials concede the fundamental wisdom of retrenching on new construction projects when funds are running low and long-term financing is not feasible. It is the only economic course to follow, they agree.

Excessive reductions of the funds necessary for proper maintenance, which are to be found in many county highway programs, are held to be the reverse of economic wisdom. Even though heavily burdened motorists may clamor for a reduction in taxes under present conditions, the official who goes too far in yielding to the demand is regarded as laying himself open to future criticism.

Roads quickly go to pieces under a lack of maintenance. The motorist who today may be asking for economy will change his cry when he finds that the highways he uses daily are filled with holes and weather-worn to a point that will require eventual replacement at a cost much greater than would be involved in steady maintenance. Officials who refuse to yield to the retrenchment demand to a point that jeopardizes highway investment maintain that the highway user will forget he ever made such a demand when business conditions improve.

Another argument in favor of adequate maintenance is that it is actually a current economy to highway transportation. Motor vehicle operation costs increase in definite proportion to the decline in the efficiency of the highways over which they travel. Major repairs which have been unnecessary for years in the case of vehicles which travel over improved highways will be inevitable when lagging maintenance permits roads to go to ruin. Furthermore, the motorist will find himself confronted by higher fuel and oil consumption and costs, touring will decline and local business will suffer accordingly, and to return to the old state of efficient transportation will require road rebuilding.

Safety authorities, as well as highway experts, see a cause for grave concern in inadequate maintenance. Poor roads invariably are accident breeders.

Viewed broadly, the economy of maintenance is one for which a strong case can be made.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

COUNTRY PICTURE.

Last year upon a little porch
As I went riding by.
A quaint old pair, with silvered hair,
I often used to spy
They watched the setting of the sun.

The little farm they kept was trim,
The little yard was gay
With hollyhocks and scarlet phlox.
As picturesque were they,
And oft the thought occurred to me
How very lonely they must be.

Now summer time is here once more.
Again the road I fare,
But where they sat I notice that
The man alone is there.
And well I know one winter day
God must have called the wife away.

Now never shall I pass that house
When the cool breezes stir
The summer flowers in evening hours,
But I shall think of her,
So stately and so dignified,
Who looked so lovely at his side.

Quail Would Starve in a Pea Field If They Waited to Be Hand-Fed

By ROBERT QUILLEN

LOOK at the other side of the picture.

We have endured three years of "the worst depression in history."

Eight million men are jobless; stocks are quoted at a fraction of their value; men otherwise sane tell us the country is ruined, and irresponsible men talk of revolution.

Now observe the bright side.

Many men are idle, but for every idle man there are seven employed.

Bank savings are larger than ever before in the Nation's history. They have increased more than 1,200 million dollars since the depression began, and the people now have in savings banks more than twenty-nine billion dollars.

There has been much distress selling of stocks, but the number of stock owners has increased 38 per cent since 1929. The people are picking up bargains.

There is some hoarding, but currency now in circulation totals five and a half billion dollars, which is three-quarters of a billion more than in 1929.

Then why does the depression continue?

Because of our state of mind—not the state of mind of the jobless, but of those who are making the money and those who have money to lend.

We are not buying or building or growing. We are salting down our earnings and marking time while waiting for a miracle.

Paternalism spoiled us. Working for a boss and depending on the Government for salvation in time of trouble robbed us of the capacity for independent action.

We no longer say: "I must do something." Instead we say: "Why doesn't the Government do something?" That is what ails us.

We despair in the midst of enormous riches and make times hard despite abundance because our self-reliance is gone. We learned to depend on the fleshpots of Egypt, and now we wait for a Moses to lead us into the land of promise.

There will be no Moses. The Government can't make times good. Appropriations of public money can't save us.

There is only one way of salvation, and that is to save ourselves. Times will be good when the millions who have regular incomes begin to spend and build as they did before the panic, and nothing else under heaven can make them good.

People must starve despite rich harvests if they won't come out of the cyclone cellar.

PRO AND CON

The Hoover Record.

New York Herald Tribune.

The return to Mr. Hoover—that began late last year and has been continuing more or less steadily ever since—has plainly taken on new strength in the last few weeks. The experts who were impressed by the Democratic platform and by Gov. Roosevelt's dramatic flight to Chicago are indulging in second guesses. Mr. Clinton W. Gilbert, correspondent of the New York Evening Post, and anything but a Hooverite, finds New York and New Jersey safe for the President. The betters are cautiously suggesting 7 to 5 on Mr. Hoover as fair odds. Something has plainly happened to the great Democratic landslide started by disaster and supposedly uniting all the various discontents. The Roosevelt smile—that was rated invincible—is not quite so wide. There are even impatient critics ready to ask: "Is a smile enough?"

The causes of this accelerated trend to Mr. Hoover are fairly obvious. One is, of course, Mr. Garner. Vice presidential meat proved too strong for this Texas Caesar. Imagining that he was fighting Mr. Hoover single-handed, he made about as complete an ass of himself as an experienced statesman well could do. Not even the able Mr. Mills proved as effective a campaigner for the President as the Democratic Speaker.

The Democrats put on a colorful convention, and for a full week kidded themselves into the belief that the Republicans were already wiped off the political map, from which delusion they may experience a sorry awakening in November.

Democratic Radicals.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

As was possibly inevitable, the Democratic party has at last and again fallen into the hands of its violent men.

Outstanding among the new leaders is Huey Long, self-styled "The Kingfish," senator from Louisiana and as able and dangerous a demagogue as ever came out of the Southern canebrakes.

Almost equally prominent in Roosevelt councils are Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and Senator Clarence C. Dill, of Washington. The Montanan bolted his party in 1924 and was the vice presidential nominee on the La Follette third party ticket. He is one of the more advanced and violent of the Senate's radicals. Crowding him closely as spokesman from the West came Senator Dill, almost equally violent and well-nigh equally radical.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Singer Says the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Prevents Foreign Countries From Dumping Cheaply Manufactured Articles Here.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Hawley-Smoot tariff act, in spite of criticism to the contrary, remains the most vital safeguard of the American manufacturer.

In the last decade, the increasing industrialization of Europe has tended to eliminate or decrease former lucrative markets for American exports. The phenomenal growth of shoe manufacturing in Czechoslovakia and machine tool manufacture in France has had its effect in the exports of these articles from the United States. With our industrial capacity in the above-mentioned lines as well as in many others keyed to markets that no longer exist, the effect has been idle factories, wholesale dismissal of employes and the reduction of raw material purchases with similar results in kindred industries.

The former advantage of an early beginning held by many American manufacturers in supplying the major portion of articles required in foreign markets is fast disappearing. The American exporters without a distinct advantage in quality, therefore, can no longer expect to supply these former lucrative markets because of the advantage of lower freight rates and cheaper labor costs possessed by the European manufacturer.

Fortunately the American manufacturer can depend on the home market, because of shipping advantages and the existence of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, which removes any cheap labor advantage that a foreign manufacturer might have. Elimination of tariff barriers in many lines at the present time would result in wholesale dumping of cheaply manufactured foreign products into the United States with which the American manufacturer would find it impossible to compete.

Criticism of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill for many items is unjustifiable, as its existence is vital as a safeguard to American industry.

Washington Has Enough Troubles Without Caring for the Bonus Army.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I saw a letter in one of the Baltimore papers advising the bonus men to continue their stay in Washington. If they stay, who'll benefit?

While Congress was in session they had a fighting chance, but with both houses adjourned, who is there for them to address and convince? The administration refuses to be convinced. How are the men going to live? Even as it is they are only being half fed. Contributions from "home" are dwindling down to the vanishing point. As for the citizens of Washington, they are not equal to the task. They already have four problems to meet:

1. Their own earning power has been pared down.
2. The city's own unemployed, 40,000, including dependents, must be looked after.
3. There are many thousands of jobless within our gates that came in the tracks of the ex-soldiers.
4. There are hundreds of old-time panhandlers who are always present.

The bonus army, if it should stay here, would make problem No. 5. Too much is too much. F. V.

Writer Fears Uncle Sam Will Enter Another War and Pay Both Armies.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I see by the papers that the American people have come through again. Verily, the gods must be laughing. These Americans always were the funniest people!

Years ago the people used to buy gold bricks, the Brooklyn Bridge and the city hall, then rush to the police and complain. The people paid for the gold bricks and also paid the police, lawyers and judges.

After a time this farce lost its savor from overuse and the gods no longer laughed, but the people soon thought of a better scheme. They passed the eighteenth amendment. How the gods did roar to see the people paying, from one pocket, the lawyers, judges and prohibition officers, and, from the other pocket, buying booze costing more and worth less than they had bought before prohibition.

You would think this last little skit would satisfy the gods, but no! We must have the bonus army supported by the people. We must have the people on one hand trying to put them out by court decree and on the other hand hiring lawyers to keep them in. If an American had two heads he would argue with himself.

The next thing I expect to see is the good old U. S. A. in another war and paying both armies. What fools these mortals be!

FRANK W. MOORMAN.

Senator Borah Is Taken to Task for Suggesting Cancellation of War Debts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Of all the puerile statements this man Borah has issued, his latest one, offering to cancel Europe's honest debts to us, takes the cake. Why cancel them? Don't they owe us the money? Then why saddle these debts on your children and mine?

Europe only buys from us the things she can not get elsewhere, or where the point is in her favor. It wouldn't make any difference what the tariff amounted to—England and France are out to beat the United States on both trade and debts. Mr. Borah may be a good windjammer in Congress, but he doesn't know a thing about real business. Borah is one of those politicians who should be muzzled at this time. FRANK ISA...

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Dale, son and daughter-in-law, and Senator and Mrs. Porter Dale, have returned to their apartment at the Broadmoor after spending several weeks in Kentucky.

Miss Bourdeaux Wed To Leonard H. Hoyle.

The wedding of Miss Geneve Bourdeaux, daughter of Mr. Clitus Bourdeaux, and Mr. Leonard Hughes Hoyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hoyle, of Olney, Md., took place yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church.

The simple and impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nolan B. Harmon, jr., of Baltimore. Mr. R. Dean Shure, organist of the church, played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Dale Hamilton, who sang "I Hear a Thrush at Eve," and Ivalee Newell, violinist, who played Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory lace and a bridal veil of tulle, caught at the neck with small white gardenias. Her flowers were white Killarney roses and baby's breath. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Eugenia Bourdeaux, who wore a frock of pink mousseline de soie with blue accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

Mr. William Rogers Hoyle, only brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Ben B. Baylor, Mr. W. Frank Gatewood, Mr. Henry Schweinhaut and Mr. Clitus Oliver Bourdeaux, jr.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle left by motor for a short trip, the bride wearing a traveling suit of black and white silk with black and white accessories. They will be at home after August 15 at 3407 Twenty-ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Horacio de Mello, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, are guests at the Mayflower with their son and daughter, Mr. Horacio de Mello, jr., and Miss Clotilde de Mello. They have been in the United States two months, Mr. de Mello having attended the Rotary Club convention in Seattle, and will sail from New York on August 11 for South America. Prof. Spencer Vampre, of the University Law School of Sao Paulo, is with them.

Senorita Josesina Toua Soto, sister of the former Speaker and Senator of Porto Rico, and Senora de Ruiz, has arrived in Washington to visit the latter's daughter, Mrs. W. C. Floeckher, at her home on Allison street.

Miss Wren, Bride-Elect, Is Much Entertained.

Miss Mary Martha Wren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark Wren, whose marriage to Mr. Barclay Jermain Townsend will take place on Saturday, was the guest in whose honor Maj. and Mrs. Alfred W. Bloor entertained at dinner last evening at the Army and Navy Country Club.

Miss Wren was the guest of honor yesterday at the luncheon given by Mrs. Conely, wife of Maj. Edgar T. Conely, U. S. A., at her country home in Fairland, Md. The other guests were Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, Mrs. Oliver Walker, Miss Virginia Yellott, Miss Mary Henry, Miss Laila Lynn, Miss Frances Hill, Miss Janet Murray, Miss Sarah Shallenberger and Miss Ruth Bryan.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Phillips entertained at a small tea for Miss Wren and her fiance.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Price have gone to Cape May, N. J., to spend the remainder of the summer.

Capt. and Mrs. Hugh Wilkin, of London, are spending today and tomorrow at the Mayflower, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Crittender, of Bradford, Pa., at whose home they have been guests. Mrs. Wilkin, who was the former Miss Elizabeth Crawford, of Pittsburgh, attended National Park Seminary in Forest Glen.

Capt. Wilkin is in the British army, a member of the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regiment. He is on eight months leave of absence from Bangalore, India, and has been in this country for the past four months. They are sailing next week for London.

Depart for Vacation Stay in Connecticut.

Capt. and Mrs. Wilbur Melville, who came to Washington from Los Angeles in the spring, left last evening for a two months' visit at Stamford, Conn., where they will be at the Stamford Yacht Club. They will return to this city about the middle of September and will be at Wardman throughout the winter season.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. J. Duncan Elliott, who landed last week in New York after four years in Istanbul, Turkey, left Saturday, accompanied by their son, Duncan Elliott, jr., for a visit in San Diego, Calif., with Col. Elliott's mother, Mrs. E. N. Jones, wife of Col. Jones, retired, and other relatives. They will return by way of Minneapolis, where they will spend a brief time with Mrs. Elliott's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Lincoln, and other members of her family.

Mrs. Maurice Selinger, who has been the guest of Mrs. Peter Paul Miller, in Schenectady, N. Y., was entertained at a bridge party and tea Saturday afternoon by her hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ridgway Longcope, of Toledo and Boston, and their two sons, Park and Kern, have come to Washington to make their home for the summer and the coming season. They are established at the Shoreham.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Margaret Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams, of Mount Rainier, Md., to Mr. Arley La Mar Keith, of Ennis, Tex., took place Sunday, July 24, at 5 p. m., at Twelvetrees, the Williams' summer home at Selby-on-the-Bay, Md., the Rev. J. Thobum Bard officiating.

Mr. Howard Fletcher, jr., who arrived here early this week from his home in Warrenton, Va., has been joined by Mr. Travis I. Fletcher, of New York City. They have taken an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Nolte Married To William H. Ray.

The wedding of Miss Cecilia Eleanor Nolte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Nolte, and Mr. William Henry Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ray, of Rockville, Md., took place yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents on Quincy place, at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Andrew DeMuth officiating in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Anton Nolte, and wore a gown of ivory satin with a cape falling over the shoulders. She wore a large white hat and carried white roses.

Miss Agnes Cecilia Menke was maid of honor, and wore a frock of light beige lace fashioned with a short jacket of the same material. Her hat was of green tulle and she carried cream-colored roses. Little Margaret Gaghan was flower girl and wore a frock of white organdie and carried pink roses.

Mr. George Anton Nolte, brother of the bride, was best man.

An informal breakfast followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ray left for Miami, Fla., the bride wearing an ensemble of shell pink crepe and a hat to match. They will be at home on their return at 57 Quincy place northeast.

A new portrait of George Washington, by Charles Willson Peale, has been added to the Bicentennial historical Loan Exhibition in the Corcoran Gallery of Art. It was loaned by Col. and Mrs. Godwin Ordway and has been in their family since Revolutionary days.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

BROADCASTERS will have to guard themselves against the utterances of political candidates in the forthcoming rip-roaring presidential campaign.

Until the present moment the radio companies have relied on a provision in the Federal radio act that they "shall have no power of censorship over the material broadcast," the provision obliging them to give equal opportunities for broadcasting to rival candidates for a given office. It has, accordingly, been customary for announcers to preface political talks with the explanation that the station assumes no responsibility for utterances made by the speaker being introduced. The fat went into the fire when Chief Justice Charles A. Goss handed down a decision in the Nebraska Supreme Court to the effect that radio stations are subject to the same laws against the utterance of libel to which newspapers are subject.

"This decision started something almost immediately in Minnesota, where a hot campaign was raging over the Republican nomination for governor," Marlen E. Pew, of the Editor & Publisher, commented. "The radio was being used freely for the promulgation of patently libelous statements against not only a candidate named Earle Brown, but the Minneapolis Journal, one of his supporters, as well as Carl W. Jones, its publisher. The listening citizens were told by radio that these men were 'tax-dodgers,' though the proof offered was declared by the Minneapolis Journal to be false and misleading figures garbled from public records.

"PROMPTLY on hearing of the decision of Judge Goss, Jones consulted his attorney, and on the latter's advice sent to each of the radio stations a warning letter."

The letter revealed the fact that the Minneapolis Journal's taxes were paid by the Journal Printing Co., a separate corporation and the stations were warned that they would be held responsible for any further defamatory broadcasts.

"This bluff-calling epistle was sent out in the last week of the campaign," Mr. Pew continued. "The effect was magical. Some of the station managers replied to the effect that while they had no power of censorship, they would endeavor to prevent further publication of the libels complained of. And they did, by insisting that all manuscripts intended for broadcast be submitted in advance for review.

"Some ugly stuff has been 'pulled' in paid radio political campaigns in this country in recent years, the tactics of 'Kingfish' Huey Long, in Louisiana, being best remembered, and the evil has seemed to be beyond reach. With the Nebraska decision in hand I see no reason why this particular horned devil should not now be cornered and nailed to the barndoor. Chief Justice Goss' clear and sensible definition ought to be a safe passport to the United States Supreme Court if any broadcaster is disposed to stand on the radio act as justifying libel at regular advertising rates."

The "Embassy Beat" will be discussed by Carroll Kenworthy, Washington correspondent for U. P., in Bill Schudt's "Going to Press" at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon over WMAL. Kenworthy will describe the difficulties an American reporter encounters in dealing with foreign news sources.

THE script reading committee at N. B. C. reports an increase of approximately 50 per cent in scripts submitted by the general public within the last month. They explain that the thousands of persons who formerly tried to write short stories and movie scenarios are now trying to create radio drama. The theory is that these persons nurse ideas all winter and then put them into writing during those two weeks of vacation.

Howard Barlow has selected the following numbers for his half-hour symphony concert (WMAL, 10:30 o'clock) tonight:

Overture, "Don Juan" (Mozart); "Kamarinskaya" (Glinka); "Zambra Granadina" (Albeniz); "Spinning Song" (Mendelssohn), and the Scherzo and Allegro molto movements from Beethoven's Second Symphony.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE home-run crown that has rested so becomingly on the pate of Babe Ruth for more than a dozen years has been knocked slightly askew by the antics of young Jimmy Foxx, and is now perched precariously over the ear of the Bambino, who since 1919 has been the Royal Nonesuch among the authors of the circuit clout.

Foxx has compiled 40 home runs to date and has been knocking the balls out of the lot at a rate that threatens to wipe out Ruth's record of 60 established in 1927. Ruth in his record year slammed his fortieth homer on August 22, which reveals that Foxx is 26 days ahead of the Babe's record pace.

At the comparative rate of Ruth in 1927 and Foxx in 1932, the Athletics' young slugger seems destined to usurp the throne that has been Ruth's for more than a decade, but the coronation is not yet sealed and a closer study of the Babe's work in 1927 reveals that there is a better than fair chance that Foxx will not better the mark of 1927.

A glance at the records shows that Ruth in 1927 struck his best stride in September, when he slammed out the imposing total of 17 homers in that month, better than one to every two games and Foxx doubtless will need every bit of his lead at this writing to help him match the pace that Ruth carried into the last two months of 1927.

To date, Foxx has hit 40 home runs in 98 games, or approximately one home run to every two and one-half games. It is a pace better than Ruth ever attained at the same stage of the season, but as a result of Ruth's eight homers in August, 1927, and his seventeen in September, Foxx still faces a tremendous task if he is to dethrone the Bambino.

With 56 games left to play, Foxx must average one home run to every 2 4-5 games to tie Ruth's record of 60. Despite the fact that he has bettered this average in the first half of the season, he can afford to suffer no letdown.

Even should Foxx exceed Ruth's record of 60 homers, it would be a difficult matter to class Foxx above the Bambino as the greatest slugger of all time. Ruth's record virtually voids any attempt to oust him for that honor in favor of Foxx.

Ever since he resigned from pitching in 1919 to take up homer hammering in a serious way, Ruth has been in a class by himself as the King of Clout. Foxx, although always noted as a slugger, never was able to hit more than 30 homers in a single season before last year, while Ruth twice has hit more than 50, once reached the 60 mark and four times pounded out 40 homers in a single season.

Foxx may better Ruth's record for homers in a single season, but it would not be lese majesty to withhold from him honors as the greatest slugger of all time even should he exceed the Bambino's mark.

Revenge Aim Of Schwartz Tonight

Punch Versus Skill; Billy Strickler to Meet Rex King.

By JACK ESPEY.

BENNY SCHWARTZ, veteran Baltimore bantamweight, will try tonight for the third time in ten weeks to prove before a Capital audience that he is master of Billy Landers, blond Norfolk stanzaman the bout featuring Twin City Club's weekly offering of 32 rounds at the Laurel arena.

As the bout is listed for ten rounds, it should determine definitely whether the 28-year-old Monumental City gladiator really can outstep the determined youngster from Virginia, who received the decision in both previous bouts, but failed to convince the populace that he was superior.

Each of the earlier clashes consisted of eight rounds, a distance more suited to Schwartz's physical condition than the ten-round distance. But since receiving the second setback on July 11, Schwartz has been working overtime in the gym in the hope that he will have to concede Landers nothing in the way of stamina.

Boxer vs. Slugger, Is Prospect.

As usual, where these two are concerned, it will be a fight of boxer versus slugger. Schwartz has forgotten more about boxing than Landers knows at present. But what the former sailor lacks in scientific fighting he more than makes up in plain, unadulterated strength and the will to win. Landers' only plan of attack is to keep forcing the milling until he gets an opening for his lethal right hand.

Promoter Charley Cornell last night stated he didn't know the identity of the referee and that the judges had not been selected. Much criticism fell upon the officials of the second Schwartz-Landers bout, and, as a result the Maryland Athletic Comission may name a new set of officials for tonight.

Rex King to Test Billy Strickler.

Billy Strickler, rugged local southpaw light heavyweight, returns to the wars in the semifinal of eight rounds in which he will meet Rex King, a Pacific Coast product, who recently invaded the East claiming to have met such stars as King Levinsky and Lee Ramage. If King has been campaigning in such company, he should force Strickler to hustle all the way. The local battler, however, is prepared to encounter any sort of opposition.

Bus transportation on a five-minute schedule will be operated from the Annapolis Hotel, beginning at 7 o'clock.

BOXING BITS' SELECTIONS—Schwartz to beat Landers, Strickler to beat King, Antonelli to beat Romano, Mays to beat Manley, and Clark to beat Esrick. (Batting .709.)

Pilots Beat Pitt Nine; To Play Here Tonight

"Satchel" Page, speed-ball right hander of the Pittsburgh Crawfords, will go to the firing line tonight when Washington's Pilots are engaged in an East West League baseball game at Griffith Stadium. Hostilities will be launched at 8:30.

The Pilots scored six runs in the seventh at Richmond yesterday to down the Crawfords, 10 to 4.

ALONSO WINS SEABRIGHT FEATURE

Beats Williams in 3-Set Match; Other Choices Win.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26 (U.P.).—Two former international stars claimed the spotlight in today's second session of the annual Seabright Club's invitation tennis tournament as players moved into the quarter-final rounds of the men's and women's singles.

In the feature match of the day Manuel Alonso, of New York, former United States No. 2 ranking player, defeated R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, who held the American title 18 years ago, 4—6, 6—4, 6—4.

Doeg and Mangin Score.

Favorites came through. John H. Doeg, of Newark, N. J., a former national champion, defeated Robert Brian, Chattanooga, Tenn., 6—3, 6—4. Gregory S. Mangin, Newark, N. J., indoor singles champion, downed Dr. Carl Fischer, Woodbury, N. J., 9—7, 6—3.

Samuel Gilpin, of Philadelphia, turned back Carlos Aranha, of Brazil, 6—0, 6—2. Sidney B. Wood, jr., New York, vanquished Joseph Case, Philadelphia, 3—6, 6—1, 6—1. E. W. Feibleman, New York, defeated Lieut. R. M. Watt, New York, 6—3, 9—7. Lester R. Stoeffen, Los Angeles, beat John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., 6—3, 6—4, and Jack Didball, Hollywood, Calif., downed George H. Miles, jr., Rumson, N. J., 6—3, 6—3.

The line-up in the men's singles tomorrow includes several interesting matches: Doeg vs. Alonso, Mangin vs. Gilpin, Wood vs. Feibleman and Stoffen vs. Tidball.

Nats Lose 3-2 Duel With Browns

Manush's Four Hits Unsupported by Rest of Cast.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—George Blaeholder pitched his best game in many weeks here this afternoon and the Browns shaded Lloyd Brown and the Nats, 3 to 2, thereby reducing Washington's fourth-place lead over Detroit to one game.

Seeking his fourteenth victory of the season and suffering instead his sixth defeat, the Washington left-hander granted eight hits to his nine Blaeholder allowed, but Brown permitted the St. Louisians to group four hits in the second inning for their three runs and the victory.

Thereafter, the Browns made but four hits and reached second base only twice, but the Nats were even more impotent in their last six frames. They started off as if intent on damaging Blaeholder as most of the other teams have been doing for weeks. Six hits and two runs the Nats had in the first three frames.

Blaeholder Strikes Best Stride.

Then suddenly Blaeholder struck the pitching stride which made him a leading hurler earlier in the season. His right-hand delivery was so baffling after the third round that Washington hit safely only three times and located second base just once.

Half of Washington's hitting was accomplished by Heinie Manush. The big left-hand batter had a perfect afternoon. He singled on his first three times up, then closed his day's work with a double. His first two hits drove in his team's only runs, but when he led off the sixth with a single and then doubled in the eighth, his mates were unable to support him.

Hanging up his tenth victory of the campaign as against eight defeats, Blaeholder, besides pitching his first complete game in a long time, pounded across the winning run with a single in the second inning. Another prominent punch in that chapter was Jim Levey's double, which was the Browns' lone extra base hit of the matinee.

Manush Drives in First Run.

Prior to that inning Washington already had a one-run lead. Sam Rice introduced the first inning with a single. He advanced on Myer's infield out and cashed in when Manush singled. Cronin then had lady luck against him. His liner sailed straight to Melillo, whose throw to Burns doubled Manush off first base.

The Nats were unable to develop Kuhel's single with none out in the second, and the Browns put on their one brief, but decisive attack. Goslin opened the second with a single. He was forced by Schulte. Melillo grounded out and it seemed as if Brown was out of trouble, but Ferrell singled to score Schulte. Levey followed with a double to left center, Ferrell riding home. Then Blaeholder's single brought in Levey.

Rice Doubles And Scores.

That closed the Brownies' scoring. The Nats counted their final marker in the third. Brown fanned and Rice doub'ed. Myer flied out. Up stepped Manush with another single, Rice stepping home. Cronin also singled, Manush stopping at second. Melillo booted Kuhel's grounder, then threw a little wide off first base. Manush tried to score, but Burns, recovering quickly, rifled accurately to Ferrell, and Manush was nailed as he slid in.

In tomorrow's game "Prof." Monte Weaver and Irving Hadley likely will do the pitching. Weaver will be seeking his sixteenth victory of the season. It will be Hadley's first start against his former mates.

Rough Mat Bout Likely Tomorrow

Although the Fred Grobmeier-Jim McMillan match is the listed feature of Joe Turner's grapple card at Griffith Stadium tomorrow night, all indications point to the scramble between Rudy Dusek and Chief White Feather "stealing the show."

The cash customers, including the gentler sex, seem to like their rassling rough, and in Dusek and White Feather they will see a pair of performers who can not work any other way. When these two clashed in the Auditorium some time ago, they established some kind of a record for legalized mayhem, and another free-for-all is promised tomorrow.

Nurmi Status In Olympic Spotlight

Finns May Engineer Reinstatement, Is Current Rumor.

40 Nations Will Vote; Eastman, on Scene, Takes Workout.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (A.P.).—Developments along the beflagged Olympic fronts today, with the opening of the big games only four days off, ranged from the caucus rooms, where delegates argued over the Nurmi situation, to the athletic fields, where intensive training prevailed.

Directors of the tenth Olympics issued estimates that 325,000 visitors would be on hand by next week, when the featured track and field program is in full swing, and that $37,000,000 will be spent by Olympic customers during a period of nearly three weeks of activity, before and during the games. More than 100,000 visiting motor cars already have "checked in," they said.

Executive Council Against Finns.

The first question popped by most visitors is: "Will Nurmi run"

Although the tip has now gone around that Finland will be able to swing enough votes in the I. A. A. F. by the end of the week to assure Paavo's presence in the competition, several barriers remained to be hurdled. Chief among them is the fact that the executive council of the I. A. A. F. now stands 5 to 2 against reinstating Nurmi, with Finland supported so far only by the United States in opposition to Sweden, Germany, France, England and Austria on the subject of altering the federation's rules.

This line-up was revealed today for the first time, but it is in the full congress of the I. A. A. F., with over 40 nations represented, that the Finns expect to muster majority support.

Ruggirello Suspended; Purses Ordered Paid

Trenton, N. J., July 26 (A.P.).—The purses of Mickey Walker and Salvatore Ruggirello, which were ordered held up last night following Walker's first-round knockout, were ordered paid the two boxers today by the New Jersey State Athletic Commission. Ruggirello, however, was suspended for 30 days for "unsatisfactory performance."

Welch, New Red Sox Hurler, Beats Chicago

Chicago July 26 (A.P.).—Johnny Welch, once the property of the Chicago Cubs, popped up with the Boston Red Sox today and gave the Chicago White Sox a 6 to 1 beating in the series opener.

It was Welch's first start for the Red Sox, and he held Chicago to nine widely separated hits. He also joined in the attack with a double and three singles. Boston made 14 hits off Vic Frasier, Paul Gregory and Archie Wise.

NAVY NETMEN WIN.

Navy, Departmental Tennis League leaders, yesterday added to their margin by ringing up a 3-to-2 decision over War on the Monument courts.

The feature match of the meeting was that in which Thomas and Lowe, of War, outlasted Lewis and Bates. Thirty-eight games were needed before a decision count be reached, the winners finally gaining it in the third set after eighteen hectic games.

Summaries:

Dorst-Thatcher (W.) defeated McVey-Graham, 6—4, 6—3; Serat-Wilson (N.) defeated Newsarden-Groves, 6—4, 6—2; Wilkinson-Worthington (N.) defeated Crane-Martin, 5—6, 6—3; Thomas-Lowe (W.) defeated Lewis-Bates, 6—4, 4—6, 10—8; McClung-Beatty (N.) defeated Hobbs-Lystad, 6—2, 3—6, 6—2.

National League Umpires Urge Catchers' Padding Be Reduced

NEW YORK, July 26 (A.P.).—Some of the results of a conclave of National League umpires and President Heydler, during which knotty problems were discussed and rules intrepreted, were made known today in a league communique.

The umpires expressed the general opinion that there had been few instances so far this season of pitchers deliberately throwing at batters' heads, and that a warning was sufficient each time to stop any leaning toward the "bean" ball. They decided, too, that pitching in the league this season bettered anything they had seen in the past dozen years.

The officials suggested that the massive shinguards of catchers be greatly reduced in size to discourage blocking off the plate, pointing out that foul tips rarely strike a catcher's legs and that the heavy armor now worn has been developed chiefly for the illegal purpose of defending the plate against a runner.

A general interrogation of one phase of the rule allowing a runner to advance two bases on an overthrow into a stand or dugout was agreed upon. The rule says that in the case of an outfielder throwing widely the award of two bases shall be governed by the position of the runners at the time of the throw. It was decided to include in this classification a relayed throw from the outfield that is tossed wildly by an infielder.

Another interpretation decided that the ball is still in play when a missed third strike passes the catcher and hits the umpire. If the ball lodges in the umpire's mask or protector the batsman is awarded first base, and all base runners advance one base.

Mower, McPhail Are Golf Winners

Have Gross 81 in Scotch Foursome Staged by Maryland Golf Body.

Mrs. E. B. Mower and Donald McPhail, both of Baltimore Country Club, won the mixed Scotch foursome tournament held under auspices of the Maryland State Golf Association yesterday at Congressional Country Club with a low gross score of 81. Mrs. T. E. Schluderberg, Rolling Road, and W. T. Davis, Maryland Country Club, took low net honors with a score of 93—25—68.

Tied for second low gross with scores of 86 were: Virginia Williams, Congressional, and A. S. Gardiner, jr., Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Richardson, Congressional, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harvey, Indian Spring.

Second low net was deadlocked by two teams—Mrs. J. O. Rhyne and J. F. Dowbell, Congressional, 92—20—72, and Mrs. H. L. Jones and W. J. English, jr., Maryland Country Club, 91—19—72.

Najuch in Pro Upset As Richards Is Beaten

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Roman Najuch, one of the two German stars in the tournament, today accounted for the first big upset by defeating Vincent Richards, former titleholder, in the quarter-final round of the United States professional tennis championships at the South Shore Country Club.

The German drove Richards into back court and blasted out a 7—5, 6—1, 2—6, 6—3 victory. Najuch will meet the winner of the Bruce Barnes-Hans Nusslein match in the semi-finals Saturday. Barnes today swept to an easy 6—1, 6—3, 6—1 victory over Paul Heston, Washington, D. C., in the other quarter-finals match today.

Emmet Pare, of Chicago, defeated Arthur Rudolph, of Hartford, Conn., 6—2, 6—2, 6—1, in a second-rounder.

Bolling Schedules Sonnenberg Bout

One of the most ambitious "rassling" cards ever scheduled for the District of Columbia will be offered in the open air arena at Bolling Field Tuesday night.

Installing a brand-new outdoor lighting system that will compare with the best, the Bolling Field Athletic Association features a finish go involving "Dynamite Gus" Sonnenberg, former heavyweight champion of the world, and Billy Bartush, exceptionally popular and formidable local idol.

Recently a sensational upset victor over Dick Shikat, in Philadelphia, Sonnenberg encounters big league opposition in Bartush. In Montreal last winter, Billy gained a fall over the "flying tackle" specialist.

Miss Van Landingham Is Asheville Medalist

Asheville, N. C., July 26 (A.P.).—Miss Dean Van Landingham, of Charlotte, today captured the qualifying honors of the annual Biltmore Forest Country Club women's invitation golf tourney with a card of 84.

An exceptionally small field, numbering but 22, entered for play and the Charlotte star had little trouble winning the medal. Her closest competitor was Miss Katherine Hemphill, of Columbia, S. C., who tallied a 92.

Running third was Miss Betty Wolvein, of St. Petersburg, Fla., with a 93. Mrs. W. H. Willard, of Charlotte, another veteran tournament player, had a 96. Grouped with Mrs. Willard were Miss Mary Rogers, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Lois Quatelbaum, of Columbia, S. C.

Three Knockouts Result in Interesting Program.

Walker and Berg Fail to Appear; Record Crowd on Hand.

WHILE nearly 40 athletes toiled without compensation whatsoever, a record crowd of 22,000 persons looked on enthusiastically, but contributed less than $1,600 at the mammoth boxing and wrestling carnival staged last night under the arc lights in Griffith Stadium for the benefit of the Volunteers of America Children's Farm.

The collection in this free show was deemed a poor commentary on the generosity of the Washington public. It was hardly more than one half the amount contributed by 15,000 persons at the bonus benefit bouts early in June. Last night's crowd was the largest that ever attended a night sporting event in Washington.

While neither Mickey Walker nor Jack ("Kid") Berg, nationally known fistic figures, appeared as previously advertised, the program of seventeen bouts held the interest of the huge gathering until the finale at midnight. Master of Ceremonies Jimmy Lake and his assistants, headed by Samuel Frichter and Lou Lehrfeld, conducted the card flawlessly, keeping a stream of fighters and wrestlers moving in and out of the ring with clocklike precision. No explanation was offered for the failure of Walker and Berg to appear.

MITCHELL AND BUCHANAN SCORE IN D. C. MUNY TENNIS UPSET

No. 1 Doubles Team Is Beaten

Saubley - Sendel Defeated for First Time This Year.

Hunt and Mason Easy Winners; Good Card Today.

SOMEWHAT of an upset was recorded on the Sixteenth Street Reservoir courts yesterday when Staubley and Sendel, seeded No. 1, were eliminated from further competition in the District Public Parks title tourney by Mitchell and Buchanan. In being the first Washington pair to beat Staubley and Sendel this season, the Mitchell-Buchanan duo uncorked some brilliant tennis. After winning the first set, it dropped the second at 6—8, but came back with some sensational play by both to easily win the third and deciding contest.

In the only other men's doubles match on the card, Hunt and Mason ran away from Deck and Herman. The first-named pair figured to gain the verdict, but not in the one-sided manner in which it did. Hunt and Mason won the first eight games and simply coasted home.

Johnson and Morris Extended.

Two matches were played by women's doubles team, with Johnson and Morris and Martinez and Walker turning in victories. The latter had little trouble in disposing of Dickinson and Kronman in straight sets, but 36 games were needed before Colladay and Totten succumbed to the Johnson-Morris pair, the first set calling for 20 of these.

Several good matches are on this afternoon's card, which will be featured by the men's quarter-finals in both singles and doubles.

Yesterday's results, and today's card:

Men's doubles, quarter-final round—Mitchell and Buchanan defeated Staubly and Sendel, 6—3, 6—8, 6—3; Hunt and Mason defeated Deck and Herman, 6—0, 8—3.

Women's doubles, first round—Johnson and Morris defeated Colladay and Totten, 11—9, 8—11, 20—18; Martinez and Walker defeated Dickinson and Kronman, 6—1, 6—2.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

Men's single, quarter-final round—2:30, Mason vs. Welsh; 4:00, Mitchell vs. O'Neill; 5:00, Markey vs. Hunt.

Men's doubles, quarter-final round—3:00, Shore-Latona vs. Hanes-Tring.

Stocks Again Yield Ground To Steady Realizing Drive

Five Consecutive Advances Reveal Strength Despite Final Losses.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Profit-taking stepped in to check stock market advances today and averages closed lower after five consecutive advances.

At intervals during the day shares overcame realizing sales and worked slightly higher, but rallying tendencies were considerably less robust than yesterday.

Losses were largely of fractional proportions, amounting to around half a point in American Can, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Woolworth, American Tobacco "B" and National Biscuit. Steel common was down a point and the preferred, up a point at the best, was off 2 net. General Electric and Westinghouse showed some firmness, and there were again encouraging advances by numerous preferred equities. Oils provided the chief vehicle for speculative ventures on the upside, although they, too, closed mostly lower. Transactions totaled 1,498,515 shares.

The U. S. Steel Corporation is paying another preferred dividend, but served notice that its maintenance would have to depend on business. A similar warning was given six months ago and the common dividend was passed three months later.

Banks are still reducing credit. The weekly condition statement of reserve members of 101 cities showed a drop of $145,000,000 in earnings assets, much of which occurred in the New York district. Commercial borrowings suffered the heaviest reduction, $113,000,000, while security loans underwent only a moderate contraction. Sales of United States Government securities undoubtedly was in anticipation of the new offering.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

	Tues.	Mon.
Number of advances	298	458
Number of declines	216	66
Stocks unchanged	138	97
Total issues traded	652	621

Stocks.

Bonds.

Curb.

Wheat.

Reports of heavy deterioration of the Canadian crop sent prices climbing. There were also favorable market news to support movement. Other gains failed to follow, corn and oats closing at lower levels.

Cotton.

CAR LOADINGS SEEN LOSING INDEX VALUE

Changes in Transport Make It More Difficult to Gauge Shipping.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Freight car loadings have in the past been considered an excellent barometer of business conditions in general and freight movement in particular, but conditions have changed in recent years and reports of loadings no longer serve to reveal the total movement of goods in this country, according to Standard Statistics Co., of New York.

This company believes that current car loadings reports, although decidedly unfavorable in so far as the railroads are concerned, present a too pessimistic and probably inaccurate picture of general business conditions. Motor truck competition is believed to be not the most significant factor, and yet highway diversion is widely heralded as the reason for major losses in rail traffic.

The company's review states that total car loadings for 1932 are estimated at 29,000,000. Including highways, pipe lines and waterways and taking into consideration the displacement of coal by high-tension power lines, the total of actual freight movement by all transportation agencies of this country for 1932 in terms of railroad carloads would be 42,211,000.

The Pacific National Fire Insurance Co., Transamerica subsidiary, has acquired the entire business, other than automobile, of the Associated Fire & Marine Insurance Co., it has been announced by the Associated American Distributors, Inc., authorized distributors of Transamerica stock. The transaction represents an $803,438 increase in business for Pacific National.

Certificates of deposit for F. & W. Grand Properties debenture 6s of 1948 have been admitted to unlisted trading privileges on the New York Curb Exchange, it was announced yesterday.

Grain Group Plans to Sell 8,250,000 Pounds of Coffee

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—The Grain Stabilization Corporation of the Federal Farm Board announced today it was opening negotiations for sale of 8,250,000 pounds of the coffee obtained from trades of wheat in South America.

Bids on the first consignment of coffee for sale will be opened September 1, the corporation announced, and all coffee dealers were invited to submit bids.

A sales plan, including cash deposit by bidders of $1 for each 132-pound bag of coffee, was announced by the corporation.

BOND RISE PERSISTS AFTER PROFIT SALES

Rails Give Best Account in Session; Oils Record Largest Gains.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—The bond market hesitated for a time today, under a barrage of profit taking, but resumed its steady forward jog when offerings, at minor recessions, dwindled to a minimum.

The railroads, as a whole, provided the best performance of the day, although oil specials showed the greatest individual gains. The industrials and utilities generally followed a narrow range and modest advances outnumbered declines.

Trading gained in volume near the close of the day's proceedings and total sales of $11,824,000, par value, was only slightly under that of yesterday. The average for 60 selected securities gained four-tenths of a point.

Outside of the maintenance of better sentiment for most classes of senior obligations, there was little trade or industrial news that had any bearing on the list. German bonds again advanced following the lifting of martial law in Berlin and Brandenburg.

CURB RALLY NIPPED BY LATE REALIZING

Preferred Shares Advance Buoyantly; Gains and Losses Mixed.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—A broadening demand for stocks carried prices higher in early dealings on the curb, although a wave of profit-taking appeared in the final hour, erasing many gains and in some cases causing net losses.

Sales totaled 150,000 shares.

Preferred stocks moved forward buoyantly. Gains of 2 to more than 6 points were made and held by the senior shares of Alabama Power, Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share, Empire Gas, Metropolitan Edison and National Power & Light.

Utility common stocks were steady to firm, although Electric Bond & Share turned reactionary, losing ⅛ point. Its closing price was 7⅝. American Light & Traction, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Penn Water and United Light & Power A were up from fractions to as much as 2½ points.

The higher priced industrial stocks were up sharply, and held their gains fairly well. Advances of 4 points were made by Great Atlantic & Pacific and Singer Manufacturing.

WHEAT PRICE HIGHER ON CANADIAN REPORT

Dominion's Crop Menace Spurs Strong Trend; Other Grains Lose.

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Reports of serious deterioration of Canada's wheat crop throughout 10,000,000 acres, 40 per cent of Canadian wheat territory, led to sharply higher prices today.

Some forecasts placed 1932 Canadian wheat production as low as 400,000,000 bushels, whereas recent trade figures have ruggested 450,000,000. Advices from the American Northwest also told of spring wheat reverses because of premature ripening.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's top, 1¾ to 2⅛ cents above yesterday's finish; corn at ¼ to ½ decline; oats unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Decided broadening of export business, together with enlarged speculative demand, helped put backbone into the wheat market. Purchases for overseas were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, and were asserted to include some United States wheat.

Season's First Cotton' Swells Roosevelt Fund

Atlanta, July 26 (A.P.).—The first bale of 1932 cotton auctioned in Atlanta has been donated to the presidential campaign fund of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt by L. W. Robert, Atlanta sportsman, who purchased it for 14½ cents per pound.

The bale weighed 370 pounds and brought $43.65.

COTTON PRICES GAIN IN STEADIER MARKET

Octobers Advance to 5.77 as June Consumption Falls Below Last Year.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Aside from an early decline of 2 to 4 points in response to disappointing Liverpool cables, cotton prices were on the upgrade during today's session.

The October position sold down to 5.68 early, but rallied to 5.79, closing at 5.77, an advance of 6 points, while the general market closed steady at 5 to 6 points higher.

The opening was steady at 1 to 4 points decline on the foreign advices, and some selling which seemed to have originated in the South, but throughout the day offers proved limited and an improved trade demand was interpreted to indicate a more optimistic view of trade conditions in general. The so-called cooperative brokers sold October during the day but not aggressively.

The New York Cotton Exchange service estimated the world's consumption of American cotton during June at 99,000 bales, compared with its revised figure of 1,021,000 in May, and 947,000 in June last season. This brought the total for eleven months to about 11,457,000 bales, against 10,169,000 in the same period last year. A private crop report made the condition of the crop as of July 23, 58.2 per cent of normal and an indicated yield of 12,374,000 bales.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Gilt-edged securities continued most popular on the stock exchange and advanced on good buying. Transatlantic issues followed on sympathy with Wall street. German bonds, oil shares and industrials were firmer and others quiet. The market closed steady.

Paris—Favorable Wall street reports contributed toward firm prices on the bourse. Some French rentes improved while others eased. Coal, metal and chemical issues regained their strength and international shares improved. The closing was steady.

U.S. STEEL WILL PAY PREFERRED DIVIDEND

Regular Quarterly Amount of $1.75 Is Maintained, Despite Losses.

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—The iron will of the late J. P. Morgan that no holder of the preferred shares of the United States Steel Corporation should ever miss a dividend, was heeded by a later generation of directors of that hugh corporation today, despite the widest incursion into red ink in its history.

In the face of a deficit of $20,452,173, after all charges, for the three-month period ended June 30, the regular quarterly payment of $1.75 per share of preferred stock, aggregating $6,304,919 was ordered, making a total deduction from surplus for the period of $26,757,092.

But the directors issued a warning that in view of the huge draft upon surplus during the unprofitable operations of the past several months, "it is apparent that improvement in the business and earnings must in the future determine dividend action on the preferred stock."

Fishburne Not to Seek Seat Vacated by Tucker

Charlottesville, Va., July 26 (A.P.).—Representative John W. Fishburne (Democrat), of the present Seventh Virginia District, today reiterated a statement made last spring that he would not be a candidate for the new Seventh District this fall.

This statement was occasioned by talk of Mr. Fishburne's seeking the place vacated by the death Saturday of Representative Henry St. George Tucker, of the Tenth District, who was unopposed as nominee for the new district embracing the old Seventh and Tenth Districts.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

SHERIFF JAMES ANTHONY, who is the oldest active sheriff in Rhode Island, and probably in the United States, was appointed to office after he was 50 years old. He held office under sixteen governors and in 41 years has been off duty less than two weeks. He is now 92 years old, the oldest resident of Middletown, R. I.

Carrying with it mud and debris from the land where it broke off in the ocean, a black and white iceberg was sighted by the "Discovery" expedition in antarctic waters. The huge block of ice, scientists say, turned on its side in the water, exposing the black half that was probably the lower part of the berg when it was set adrift.

For every marriage Judge W. H. Knight, justice of the peace in Piggott, Ark., has performed, he has heard one lawsuit. In nine years on the bench he has officiated at 2,001 marriages and has heard exactly the same number of litigations, his records recently disclosed.

Although the area north of the arctic circle and that south of the antarctic circle appear on the globe as almost exact counterparts, there is a vast difference in their true natures. More than 1,000,000 people live north of the arctic circle; none makes his home south of the antarctic.

LEGION CONVENTION OPENS WITH PARADE

Gen. Hines and National Chaplain Speak at Fourteenth Reunion Here.

The fourteenth annual convention of the District department of the American Legion opened last night at Stuart Junior High School, Fifth and E streets northeast, after an impressive parade through Northeast Washington witnessed by thousands.

Sponsored jointly by the legion and the Northeast Business Men's Association, the parade was pronounced a great success. Numerous musical organizations, including drum corps from the various legion posts and civilian bands, provided swinging airs for the marchers.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Administration, and the Rev. H. A. Darche, national chaplain of the American Legion, made the principal addresses before the conclave, which will continue through tomorrow night.

Gen. Hines said that this year will be the real test of the American Legion. "Certain interests are working against the best interests of the Nation," he said, "and they do not represent what the American Legion stands for."

Concerted Action Urged.

"The American Legion," said Gen. Hines, "is fully capable of leading Americans. It must be alert and follow the right leaders."

Latest figures at American Legion national headquarters show an enrollment of more than 900,000 members, said Father Darche.

Department Commander Fred G. Fraser presided and introduced notables among veteran organizations here. Among those who made short talks were Mrs. Joseph Mims, head of the American Legion Auxiliary; J. O'Connor Roberts, assistant to Gen. Hines; Joseph Bailey, of the Northeast Business Men's Association; Edward H. Young, of the Central Business Men's Association, and officials of other veterans' organizations here.

General legion business and nomination of a slate of officers for the coming year will be the agenda for tonight. Election of officers and their installation will take place tomorrow night.

Gas Company Band First.

The band of the Washington Gas Light Co. was awarded the first prize for the best civilian band in the parade; the Holy Comforter Boys' Band was given second prize, the Elks' Boys' Band third prize and the National Training School for Boys Band, honorable mention.

The best float in the procession was adjudged the Vanity Fair Beauty Parlor's entrant; second prize went to the Florestella Beauty Parlor, and honorable mention to the People's Flower Store.

The drill team of Job's Daughters was given the prize for the marching unit making the best appearance. Victory Post, American Legion, was awarded first prize for the best drum corps, and Costello Post second prize.

Judges of the competition were Lieut. Richard Mansfield, of the Metropolitan Police; Maj. Gen. Amos L. Fries, retired, and E. E. Shipley. The prizes were awarded under the auspices of the Northeast Business Men's Association and the American Legion.

Prize-Winning Posts.

Silver cups to twelve prize-winning posts were awarded by Maj. Paul J. McGahan, chairman of the committee on trophies and awards.

One of the trophies offered by Past Department Commander Wood was won by Tank Corps Post and the other by Jane A. Delano Post. Delano Post also won the Eight and Forty trophy offered by Mrs. Dorothy B. Harper and one of the trophies offered by Past Department Commander Julius I. Peyser. The other Peyser trophy was won by Tank Corp Post.

The trophy offered by Past National Commander Edward E. Spafford was won by the Sergeant Jasper Post, which was also the winner of the trophy offered by Maj. McGahan. Second Division Post was the winner of one of the trophies offered by the Quentin Roosevelt Post and the other Roosevelt trophy was won by James Reese Europe Post.

The trophy to the post with the largest membership was won by Vincent B. Costello Post. The winner of the Watson B. Miller trophy for unselfish service to the American Legion was Samuel Rose, a member of the Stuart Walcott Post.

Suicide Verdict In Death of Lin

Certificate Will Be Issued Today; White Woman Is Questioned.

A certificate of suicide will be issued today in the death of Lee Lin, 35, a Chinese laundryman who was found dead from a bullet wound in a laundry at 809 Twelfth street northeast early Monday, according to Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

The body was found by a cousin, Lee Thick Kee, 26, who was managing the laundry for Lin, who had been ill. A .38-caliber revolver was found beside the body. A cash drawer found empty and the condition of the room in which Lin was discovered led police to entertain the theory of murder.

A white woman, said to be a friend of Lin's, was questioned by police yesterday. Investigation disclosed that the position of the body when found indicated that the bullet was self-inflicted. Lin was shot through the abdomen.

"Red Light" Bandit Sentenced Five Years

Two five-year concurrent sentences were given Arthur G. Brock in the District Supreme Court yesterday when Justice Oscar R. Luhring imposed sentence following pleas of guilty to two charges of robbery.

Brock, known as the "red light" bandit, robbed George Kerr and Louis P. Lucas, automobilists, when they stopped their cars on Wisconsin avenue because of a traffic light. He got only a small amount of money.

Potomac Post to Meet.

Important business will be discussed by Potomac Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at Northeast Masonic Temple, Eighth and E streets northeast. A door prize of $2.50 will be awarded to a lucky member of the post. Harry V. Krichton is commander.

RABBI SEEKS FUNDS FOR PALESTINE AID

Moses Romm and Son Tell of Privations of Jewish Religious Leaders.

Pathetic stories of rabbis who fled to Palestine to escape persecution from the Russians were related last night by Rabbi Moses Romm and his 13-year-old son, Ittamar, at Ohev Sholem Synagogue.

Rabbi Romm, who was a prominent attorney in the United States before entering the rabbinate, told of starvation and other privations being suffered by the rabbis. He appealed to the synagogue to cooperate in a movement to give financial aid to the Jewish religious leaders.

"Many of those men may be blood relations to some of you," he reminded the congregation. "They are your people and they are in distress. There is every reason why you should help them."

The younger Romm, a brilliant speaker, told of actual scenes of suffering he had witnessed.

Rabbi Romm revealed that it was through his son that he had settled in Palestine. The boy, he said, thought it was their duty to live in the homeland of the Jews. Rabbi Romm went to Palestine during the Arab uprisings. He lives at Telaviv.

The rabbi described the plan through which aid will be sent to necessitous rabbis as a sinking fund. The fund will enable those who wish to spend the rest of their days in Palestine, he said.

$850 of $1,000 Lost From Shoe Recovered

One's money isn't safe, even when it is tucked deep in one's shoe, William Olerich, of 32 I street northwest, discovered yesterday. He went to Baltimore to purchase a truck and tucked $2,900 into his shoes, hoping it would be safe.

But one of the $1,000 bills he had worked loose and was lost. Olerich happened to look down and discover that the second $1,000 note was about to join its companion. However, Baltimore police discovered that James Allen, colored, had just opened an account in a Baltimore bank. Questioned, he admitted he had found a $1,000 bill, but had spent $150 on new suits and shoes. He willingly gave up the remainder to Olerich.

17 PERSONS NAMED ON AID FUND STAFF

Salaries Range From $900 to $2,000 a Year, but Are Temporary.

Seventeen social workers, clerks and stenographers were appointed by the District Commissioners yesterday to form the special staff of L. A. Halbert, director, in the administration of the $350,000 relief fund. Their salaries range from $900 to $2,000 a year but are for only a temporary period.

Mrs. Florence Huff, assistant supervisor, $2,000; Katherine C. Burnett, social worker, $1,740; Winifred M. Shepler, social worker, $1,740; Mrs. Florence T. Conlin, Miss Blanche E. Wall, Denton H. Reed, and James A. Nolan, all social workers, at $1,620.

Mrs. Edith R. Wilson, Mrs. Margaret S. Snead, Miss Elsie Ellen Dowling, Lewis Lloyd Burrell, jr., social workers, at $1,320; Miss Matilda B. Meister, clerk-stenographer, $1,620; William C. Mead, clerk, $1,620; Miss Betty Thompson, stenographer, $1,020; Mrs. Neil M. Springer, stenographer, $1,020; Mrs. Helda W. Foss, telephone operator, $900.

2 Youths Betrayed By Pilfered Check

Bank Cashier Aids Arrest of Pair After Theft at Chain Store.

Two youths who were captured by the cashier of the Park Savings Bank at Fourteenth and Kenyon streets northwest and an oil station attendant when they attempted to cash a stolen check yesterday have confessed to three larcenies, according to police.

The pair, who gave their names as Fred H. Mierdickes, 18, of Brooklyn, and Richard A. Miller, 20, ran from the bank when W. C. Strauss, cashier, started to answer a telephone call from Police Headquarters. He had a man checking on the men quietly while he delayed cashing a check made out to an A. & P. store at 1005 Thirteenth street northwest.

Strauss captured one of the men and the filling station attendant, whose name was not obtained, halted the other one.

CUT OF 8.5 PER CENT MADE IN GAS RATES

Company Agrees to Reduction, Which Will Be in Effect for 6 Months.

Washington gas consumers will save between $225,000 and $250,000 during the next six months as a result of the 8.5 per cent reduction on all gas bills above the minimum agreed to yesterday by the Washington Gas Light Co. This will be in excess of the $249,341 saving effected by general rate reductions on March 1 last.

Under the terms of the agreement the gas rates remain the same as established March 1, but 8.5 per cent will be deducted from each bill every month from August 1 until February 1, 1933. The commission, in return, will postpone another public rate hearing until the expiration of this period and the completion of its valuation of the properties of the Washington and the Georgetown Gas Light Companies.

Keech and Federation Win.

"When such value for rate-making purposes is finally determined, it is in the intention of the commission to adjust rates in accordance therewith so that they may be fair and just to the consumers while permitting the companies to make a reasonable return upon the value of their properties," the commission stated. "A public hearing will be held before such action is taken."

While the percentage proposal was suggested by the commission in lieu of an immediate hearing, credit for the present reduction goes to People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech and the Federation of Citizens Associations, which first brought to the attention of the utilities body the profits of the gas companies since the last rate cut.

Suburbs Not Included.

The reduction does not apply to nearby suburban areas served by the Georgetown Gas Co. of Montgomery, Md., and the Rosslyn Gas Co. of Arlington, Va., but gas company officials said that the rates in both sections are being studied.

Classes A, B, C, D, E and F are affected by the commission order. Only the minimum bill is excepted. The present domestic rate is $1 for the first 1,000 cubic feet, 90 cents per 1,000 for the next 2,000 cubic feet, and 85 cents for every 1,000 cubic feet in excess of 3,000.

Bonus Man Aids In Rescue at Fire

Firemen and a bonus veteran, a former member of the Detroit fire department, aided occupants of an apartment house at 504 Maine avenue southwest, to leave the building when flames on the first floor filled the structure with dense smoke.

Susan B. Anthony Group Defers Mt. Vernon Trip

The pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, planned by the Susan B. Anthony Foundation of Maryland for Woman's Suffrage Day, August 26, has been postponed indefinitely because of the illness of DeCoursey W. Thom, chairman of the advisory board, who was scheduled to make the principal address.

Mr. Thom is chairman of the Maryland George Washington Bicentennial Commission and president of the Maryland Historical Society. His address was to embrace the entire woman suffrage movement in the United States. A message has been received by Mrs. Virginia Peters-Parkhurst, president of the women's group, from Viscountess Astor, felicitating them on their aims.

Commissioners Award Seven Sewer Contracts

Seven sewer contracts were awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners. Four went to Peter D'Adamo Construction Co., as follows: Utah avenue sanitary sewer, $1,829.50; West Virginia avenue stormwater sewer, $4,301.50; Calvert Street sanitary sewer, $1,183.83, and Colorado avenue combined system, $2,589.02.

The other projects are: Warren F. Bremizer Co., I street combined system replacement, $3,042.78; J. B. McCrary Co., Third and E street replacement sewers, $18,896.33; Stowell Construction Co., Marshal subdivision sanitary sewer, $1,216.26.

Baby 'Dying' In Bath Coos At Rescuers

The baby is David Eugene Barry, 7 months old. His mother, Mrs. David E. Barry, had finished giving the child his daily bath and left him a moment in water several inches deep. When she returned the infant was face down in the water.

Mrs. Barry rushed to the telephone and summoned the fire rescue squad. She then returned and gave David several vigorous shakes. The baby may have been playing 'possum, because he was in great shape by the time the firemen arrived. After he had played with one of the squadmen's helmet for a while, David felt even better. The Barrys live at 2920 Thirteenth street northwest.

BUILDING IN CAPITAL ATTACKED AS 'PORK'

Rainey Holds Enemies of Garner Bill Sanction Extravagance Here.

Public building operations in the District yesterday were attacked as "the most stupendous 'pork barrel' in the world," in a statement by Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic leader of the House.

Defending the Garner relief bill from "pork" charges leveled by critics, Representative Rainey cited the $334,210,000 District construction authorizations since 1926, comparing them with the $342,797,000 total of the Garner relief bill.

"In recent years hundreds of millions of dollars have been poured into the insatiable maw of the District of Columbia, and at no time has President Hoover or his aids shouted 'pork' or otherwise voiced opposition to this tremendous expenditure of public funds," Mr. Rainey said.

"Only City Not Feeling Slump."

"Washington today is probably the only city in the country that is not feeling the severe effects of the depression, and this is due to the huge expenditures and the Government pay rolls."

The proposed Garner appropriation of $14,210,000 for 406 postoffices in the smaller cities was denounced as "pork" and opposed by those who were the most ardent advocates of the $14,750,000 Arlington Memorial Bridge project and the $7,200,000 Mount Vernon boulevard authorization, Mr. Rainey chargegd.

"This, according to Republican theories," he said, "is statesmanship."

"Taxpayers' Protest Justified."

He charged authorizations of $28,000,000 for the George Washington Memorial Parkway and playgrounds for the National Capital, and $30,900,000 for the District of Columbia municipal center, "had the approval of the same political forces that opposed the Garner bill."

"The taxpayers of the country are justified in protesting against these huge expenditures within a restricted area," he said.

"There is no logical reason why hundreds of millions of dollars should be poured into the District of Columbia, and requests for public buildings, river and harbor improvements and highway construction in other sections of the country ignored."

Federal Workers Asked To Attend Session Today

All Government employes in Washington have been asked to attend a meeting of the Interstate Commerce Commission branch of the Federal Employes Union, No. 2, at 4:45 today in the main hearing room of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

John D. Cloud, national organizer of the National Federation of Federal Employes, will lead a discussion on "Why the N. F. F. E. severed its connection with the American Federation of Labor."

Rent Quiz Program To Be Drawn Today

Senate Subcommittee Will Name Counsel for District Probe.

The program for investigating rental conditions in the District will be mapped at 2:30 p. m. today at the first meeting of the rent investigating committee.

The group, meeting in the Senate subcommittee of the Senate District committee room, will select a coounsel to guide the course of its inquiries. Oscar Brinkman, local attorney and former clerk of the committee, is prominent among candidates for the job. The meeting will be open to the public.

The investigation, authorized in a Senate resolution, is expected to take all summer. Sitting with Chairman Capper on the subcommittee will be Senators Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin; Kean (Republican), New Jersey; Copeland (Democrat), New York, and King (Democrat), Utah.

Liquor Still Suspect Surrenders to Police

William P. Jordan, 42, of Wheaton, Md., last night surrendered at Tenth Precinct police station, where he was accused as the operator of a 500-gallon capacity still found by prohibition agents at 1644 Argonne place northwest last week.

He was charged with manufacture of liquor. Jordan walked into the station and gave up. He said he heard police were searching for him. A lookout for him had been broadcast Monday night.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE gossips who so assiduously devoted their talents to divorcing Norma Talmadge from Joseph M. Schenck, the producer, and marrying her to Gilbert Roland a few months ago, now are engaged with equal fervor in performing the same doubtful function for Miss Talmadge and Georgie Jessel, whose wife, Flo Courtney, has agreed, according to Variety, to languish briefly in Reno for a money settlement of $105,000.

Master Jessel flew to the West Coast immediately following his recent engagement at Balaban & Katz' Oriental Theater in Chicago, and it is now announced that he and Miss Talmadge will appear jointly in person at the Paramount Theater, New York, the week of August 12, at a combined salary of $11,000 per week.

Tender memories aroused by the presence of the articulate screen version of the play at the Metropolitan this week, Melvin D. Hildredth, Washington attorney, writes as follows:

"Perhaps it will interest you to recall that 'The Misleading Lady' was produced some twelve years ago at the old Garrick Theater, where Hecht's department store now stands.

"It had an unusual cast. Monta Bell, now well-known as a motion picture director, played the part of 'Napoleon;' Irving Cummings, also famous as a director, played the part of Craigen; Hardie Meakin, manager of RKO-Keith's, was Steve and yours truly played the part of Spider Canborn. Dennis King was also a member of this stock company, but, as I recall it, had only a very minor part in 'The Misleading Lady.'

"The play apparently did not make much of an impression upon the critics, but I will recall how we who played the bits placed upon the dressing-room mirror that part of one article which said, 'The minor parts were very much above the average.'"

That role of Steve, played by Hardie Meakin, by the way, was the same one he played in the original Broadway company with Lewis S. Stone and Inez Buck, 'way back yonder when he was a professional actor—or leastwise on the stage! He followed John Cumbesland in the part. All right, ask him!

And in addition to the ones I mentioned Monday, C. Henry Gordon is also the demoralizing influence in "The Washington Masquerade," at the Palace, making three downtown houses out of six in which he is currently visible.

This, incidentally, is one of those weeks—particularly rare in the summer time—when you can walk into any first-run picture house in the midcity area without danger of being stung. Not a bad show in town.

Victor McLaglen, since you ask, is dickering to return to the Fox lot, where not so long ago he sold them back a long-term contract for one-third its face value in cash. Then came the war—between Fox and the bankers. Now Vic is on his way back to be teamed again with Edmund Lowe, according to report, in a gangster-football fable called "Rackety-Rax." Sort of a drop-kick for both sides, as you might say.

Speaking of the New York Paramount, as we were a few blocks back, Al Jolson has an indeterminate booking of a week at that house under a salary arrangement that guarantees him around $12,000 for the seven-day period. His last picture-house appearance on Broadway was at the Capitol two or three years ago at $10,000. These depressions certainly are brutal!

"A Night in Bavaria" is being celebrated on the Shoreham terrace tonight with foaming seidels passed around by pretty peasant frauleins. At the Club Michel Marine Roof, "Surprise Night," with two free flights to New York for the lucky ones. Now let me see, where did I put that rabbit's foot?

TRADE IN CARIBBEAN NATIONS DESCRIBED

The Caribbean region, comprising Mexico, Central America and the West Indies, was described as one of the great commercial regions of the world today by Prof. Clarence F. Jones, of Clark University, in the second of his lectures yesterday before the Conference on Hispanic Affairs at the George Washington University.

Contrasted with 30 years ago, the region shows encouraging advance and holds promise of great progress, Prof. Jones said. The great economic development of the region in the last quarter of a century is due to foreign capital, he declared.

Export trade of the Caribbean region is handicapped by the fact that it is dominated by four commodities—sugar, coffee, fruit and oil—all of which are overproduced or underconsumed, the speaker said. The commerce is dependent upon favorable tariff policies of the leading markets, and the area lacks the basic resources for the development of manufacturing.

Problems confronting the region include a large mixed population, poor educational and social conditions, poor sanitation and health conditions, lack of capital to develop the latent resources and unstable political conditions.

Trends in Brazilian literature were outlined by Dr. Spencer Vampre, of the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil. The native writers are inclined toward romanticism, and a regional literature has sprung up, he said.

William F. Montavon, director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, will discuss modern religious life of Hispanic-America at today's session.

Mother and Child Hurt; Knocked Down by Auto

A mother and her child were slightly injured last night when they were knocked down by an automobile as they stepped from behind parked cars into the path of a machine driven by Arthur M. Poynton, 62, of 1434 Kennedy street northwest. The accident happened at Eleventh street and Massachusetts avenue northwest.

Mrs. Margurite Teachey, 32, of 908 M street northwest, was treated by a private physician for brush burns and bruises. Her 2-year-old son, Joseph, was treated for a cut on his arm.

DISTRICT TO BECOME SANCTUARY OF BIRDS

New Law Protecting Ducks and Other Water Fowl Is Welcomed.

Wild ducks and other water fowl will find the Potomac and Eastern Branch within the District a tempting place to winter without fear of the fowler's gun, according to Paul G. Redington, chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture.

By act of Congress approved July 14, the District is virtually a bird sanctuary. Mr. Redington expressed his confidence that in years to come the numbers of birds here will increase.

"Their presence," he said, "and their enjoyment by the people will be similar to the situation found on Lake Merritt, in Oakland, Calif., where wild ducks are one of the chief attractions."

Mr. Redington said that Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks, plans to provide such feeding places as may be necessary to attract the birds, in addition to the natural food supplied by the wild celery beds of the Potomac flats.

The administration of the law will be in the hands of the Metropolitan Police. In addition, the United States game protecter and his deputies will cooperate with District authorities in maintaining the sanctuary.

Girls Accused of Robbery Are Released From Jail

Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins yesterday ordered the release from the District Jaly of three girls who have been held in custody since their arrest last month on charges of robbing a drug store and a cab driver. Mr. Collins said that he would shortly move to nolle prosse the charges against the trio, holding that they were not accountable for the robberies.

Two men, companions of the girls, were sentenced last week. Anthony Owens got 10 years, and William T. Hardy got 6. The girls are Loretta Sutterland, Leona Van Upperman and Clementina Cavalier.

PHONE VALUATION IS URGED BY KEECH

Immediate Action Is Sought as Drawn-Out Hearing Seems Likely.

Recognizing the likelihood that the present telephone rate case will not be terminated until some time in the distant future, People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech yesterday filed a memorandum with the Public Utilities Commission urging an immediate valuation of the properties of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

The petition says the hearing now in progress has shown the necessity for a valuation and that the present economic condition would enable the commission to obtain "the services of engineering and accounting experts not available in normal times and at figures substantially less than those usually demanded by such type of men."

The question of a proper valuation figure for the telephone company has been the nucleus for the controversy between the utilities body and the telephone officials. It is the contention of the latter that the commission should make a proper valuation before attempting to force a reduction in rates.

There has been no valuation of the telephone properties since 1917, Mr. Keedh points out, as the revaluation of 1925 was abrogated by a consent decree of the District Supreme Court on October 1, 1927.

The telephone company contends that a reasonable valuation of its property is approximately $32,000,000, whereas William A. Roberts, special counsel of the commission, introduced evidence at the hearing that the properties could be reproduced for almost $23,000,000, which does not take into account depreciation.

Exercises at Columbia University.

Graduation exercises of Columbia University, followed by a smoker, will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the administration building at 1024 Eighth street northwest. Dr. Shepherd, superintendent, will present the diplomas. Alumni are invited to attend.

NATS DEFEAT BROWNS, 9-3, WITH 18-HIT ATTACK

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

THE doubters who didn't think that Benny Schwartz could lick Billy Landers in a fair fight came away from the Laurel Arena last night wondering how Landers ever received two decisions over the little Baltimore battler.

They gave Benny a new referee and two new judges and Schwartz won the decision from here to Laurel and back, just like he won his former two meetings with Landers, but last night he got a square deal when the ballots were handed in.

Schwartz gave Landers a taste of his erudite left hand for the full ten rounds, all but shoving it down his throat on occasions, winning seven of the ten rounds by an unquestionable margin and vindicating himself beyond doubt among any who were not convinced that Landers does not belong in the same class with him.

A right that merely whipped the breezes above the arena and an unflagging courage comprised Landers' stock in trade against the nimble-footed, lightning-fast Schwartz who hit the Norfolk boy with everything but the Marquis of Queensbury himself.

They couldn't take it away from Benny last night. They said he couldn't go ten rounds and that Landers would catch up with him in the late sessions and deal out the punishment that he can give a slow and tiring opponent. But Schwartz changed his tactics, letting Landers set the early pace, and then taking the play away from him from the third round onward, to win going away like a stake horse against a selling plater.

The only question that remains unsolved to this department is how one of the judges voted the fight a draw. He must have been looking out of Landers' left eye for the entire ten rounds. That particular optic was spread all over Landers' forehead and tightly closed during the final rounds.

A general tightening up and down the American League front occurred yesterday with the Yankees taking it on the chin twice from the rampaging Cleveland Indians, with the Athletics and Nats also turning in victories.

The Yankees' lead, which at one time reached 12½ games, has now shrunk to 7½ games before the onslaughts of the other contenders and the New York Club's position is greatly weakened by the developments of the past week.

Since Bill Dickey aimed his ill-conceived punch at Carl Reynolds' jaw and was set down for 30 days, the Yankees have missed his potent bat, showing only 15 victories in their last 24 games compared to the .670 pace they were setting on July 4. Every club in the first division has gained on the leaders and a lead of 7½ games at this stage of the race is far from conclusive.

Olympics Ban Starting Blocks

Nurmi Case to Be Decided Tomorrow; Calnan Honored.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

LOS ANGELES, July 27 (A.P.).—Olympic track and field officials, holding their first clinic today in preparation for the world championship athletic battle starting Sunday, compromised on innovations by banning all use of starting blocks, but approving, semiofficially, the new Kirby photo-electric timer, used successfully this season in the American championships and final tryouts.

These decisions were reached by the record and rules committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, of which Avery Brundage, of Chicago, head of the American Olympic delegation, is chairman.

Action on Nurmi Tomorrow.

They will be put before the congress of the I. A. A. F., for final action Friday, at which time the suspension of Paavo Nurmi and other vital pre-Olympic subjects are due to be settled.

The use of starting blocks has been under discussion ever since the last Olympics, but the device has yet to win international approval. Their use has been initiated in the United States, mainly among the colleges, but they have not generally been adopted even in this country.

The new timer or "camera clock" will be used through the Olympic track events, experimentally for the most part, but also for the official settlement of any disputed placings in the races. The I. A. A. F. committee adopted its use officially for timing track events of the decathlon or all-around championship.

In the long list of world record track and field performances recommended for approval by Brundage's committee, the startling achievements of American stars this spring and summer were conspicuously missing.

This was due to the fact that they must be first passed upon by the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union, which does not meet until next November.

No Record Changes For Two Years.

For the next two years, therefore, or until another session of the I. A. A. F. takes place, the world record books will make no official mention of the record-smashing performances of Ben Eastman or Bill Carr in the 440-yard and 400-meter distances; or Bill Graber's pole vault mark of 14 feet 4¾ inches, made in the final trials at Palo Alto, or the record shotput tosses of Leo Sexton and Herman Brix, each credited with 52 feet, 8⅝ inches.

The only mark by Eastman on the approved list was his record-equaling 440 run in 47.4 seconds, made a year ago. Also listed were Vic Williams' 440 in the same time, Paul Jessup's discus throw of 168 feet 8⅞ inches and Frank Wykoff's 100-yard record of 9.4 seconds, all registered in the last two years.

The American delegation meanwhile perfected plans for its part in the spectacular opening ceremonies, this Saturday in the Olympic stadium, by selecting F. Morgan Taylor, hurdling star of the Illinois A. C., to carry the national emblem, and Lieut. George C. Calnan, U. S. N., of the fencing team, to take the Olympic oath on behalf of the entire assemblage of world athletic talent.

Landers Bout Is Won by Schwartz

Strickler Beats King; Antonelli Knocks Out Romano.

By JACK ESPEY.

BENNY SCHWARTZ finally got the prize twice denied him within a period of ten weeks when he received the decision over Blond Billy Landers last night in Twin City Arena's 10-round feature bout before a small crowd. The Baltimore bantamweight this time left no doubt as to his superiority with a brilliant exhibition of counter-punching—and, on occasions, slugging—that left the courageous Norfolk youngster bleeding and half blind.

The wise boys who figured the 10-round distance increased Landers' chances were notably upset, for Schwartz proved the stronger ring the last three rounds and had his rival on the verge of a knockout in the ninth. In their other two clashes the veteran Baltimorean tired before the eighth, but last night it was the stronger and younger of the pair who found the going tough at the finish.

Decision Is Not Unanimous.

A trio of officials who never before had judged the two rendered the decision with Referee Charlie Baum and Judge Denny Hughes voting for Schwartz and Judge Pete Baum favoring a draw. On The Post score sheet Schwartz won the second, third, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth rounds, while Landers was credited with the first and fifth. An even break was registered in the fourth and tenth.

Landers began auspiciously, but soon felt the sting of Schwartz's educated left hand that overcame a small early lead and piled up point after point by landing flush on Billy's rugged face. Landers, as usual, forced the fight most of the way and struck telling right-hand blows to the body, but as often as he scored he was forced to lash thin air, as the clever Schwartz dodged and rolled from harm.

Schwartz took the play away from the Virginian in the last three rounds and to the surprise of the crowd stopped Landers cold in his tracks with a shower of lefts and rights to both face and stomach. Billy started bleeding in the sixth round, and his left eye began closing in the seventh. He was barely able to see when the final gong sounded.

Strickler Punches Way To Victory.

Billy Strickler, Washington's durable light heavyweight, punched out a clean-cut decision over Rex King, of Baltimore, in the eight-round semifinal. King dropped for a nine-count in the seventh when Strickler sent a terrific left to the mid-riff, but he crawled back to his feet to last the balance of the route while the local boy flailed away with both gloves.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 27.—Racking up his sixteenth victory of the season, Monte Weaver had a no-hit game for six innings here today, but he weakened in the seventh and had to be rescued by Fred Marberry after he had held a 7-to-0 advantage. The Nats ultimately beat the Browns, 9 to 3.

The first hit off Weaver was Oscar Melillo's long double to right center after Goslin and Schulte opened the seventh inning with passes. Ferrell then crescented a single to center and Weaver departed with three runs against his record.

Undoubtedly Monte weakened himself by his base-running. He doubled in the fourth and singled in the sixth and seventh and when he mounted the parapet in the Browns' seventh his clothes were saturated with perspiration. He was so tired he was only "throwing" in that chapter, and it was only a question of time until some batter got a pitch to his liking.

The only men who reached base against Weaver in the first six rounds were Sharein and Burns, who opened the first frame with bases on balls, and Ferrell, who walked in the fifth. There was not the semblance of a hit until Melillo's double.

Nats Pound Out Hits.

Meanwhile, the Nats, led by Joe Kuhel, Rice and Weaver, soaked the sun-baked terrain with a rain of hits. Hadley, Gray and Kimsey all were pounded. Hadley being knocked out in the seventh. The trio allowed a total of eighteen hits, Kuhel pacing with two singles, a home run and a triple in that order. Rice matched Weaver with two singles and a double.

Washington filled the bases in the first inning on walks to Rice and Cronin, sandwiching Myer's strike out and Manush's single, but Kuhel and West both fanned. The Browns were equally powerless in their half, three quick outs coming after Scharein and Burns walked.

All donations were cheerfully accepted by Washington in the third. Rice and Myer singled, the former taking third on Manush's foul fly. Sam scored when Levey booted Cronin's grounder. Kuhel's single jammed the aisles, and when West walked Myer was forced home, after which Bluege and Berg flied to death.

The Nats' run in round four was clean-cut. Weaver doubled to right center. Rice sacrificed and Myer singled Weaver across. Kuhel, in the fifth, and Weaver, in the sixth, led off with singles, but could not advance. Weaver did run to third base on Myer's fly, but that was only the second out, so Weaver was doubled up.

Manush Slams Double.

The Nationals do not like to sacrifice with a man on first base, but they do with men on second. Manush doubled, leading the seventh. Cronin sacked him to third, whence he counted on a wild pitch. Kuhel's home run off the right field pavilion roof followed. West tripled and Hadley hit the trail of sighs. Bluege singled against Sam Gray, West scoring. Berg died, but Weaver got a scratch hit and Rice doubled, Bluege scoring. Myer fanned.

In the eighth against Kimsey the Nationals brewed their last two runs on Cronin's walk, Kuhel's triple and West's single.

The only other frame, besides the first and seventh, in which the Browns located second base was the ninth. Levey scratched a single here and Pinch Batter Bettencourt walked, but two were out and Scharein popped up for the finish.

Al Crowder, former Brownie ace, and Carl Fischer, erstwhile Washington southpaw, are slated to pitch the third game of the series here tomorrow.

INDIANS WIN TWO FROM YANKS

Mound Duel, 2-1, Is Followed by 12-10 Slugfest.

CLEVELAND, July 27 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians, continuing their scoring rampage started in the East, conquered the Yankees twice today to reduce the McCarthymen's lead in the American League to seven and one-half games. The scores were 2 to 1 and 12 to 10.

The opener was a pitchers' duel, with Oral Hildebrand shading Danny MacFayden as the result of Vosmik's home run, a pair of singles and a sacrifice in the fourth inning. Hildebrand held the Yanks to four hits, while the Indians got only six off MacFayden.

TRED AVON WINS ARLINGTON HANDICAP IN STRETCH DRIVE

Burke Rides Labrot Ace To Win

Con Amore, 25-1 Shot, Second by Length and a Half.

French Duchess Third in $10,000 Race at Chicago.

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

CHICAGO, July 27 (A.P.).—Tred Avon, the old gray mare from Maryland, bounded to victory down the stretch at Arlington Park today, winner by a length and a half in the Arlington Matron Handicap that was worth $10,975. Eight of the fleetest fillies and mares in America started.

Tred Avon, owned by Sylvester W. Labrot, of Baltimore, conquered Con Amore, with French Duchess, the entry of Mrs. John D. Hertz, of Chicago, the favorite, finishing third, three and a half lengths back. Evening, owned by George D. Widener, of Philadelphia, and winner of the Chesapeake Stakes and Florida Derby, floundered in fourth place, with Flag Trick fifth and I Say sixth. Risque, running as an entry with French Duchess, finished seventh, and the Kentucky filly, Betty Derr, eighth.

Tred Avon Wins 7 of 14 Races.

Tred Avon, winner of seven of fourteen races this season, paid $6.16 to win, $4.06 to place and $3 to show. Con Amore, a 25 to 1 shot in the betting, returned $16.10 to place, with $7.24 to show. The show price on the Hertz entry was $2.74.

It was the first time since the Matron Handicap was inaugurated that the colors of Mrs. Hertz bowed in defeat. She won it two years ago with Valenciennes and last year with Risque.

Tred Avon, given a perfect ride by Jockey Jimmy Burke, ran the mile in 1:37 2-5. She was in trouble down the back stretch, but Burke, finding an arrow opening approaching the stretch turn, shot her through a hole from fifth place and then it was all over.

As a result of her victory Tred Avon earned $8,475 for Owner Labrot, bringing her earnings for 1932 to $23,510.

DES MOINES SIGNS KENNA.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 27 (A.P.).—Eddie Kenna, veteran backstop of the Eastern League, was signed by the Des Moines Club of the Western League today. Formerly a catcher for the Nationals and in Southern Association and the International League, Kenna became a free agent when Hartford disbanded recently.

AT THE POST

—with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, JULY 27.

Well, old boy, I came through with three winners today when my old friend Mike helped me boot them home. Tred Avon, my choice for the classic, came home today and my face is plenty red. I liked him but too late to wire you. All of which sounds like 6 o'clock handicapping.

I'm going to confine my other-track selecting to Sir Walter (remember him) in the first at Empire. I believe I know something.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—Maiden 2-year-old races are bad enough, and when only fillies are involved they're worse. MRS. NANCY has the rail position and is as good as the others. I am leaning to her to beat out HIGH COMPLEXION and FAN FERN.

SECOND RACE—There was a grand awakening of ENRO that I well remember back in Maryland. This is not much horse, but I understand the door may be left open today. PLUTARCH for the place money in front of BROWN BRUTUS.

THIRD RACE—BARCELONA PETE is Mike's Three X special for tomorrow and I'm stringing along. VISHNU looks like the troublemaker if there is to be one. ANUBIS shapes up third best.

FOURTH RACE — MOUTHPIECE may have one of those good races ready for this. If such is the case, there's no need of looking further for the winner. ULUNIU, with top weight can make the first named hustle. The show to GOOD AND HOT.

FIFTH RACE—MY DANDY has a little more class than is exhibited by the others in this and should step them off to an easy victory. Looks like the main chasing will be done by SUN DOT with KARL EITEL third.

SIXTH RACE—Everybody and their cousins will be playing MORSEL tomorrow and he looks able to turn the trick. EPITHET, after that last, can't be moved back below place. PAIRBYPAIR is the likely show horse.

SEVENTH RACE—OATEN paid off to place the last time in telephone numbers and if he has a repeater in his system may be the top one tomorrow. This is a poor lot. LUCKY CARTER for the place and CHIP to show.

Stocks Stage Brisk Upturn In Defiance of Drawbacks

Gains of 1 to 4 Points Add Zest to Session; Shorts Squeezed Tightly.

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—Far from being discouraged by the record-breaking deficit reported by United States Steel Corporation for the second quarter, stocks took a fresh option on bullishness today and closed with another liberal advance. Many net gains ranged from 1 to 4 points.

The brisk rally, lead by utilities, developed soon after noon. Sagging tendencies in the morning, reflecting acceptance of profits by professionals and doubtless some selling inspired by the steel figures, failed to attain impressive proportions and the market soon launched on a rally that carried through to a strong closing. Shorts in several leaders were squeezed tightly.

The average rise in stocks, slightly more than 2 points, implicated Monday's advance and brought the closing composite to 45.1, highest since May 12. Sales were 1,672,097 shares, the largest volume since June 3.

American Telephone, Union Pacific, People's Gas, American Tobacco "B" and Auburn, up about 4 points net, give indication that considerable late buying had come from shorts who found supplies of stock scarce. U. S. Steel preferred converted an early 4-point decline into a moderate net gain, while the common, after a fractional sag, closed 2 points higher.

Reports of resumption at industrial plants were numerous enough to keep kindled the hope that seasonal improvement in the late summer and autumn would stimulate corporate earnings as well as relieve unemployment.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Wed.	Tues.
Number of advances	416	298
Number of declines	92	216
Stocks unchanged	106	138
Total issues traded	614	652

Stocks.

Brisk upturn followed early sagging tendencies. One to four points added in gains. Shorts squeezed tightly.

Bonds.

Curb.

Profit-taking was routed by a rally, and the turnover mounted to 260,000 shares. Oils, utilities and industrials led advance.

Wheat.

Cotton.

Prices climbed in sympathy with grain and financial markets. Profits of 13 to 16 points resulted. Liverpool reported Bombay buying.

TELEPHONE INCOME DECREASES $30,808

Gas Companies Also Reveal Moderate Earnings Loss Under Last Year.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.'s net operating revenues for June showed a decrease of $30,808, as compared with the month last year, the report of operations just filed with the Public Utilities Commission shows. Net telephone operating revenues for June were $222,611; for the same month last year they were $253,419.

Total operating income for June was $155,059, as compared with $192,164 for the month in 1931. This was a decrease of $37,105.

Lower net earnings of the company, together with a larger amount of plant in service, reduced the annual rate of net telephone earnings in relation to plant in service to 6.09 per cent.

At close of business June 30, Washington was served by 180,825 telephones, as compared with 172,474 at the close of the same period last year. During the month telephone users made 19,723,000 calls.

Net income of Washington Gas Light Co. in June was $67,526.23, the company's statement of operations, filed with the Public Utilities Commission, reveals. In June, 1931, it was $96,622.50.

The statement of Georgetown Gas Light Co. showed a net corporate income of $9,283.92 for June, as compared with one of $9,636.09 for June a year ago.

For the three months ended June 30, 1932, International Business Machines Corporation reports net earnings, including those from foreign subsidiaries, of $1,956,014. This compares with similar net earnings of $2,128,778 for the first quarter of this year.

Survey of 20,275 Banks Reveals Healthy Condition

New Orleans, July 27 (A.P.).—Statistics on 20,275 State and national banks indicate a healthy condition of the Nation's financial institutions, R. N. Sims, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, said today in releasing a comprehensive survey of banking in the United States.

Based on reports as of December 31, 1931, the latest available, total resources were listed as $63,130,550,964.10; the deposits at $50,214,192,615.50. Of the banks, 13,902 are State banks and 6,373 national banks.

Mr. Sims, vice president of the New Orleans Hibernia Bank & Trust Co., said the figures illustrated "how well the banks of our country have weathered the storm of depression."

BONDS KEEP UP RISE IN IRREGULAR SHIFTS

Government Issues Assist in General Advance of Firmer Market.

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—The bond market traveled in irregular course throughout most of today's session, but strength of United States Government issues, and a last minute rally in corporate groups, brought a firm finish.

Heavy trading in Federal issues raised the day's total sales to $12,329,000 and the average for 60 principal corporation bonds advanced four-tenths of a point.

All of the Treasury loans advanced to new high prices for the year. Liberty fourth 4¼s also made a new 1932 high. Activity in the "Governments" could not be attributed altogether to buying by national banks seeking additional bonds for new currency security.

Some of the low-priced and speculative railroad bonds, which have been marching upward since the first of the month, developed early weakness under a wave of profit-taking. A number of these recovered substantially, and the carrier department was enabled to emerge with a net gain.

Both the utilities and industrials picked up moderately, although the oils attracted principal attention.

The foreign list was somewhat unsettled by a slump in Argentine obligations, a number of which lost as much as 6 points. Santa Fe, Argentine 7s lost 9 points on reports that the province was seeking a moratorium on its debt service. British and Australian issues were steady.

CURB RALLY CHECKS PROFIT-TAKING RUSH

New Buyers Boost Prices as Turnover Mounts to 260,000 Shares.

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—Ability of stocks on the curb market to absorb early profit-taking today attracted new buying and prices advanced fairly sharply in increased volume of trading. Sales approximated 260,000 shares against 150,000 shares on both Monday and Tuesday.

Public utility, oil and a few industrial leaders were the bell wethers today. Preferred stocks were also well bought, a number rising 2 or more points.

American Gas & Electric common stock moved up 2¾ points to 21¾ in active trading. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore made a like gain while advances of a point or so were registered by Electric Bond & Share, up 1⅛ to 8½, Commonwealth Edison, Duke Power and United Light & Power A. Gains of 1 to 3 were made by the preferred shares of American Superpower, Electric Bond & Share, Columbia Gas & Electric and National Power & Light. New York Power & Light preferred advanced 8½.

Standard Oil of Indiana also hit a new 1932 high at 21⅞, up ½. Pepperel Manufacturing rallied over 3 points after its loss of yesterday.

WHEAT VALUE GAINS IN BUYING PRESSURE

Liverpool Price Rise Leads Chicago; Smaller Crop Estimates Aid.

Chicago, July 27 (A.P.).—Buoyantly advancing in the most active general purchase movement witnessed in weeks, wheat today scored a maximum gain of 2⅝ cents a bushel.

Official confirmation of spring wheat reverses both north and south of the Canadian border acted as a spur to speculative buying, and there were authoritative estimates that Eastern and Southeastern Europe would have 110,000,000 bushels less wheat than a year ago.

Highest wheat prices at Liverpool since early in June were noted, and the market here soared to more than 5 cents above last week's low. Profit-taking and hedging sales led to only transient setbacks. Broadening of trade and sharpest advances in price came in the final hour.

Seven Economic Fields Improve in Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., July 27 (A.P.). Improvements in seven important economic fields were noted today by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce in its June survey of the State's 16 largest cities.

Increases were shown in postal receipts, bank debits, electricity consumption, bales of cotton consumed, number and value of automobiles sold and life insurance sales. The number and gross liabilities of bankruptcies decreased.

COTTON PRICES RISE WITH OTHER TRADING

Octobers Gain 13 Points as Market Tone Changes; Bombay Buys.

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—After fluctuating narrowly in the early trading, cotton became more active during the last hour today and advanced sharply in sympathy with wheat and stocks on covering and trade buying. October, which had reacted 4 points to 5.73 early in the day, rallied to 5.91 and closed at 5.90, an advance of 13 points, while the general market finished firm at 13 to 16 points net higher.

The weekly weather and crop bulletin was also construed as showing satisfactory progress of the crop and there was further selling by so-called cooperative brokers. Offers, however, were small and prices soon rallied from the early decline.

Evidence of growing optimism over trade and business conditions seemed to play an important part in the day's developments and there was a noticeable absence of selling pressure.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had been influenced by buying for Bombay account, lower sterling and unsettled conditions at Manchester where business was said to have been of small proportions.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—There was renewed activity and strength on the stock exchange in gold mine issues, gilt-edged securities and Indian stocks. Other sections reacted slightly, especially German bonds and transatlantic issues. South American rails were steady and the market closed irregular.

Paris—Bearish indications from Wall street and London made prices on the bourse heavier. Trading in both French and international issues was restricted and rentes were somewhat irregular. The closing was heavy.

Berlin—Trading was dull and prices slightly weaker on the bourse due to the disquieting Von Schleicher broadcast.

RAILROAD EARNINGS DROP 60 PER CENT

$8,103,000 Netted in June, Compared With 1931 Gain of $20,151,000.

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—The first 26 railroads to report for June had total net operating income for that month of $8,103,000, a decrease of approximately 60 per cent from the $20,151,000 reported for June, 1931. In May this year these carriers had net operating income of $6,878,000.

Their gross revenues in June were about 33 per cent below the same month last year, totaling $87,168,000 against $130,098,000. In May they were $91,804,000.

Santa Fe	$670,779	$1,808,597
B. & O.	2,132,349	3,262,352
Texas & Pacific	341,927	659,950
Bangor & Arost'k	53,993	*95,731
Southern	*348,843	649,698
Chicago & N. W.	*173,234	970,785
Burlington	490,506	1,325,742

*Deficit.

North American Co. and subsidiaries had net income of $21,377,365 for the twelve months ended June 30, equal to $2.73 a share on the common stock outstanding on that date. This compared with $26,188,040, or $3.75 a share in the previous year.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, July 27 (A.P.).—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey is now selling well above the price fixed for employes stock in the last half of 1932, but also comfortably above the average price for employes for the entire year. The offering price for the first half, fixed in January, was $30.50 a share, while $23.30 was named as the price for the final six months. The average of $26.90 compares with a current market price of approximately $29.

A general 10 per cent wage and salary reduction which will result in an annual saving of about $2,000,000 to the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, has been negotiated with all groups of the company's employes, it was announced today. The new scale becomes effective August 1.

Steel mill operations in the Youngstown district dropped to an average of 16 per cent at midweek, compared with 20 per cent at the start of the week, it was reported in steel trade circles today. Suspension of operations at the Carnegie Steel Ohio works and a more irregular operating rate by some of the independents accounted for the decline.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation tomorrow will add its June quarter statement to the array of steel company figures released this week. In view of the poor showing of United States Steel Corporation and several of the leading independents, it is not expected that Bethlehem will be able to contribute anything particularly cheerful. Directors will take action on the preferred dividend.

Yellow Cab Elects Hogan.

Chicago, July 27 (A.P.).—Thomas B. Hogan, associated with the cab industry since the days of the horse-drawn hack, and once a driver himself, became president of the Yellow Cab Co. today. Directors of Yellow Cab elected to their board Joseph J. White and Rudolph Bleze, the latter already treasurer of the company.

RESORT LAURELS GO TO WOODLAND BEACH

When the discussion around the dinner table develops into a debate over the advantages of various summer resorts in the vicinity of the Capital, Woodland Beach always stands out as a winner.

For Woodland Beach, located on South River in Maryland, has many things which make it attractive to families which do not care to invest large sums in homes for use during the summer season.

Offering boating, bathing and fishing; cozy nooks along the river; shallow pools in which children may play in safety; ideal home sites for bungalows and cottages, the Beach is attractive in every way.

And what is even more attractive is the price. All lots bear the same tag and the down payment and monthly installments are so small that no pocketbook need be strained in meeting the obligations.

Just 32 miles away it is ideally located for overnight and week-end parties. Scores of Washingtonians have found it the right place to build cottages and many others are planned. However, there are still a few fine locations available.

Drive out some Saturday or Sunday, via Defense highway to Camp Parole, turning right on Maryland State highway, No. 2, across South River and then left on Mayo road to the development. You'll be surprised and interested.

$6,250 Budget Favored By Kensington Council

The annual budget for Kensington of $6,250 has been approved by the town council, and calls for immediate improvement of Dietrick avenue and Kent and Farragut streets. They will be graded and finished with a prime coat. The remainder of the street program was postponed until the August meeting.

The following items are included in the budget for 1932-33: Street improvements, $2,700; lights, $1,200; salaries, $1,500; fire department, $400; library, $100; contingent, $350.

Father Who Enlisted To Avenge Son Dies

Augusta, Ga., July 27 (A.P.).—George W. Wright, who enlisted in the Army at the age of 49 to carry on for his son, Marvin G. Wright, killed in action in the World War, died today.

When Marvin Wright died on the battle front June 15, 1918, his father, past the age for Army service, obtained the special permission of President Wilson to take his son's place. He went to France and saw service in the front lines.

County Aids Selected For Smith House Race

Political agents and treasurers for three of the five counties in the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland have been selected by Harold C. Smith, who will contest the seat now held by Representative David J. Lewis, Democrat. In Washington and Garrett counties the selection Mr. Smith's staff will be left to the Republican county committee, but the other appointments have been made.

In Montgomery County Leo Bender, of Silver Spring, will act as treasurer and manager of the campaign, while Maj. Elmer F. Munshower will serve in Frederick County and J. Milton Patterson, of Cumberland, will serve in Alleghany County.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE first dirigible nosed its way over Manhattan's skyline 63 years ago—six years before the Union Pacific and Central Pacific lines joined between Omaha and San Francisco to make transcontinental passage by railway a possibility. The Civil War was being fought; Lincoln had not been elected to his second term of office.

The inventor was Dr. Solomon Andrews. He utilized vertical fins to steer his ship in a horizontal plane, and shifted the center of gravity by moving the control car fore or aft to nose the gas bag up or down. In going against the wind Dr. Andrews "tacked" much the same as a sailing vessel goes into the wind.

The first public demonstration was hailed by New York newspapers with enthusiasm, and at one trial an imaginative news reporter estimated the ship's speed at 120 miles an hour.

It was designed primarily for use in the Civil War, but for various reasons the War Department and Congress delayed on Dr. Andrews' offer until the war was over.

The inventor later organized a company and laid plans for an air transport line between Philadelphia and New York. Trial flights of the new ship were successful, but the public was not ready for air travel. A bank failure swept away the company's funds and the scheme was abandoned.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address the author, care of The Washington Post, and inclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.

LEGION GROUP HERE FAVORS CASH BONUS

Repeal of Dry Law Is Urged Also in Department Convention.

Resolutions favoring immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and repeal of the national prohibition act and the eighteenth amendment were adopted last night at the convention of the District department of the American Legion at Stuart Junior High School.

The convention virtually was unanimously for the resolution asking that Congress enact legislation for immediate payment of adjusted service certificates. On the prohibition question, there was considerable sentiment for modification, but repeal was voted by a large majority.

Most of last night's session was devoted to the discussion of more than a score resolutions brought before the meeting by Robert Tolson, chairman of the resolutions committee. This discussion followed the routine reports of officers and committees.

Fries Offers Resolution.

In a resolution sponsored by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, the convention went on record in favor of the Jeffers bill, providing a penalty of from 5 to 30 years imprisonment, for persons advocating the overthrow of the Government by force and violence.

Other resolutions opposed the recognition of Russia and the participation of the United States in the World Court and the League of Nations. The convention went on record in favor of adequate national defense.

A resolution supporting Department Commander Fred G. Fraser for the office of National Vice Commander at the next National convention also was adopted. A resolution also was adopted requesting the President to issue orders allowing delegations of legionaires employed by the Government to be excused without penalty to attend funerals of their comrades.

Other Resolutions Adopted.

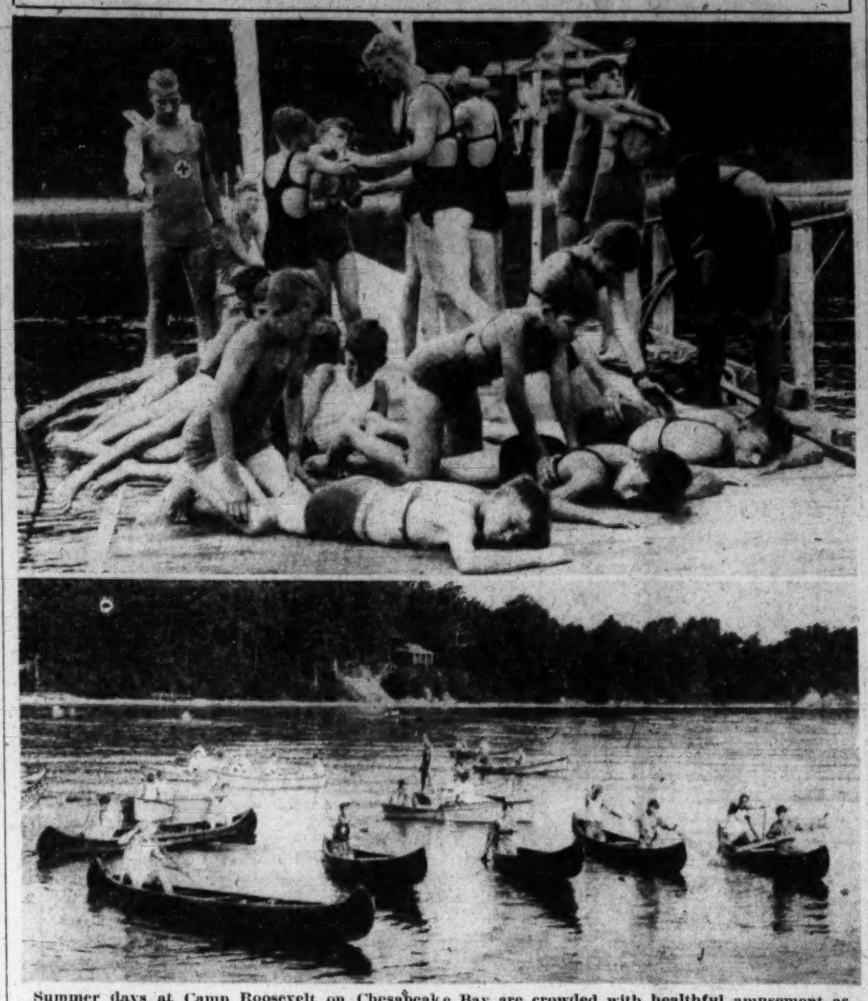
Other resolutions adopted commend the efforts of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford and the Police Department for their sympathetic and effective methods in handling the bonus army; opposed the Wagner bill abolishing the Veterans' Employment Service; opposed war debt cancellation; provided for establishment of a plan for the education of war orphans, and opposed any legislation depriving World War veterans of benefits.

Officers will be elected at tonight's session which will conclude the convention. Norman B. Landreau was nominated as department commander. For first, second and third vice commanders, the following, respectively, were nominated: Porter L. Bush, Emily Carey and James A. Lowry. John L. Smith was nominated for member of the national executive committee.

$10,000 Suit Follows Auto Hurts.

Alexander Cassel, 636 Park road northwest, yesterday was named defendant in a $10,000 damage suit in District Supreme Court. Benjamin Poms, 2007 Eighteenth hstreet northwest, brought the suit for the loss of his wife's services. Mrs. Fannie Poms, the wife, was injured by an automobile of Cassell's at Twelfth and F streets northwest, last March. Attorneys R. K. Millstein and William A. Reed filed the suit.

BOY SCOUTS CAVORT AT CAMP ROOSEVELT



Summer days at Camp Roosevelt on Chesapeake Bay are crowded with healthful amusement as well as practical training. Above, boys are learning the rudiments of water life saving; below, a canoe and boat regatta. The camp is the official summer recreation spot of the District Boy Scout organization.

HEAT FATAL TO MAN; TWO ARE OVERCOME

Construction Worker Dies in Hospital After He Collapses at Job.

The heat yesterday took one life and prostrated two persons. The official high recorded by the Weather Bureau was 90 degrees shortly after 2 p. m.

Steve Corrol, 43 years old, of 729 North Capitol street, was fatally stricken. He was overcome while engaged on a construction job at Oklahoma avenue and Twenty-sixth street northeast.

Fellow workers with the New England Construction Co., attempted to revive him after he fell to the ground about 2 o'clock. He was taken to Casualty Hospital where he died four hours later. At 729 North Capitol street, it was said the man had just moved in and little was known about him. The body was taken to the Morgue and a search started for relatives.

William Crown, 30, of 2812 Connecticut avenue, was overcome while visiting at 3222 M street northwest. He was treated by a physician of the Emergency Hospital staff and remained at the M street address.

The thundershower sent the mercury tumbling 16 degrees to 74, but the humidity rose to 81. The temperature also started climbing a short time later and stood at 79 at 8 o'clock last night.

Fair and cooler weather was promised for today, with Friday partly cloudy and possible thundershowers. Friday will also be cooler.

Air Station Sailors Save Boat Party Upset in Gale

Yesterday's sudden storm sent a yachting party, consisting of two men and two girls, from the Corinthian Yacht Club for an unexpected swim in the Anacostia River. They were rescued by sailors from the Naval Air Station almost immediately after their boat capsized.

Temple C. Slaughter, 23, of 1830 Kilbourne place northwest, and Henry Severn, 23, 5003 Fourteenth street northwest, left the club for a sail in a 17-foot yawl belonging to Slaughter. Accompanying them were two young women who later declined to disclose their names to police. A short distance out in the Potomac they noticed the approaching storm. Turning around, they attempted to reach the home wharf before it broke.

Opposite the Naval Air Station a sudden gale caught the small boat and set it topsy-turvy. A group of sailors watching the race between the boat and storm immediately dispatched a motor launch from the Air Station wharf. At the club the quartet stated they were no worse for the experience.

The rescuing party consisted of Chief Machinist Mate H. C. Long and J. A. Costyla and A. T. Hotcher, sailors.

Two Women Are Hurt When Auto Overturns

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THAT genial and erudite junior Barnum, Mr. Carter Barron, city manager of the Loew interests in the National Capital, was no less than ecstatic, or maybe it was mildly maudlin, yesterday afternoon as he contemplated the embarrassment of riches that are to be his, or perhaps it were better said his theaters', come the middle of August or a little later.

The bane of the theater manager's existence at this season, of course, is the apprehension of a sufficient number of feature pictures of the first rank to keep his screens agreeably and profitably occupied. So far, it must be said, the local boys have done an admirable job of picking and choosing this summer—aided no little by the weather man, who, so far, has not turned on the hot spigot for any protracted period of suffocation, and thus has left the amusement seeker able to reach the playhouse under his own power. The refrigeration plants do the rest.

But what I started out to say was that Mr. Barron sees in the practically immediate offing an unbroken succession of superior celluloid enticements, highlighted by such superlative lures as "Grand Hotel," for the first time at popular prices; "Strange Interlude," the first of the Eugene O'Neill outsize dramas to reach the screen, with Norma Shearer and Clark Gable cofeatured; "Rain," the articulate version of the famous Jeanne Eagels vehicle, with Joan Crawford in the role of Sadie Thompson; "Prosperity," costarring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran; "Downstairs," written and played by John Gilbert, with direction by Monta Bell, former Washington newspaper man, and a long list of others.

Paradoxical as it may sound to the layman, the more of these that run two weeks—or longer—at the Palace, the better it will be for Loew's Fox!

Speaking of Carter Barron reminds me that it was with Artie Lewis and Peggy Ames, appearing currently at the Earle with a youthful giant in their nonsensical skit, "We Know a Thing or Two," that Henry Mullins formerly appeared in vaudeville.

Henry Mullins, you will recall, was the 7 foot 8 inch youngster whom Mr. Barron rescued from such obscurity as one of his inches may enjoy and made him doorkeeper down in Atlanta. When Lewis and Ames played the house, they ad libbed the same routine with the altitudinous Master Mullins as they are now indulging with the slightly older and not quite so tall young Colossus contemporaneously pulling the act out of the fire at every performance. Master Mullins, in the meantime, is disporting himself advantageously in other pastures. Just thought you might like to know.

Before the matter slips from mind, next week's box-office bait in the downtown sector will be akin to this: Palace, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "The First Year;" Earle, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Ann Dvorak in "Love Is a Racket," and Little Jack Little headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, Bela Lugosi and Madge Bellamy in "White Zombie," and "Chains" stage revue; RKO-Keith's, Tom Brown, H. B. Warner and "Slim" Summerville in "Tom Brown of Culver;" Metropolitan, George Bancroft and Miriam Hopkins in "The World and the Flesh;" Columbia, Buck Jones in "McKenna of the Mounted."

The local premiere of "Tom Brown of Culver," the story of a lad put through the famous Indiana military academy by the American Legion, at RKO-Keith's tomorrow, will, I am told, be approximately gala. At the first Friday night performance the management will have as its guests Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John L. DeWitt, Gen. John Mosely, Deputy Chief of Staff; Assistant Secretary of War, Col. Frederick H. Payne; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Kenzie W. Walker, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Frederick W. Coleman and Col. Harry N. Cootes, Commander at Fort Myer, and Mrs. Cootes. The Culver alumni will be headed by Col. William H. Clopton. In compliment to the guests, Manager Meakin will have the 32-piece Independent Boys Band on hand to toot a few tunes.

By the way, how the dickens do you spell Maxinkuckee? And me a Hoosier, too!

MILSIE QUIZ PIVOTS ON ALLEGED POOL

Police continued the questioning of a number of persons yesterday in an attempt to verify information that Milton W. ("Milsie") Henry was "put on the spot" by a "pool" of alleged gamblers who had been victimized by Henry's operations.

Confident that the trigger man and his companion in the shooting have been taken in custody, Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, who is directing the investigation, has been engaged in proving a motive for the crime.

The men interrogated revealed the extent of Henry's activities, according to Inspector Burke. They said Henry was the "finger" man for a mob who had been robbing them.

The seven men arrested Tuesday included James La Fontaine. All of them were released after questioning. Two men arrested yesterday who gave their names as Samuel Rappaport, 44, Hamilton Hotel, and Ernest Chambers, 52, 1407 Monroe street northwest, also were released.

Henry, who was said to have been "table" man at a gambling house on Bladensburg road, was discharged following rumors that he had been implicated in the holdup of a bank in Upper Marlboro.

Charles Blum and Henry Davis, alleged gangsters from Philadelphia, are in the District Jail charged with murder in connection with the Henry slaying.

Henry was waylaid by two men April 21 near his home, and was made the target of a hail of shot from a sawed-off shot gun. Five charges entered his body. His two assailants fled in a waiting car.

The round-up of alleged gamblers will continue, Inspector Burke said.

Stores to Take Eggs As Pay for Delicacy

In order to introduce a new delicacy, the Peoples Drug Stores have announced they will accept an egg—any type of egg, hen, duck, bantam or ostrich, if any can be found—in exchange for the new frozen custard sandwich. The offer will hold good at any one of the Peoples stores throughout the day.

COLORED CHILDREN IN DANCE FESTIVAL

The Mabel Jones Freeman dance groups, made up of colored children of Washington, presented a program of dancing and singing before several thousand spectators at the Sylvan Theater last night, as one of the summer festival offerings of the Community Center Department, the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and the National Capital Civic Clubs.

The terpsichorean and vocal numbers were interspersed with selections by the Community Center Band, the members of which are colored. Featured on the program were the Arnold Acrobat Singers and the chorus of the Birney Community Center.

The dancers exhibited a facility and natural grace that brought waves of applause from the large crowd that filled the slope below the Monument, while the singers displayed the gift for melody and rhythm that is inherent in their race.

Outstanding presentations were: The Spirit of Yesterday and the African War Dance by the Mabel Jones Freeman dancers; a music visulation, including "The Blue Danube," and Butterflies by the same group; a soprano solo entitled "Good Night," by Edna Ryan; a Javanese melody called "The Golden Goddess," by Doris Carter, Beatrice Martin and Eleanor Dixon, and Enchantment by the same group.

The Americanization School Association will present the program next week.

Child Is Electrocuted By Heater in His Home

A certificate of accidental death was issued by Deputy Coroner C. J. Murphy in the electrocution of 17-month-old David Kirby, 1021 Seventeenth place northeast, who fell against an electric heater in his home yesterday.

The child was taken to Casualty Hospital by his mother, Mrs. Ruth Kirby, when she found him lying unconscious near the heater. Hospital physicians pronounced the child dead. A short circuit at the base of the heater was blamed.

H. W. Berry to Address Ad Men.

HYPNOTIZED WOMAN LOSES CASH TO SEER

Victim Reporting Incident to Police When Suspect Is Brought In.

A woman at police headquarters to report the theft of $105 in cash and linens valued at $40, taken, she said, when another woman hypnotized her in order to tell her fortune, remained to identify the alleged hypnotist, who had just been brought in on complaint of a third person.

Mrs. Mary Cordone picked out Minnie Mitchell, 47, of Alexandria, as the woman who had put her in a trance.

She charged the Mitchell woman came to her home at 40 New York avenue northeast yesterday afternoon and offered to tell her fortune, but told Mrs. Cordone she would have to submit to hypnotism. When Mrs. Cordone awoke her money and linens were missing, she declared.

The Mitchell woman was arrested in Four-and-a-half street southwest early last night when Moses Oliver, colored, of 219 Four-and-a-half street, saw her and called a policeman, complaining that she had robbed him of $9.
